U. S. BODY IS HEARING PLEA OF HAITIANS

More Than 5,000 Persons Greet Commissioners as They Quit Ship

U. R. G. E. INDEPENDENCE

Banners Demand End of Occupation and Free Election of President

Port-au-Prince — (AP) — Protesting American occupation and demanding reestablishment of representative government, citizens of Haiti today professed their aid to a special commission sent here by President Hoover to negotiate conditions in the island republic.

More than 5,000 persons greeted the members of the commission as they landed from the U. S. S. Rochester and followed them up the capital's streets with banners reading "We want legislative elections," and "no more high commissioners." The demonstration was orderly and when the commissioners made a reappearance at the close of the official greeting they were cheered and applauded.

No American flags were in evidence except at the legation and on either side of the American building. The red and blue Haitian flag was displayed prominently, and one huge banner of blue and gold bearing the words "Jesus Save Haiti," was seen.

The commissioners set up their headquarters at the Hotel Excelsior. A. Sansac, foreign minister, calling on the commissioners there, was greeted by hisses and catcalls from about one thousand Haitians. As he entered his car and drove away all the Haitians turned their backs on him.

FLAUNT BANNERS — Later as the commissioners stood at the gate of the hotel a procession of about one hundred marchers carried red banners urging the end of American occupation and free election of the president.

Arrival of the commission climaxed a tense political situation which previously had developed a riot outside the council of state building during which three persons were injured and thirteen Haitians were arrested. Those arrested will be turned over to a civil court today. The three injured persons were members of the national guard.

The commissioners, after issuing a statement saying they would hold open sessions every day except Sunday, and inviting everybody to attend, went to call on Brigadier General John H. Russell, high commissioner in Haiti, who took them to the palace where President Louis Dornier greeted them.

The members of the commission are W. Cameron Forbes, chairman, Boston; James Kearney, Trenton, N. J.; Henry P. Fletcher, Philadelphia; William Allen White, Emporia, Kas.; Elie Yezzer, Woonsocket, R. I.; Willis J. Abbot, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, Boston.

EIGHT SENTENCED FOR THEFT OF FOX PELTS

Elkhorn — (AP) — Chickens led the conversation around to foxes and seven men and one woman were on their way to prison today as fox thieves.

They were members, police said, of a Walworth-co gang and were implicated in the theft of silver fox pelts from the Lake Geneva Fur farm. All pleaded guilty and were sentenced yesterday.

The gang was uncovered when one member was arrested on suspicion of stealing chickens. "I'm innocent," he told authorities, "but I know some people who are stealing furs." He named the others.

Renewed Rental Activity

At this time of the year when spring is so near you can expect increased activity in rental properties of all kinds. Spring is moving time and you can be sure that the first place a prospective renter looks for desirable property is in the "Real Estate for Rent" classification of the Post-Crescent.

Will your offering be there to meet the eye of the prospective tenant?

Mrs. Emma Demand, 818 N. Durkee St., chose the logical, easy way to rent her flat recently. A six time insertion of the adv. brought 8 replies and the flat was rented before six o'clock of the first day it appeared.

Give all the important details relative to your rental offer and let Adtaker write you an ad that will bring results.

Snook Keeps Nerve As He Dies In Chair

Columbus, Ohio — (AP) — Dr. James H. Snook, 60, the iron-nerved professor who killed his student mistress, Theora Hix, 24, paid with his life in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary last night.

The former instructor in veterinary surgery at Ohio State university went calmly to death for the crime which he confessed, in his last hours, was deliberately planned to end an affair which threatened to ruin his life and reputation.

Snook walked unassisted to the chair. His manner was cool, his eyes alert, his lips silent. A minister whom he had just accepted communion intoned a benediction as two guards adjusted electrodes to Dr. Snook's right leg and the top of his head. Six thousand volts of electricity passed through his body in three separate charges. He was pronounced dead at 7:09 p. m.

Today Dr. Snook's body was at the disposal of his wife, Helen Marie Snook, who visited him daily for the past week as the Ohio Supreme court, the federal supreme court and Governor Cooper refused to intervene in his behalf. "She shared his last meal with him and stayed at the penitentiary until he had been executed."

Snook's self control was not shaken during his last hours. Except for a trace of annoyance when the barber was late to shave him and for signs that he had been weeping after parting with his wife, he was perfectly calm as he prepared to die.

NEENAH MOTORIST IS DRUNKEN DRIVER

William Haufe Pleads Guilty and Is Fined $50 and Costs

Pleading guilty of drunken driving, William Haufe, Neenah, was fined $50 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Saturday morning.

The judge also recommended that Haufe's driver's license be revoked for six months.

The Neenah man was arrested about 6:45 Friday evening at the corner of Memorial and W. Prospect-ave by Officer Fred Arndt following a collision with an automobile driven by P. M. Nagreen.

At 2, Appleton, Nagreen was going east on Prospect-ave when he was struck by a truck driven by Haufe, Officer Arndt reported.

John Knaack, 624 E. South River, Appleton, who was with Haufe, pleaded guilty of drunkenness and was fined $10 and costs by Judge Berg.

USE FORGED PASSES TO ESCAPE PENITENTIARY

Leavenworth, Kas. — (AP) — Using forged outside passes, Thomas Holden and Francis L. Keating, serving sentences of 25 years each for robbing a mail car on a Grand Trunk railroad train at Evergreen Park, Ill., in September, 1926, escaped from the federal penitentiary here yesterday and still were at large today.

With a new guard at the main entrance of the prison, Holden and Keating appeared about 10 o'clock yesterday morning. In some undetermined manner they had procured two pass cards of the regular kind used by trusty prisoners detailed to outside employment. They had obtained photographs of themselves which were pasted on the backs of the cards as regularly required.

Satisfied of their proper identification, the guard allowed them to pass through the gate, and their escape was not discovered until late in the afternoon. A half mile west of the prison the heavy duck coats worn by the prisoners were found and nearby were the forged passes.

Warden Thomas B. White today was conducting a rigid investigation.

KILLS SELF TO KEEP FAMILY FROM STARVING

Milwaukee — (AP) — So that his wife and little son might be saved from starvation, Frank D. Battelger, former executive of a Milwaukee manufacturing company, killed himself yesterday in the basement of an east side apartment where he lived.

Battelger, out of a job, explained in a note to his wife that "this is the only way I can save you and sonny from immediate suffering."

FALSE THEFT CHARGE BRINGS $500 AWARD

Milwaukee — (AP) — Five hundred dollars for 15 cents of garlic sets more new kind of record. That sum was awarded to Mrs. Rebecca Radtke, Milwaukee, by a jury yesterday. She had been accused of stealing the vegetable by a dealer after paying full price for it—15 cents.

CITY MANAGER IN JANESVILLE CUTS EXPENSE

Municipal Costs in Janesville More Than $300,000 Under Appleton

While the city of Appleton last year was spending in the neighborhood of $750,000 and exceeding its budget by more than $100,000 last year, the city of Janesville, operating under a city manager form of government, paid all its expenses with $415,041.27 and had $173,093.85 left in the treasury at the end of the year.

Total municipal expenses of Appleton last year were $806,307.29, which includes expenditures for the library and parks, but do not include the cost of public and vocational schools nor does it include taxes raised for county and state purposes. The $806,307.29 does include, however, about $55,000 advanced to the state for construction of the Wisconsin-ave and on Walter-ave. With this $55,000 deducted the city's total operating cost last year was about $750,000, while Janesville's total cost was $415,000.

There are other deductions to be made from the totals for Appleton and for Janesville which will reduce the operating costs still further, but the ratio will remain about the same. For instance, the city last year paid $23,000 for the ornamental lighting system on College-ave and about two-thirds of this, or about $15,000 will be returned to the treasury by the property holders. It is probable that when all deductions are made from total municipal costs of Appleton and Janesville, the cost of operating Appleton will be about 75 per cent greater than Janesville. Janesville is approximately the same size as Appleton, has more miles of streets and offers a much more comprehensive health program than Appleton does.

TABLE TELLS STORY — The table accompanying this story explains in detail the differences in costs of operating the city's various departments and activities. It shows that Appleton is spending more money in every department except for protection and conservation of health. Janesville also spends more money on its parks than Appleton, but the total cost of recreation in the former city is considerably less. The total cost of general government, which includes salaries of city officers and expenses incident to operation of the government, was

BISHOP, PRIEST AND 3 NUNS SLAIN BY BANDITS

Hong Kong — (AP) — A dispatch from Shuechow, Kwantung, today confirmed the murder of the Salesian bishop, Monsignor Versiglia, Father Caravatta and three Chinese nuns, several days ago near Suifu.

The story told here is that ruffians attempted to seize the three sisters, the two clerics vigorously resisted, whereupon the marauders beat them, seized their belongings, burned the boat in which they were riding, and carried all into the mountains. Priests Friday went to negotiate their release, but found the five bodies pierced with bullets. They removed them to the nearest town.

FOUR FACE CHARGES UNDER U. S. DRY LAW

Eau Claire — (AP) — Frank Kratzer, and Charles Hartman of Watertown, and Erwin Lofstrom and Ed Black of Eau Claire, Friday were bound over to federal court for trial on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition act. All were connected with an alleged hijacking episode here Jan. 5. They waived preliminary hearing.

POLA NEGRI REGAINS POSSESSION OF GEMS

Berlin — (AP) — Pola Negri today recovered possession of her jewelry which had been attached under a writ obtained by Sam Rachmann, theatrical agent who has brought suit against her alleging breach of contract. The actress deposited 21,000 marks security pending the court's decision in Rachmann's suit which asks $85,000.

GHANDI'S LIEUTENANT PREDICTS NEW CONFLICT

Ahmadabad, Bombay, India — (AP) — Vallabhai Patel, who is Mahatma Gandhi's chief lieutenant, in addressing a public meeting today, prophesied that an Indian war would begin soon.

The meeting was to inaugurate the all-India national congress civil disobedience campaign. Patel said: "War unprecedented in the history of the world will begin in a few days and the beginning will be made at Gujarat (a division of Bombay). Those who are afraid of death should go on a pilgrimage and those possessed of riches should go to foreign countries."

NEW PREMIER PREPARES TO NAME CABINET

Wanted to End Quarrels for Three Months to Dispose of Major Issues

Paris — (AP) — The Radical Socialists today refused the peace move of Andre Tardieu, premier designate, who wished to call a three months political truce to permit solution of France's immediately outstanding problems.

Despite the rejection, M. Tardieu announced he would have his ministry together tomorrow and would announce it then. It was believed he possibly had won enough individual Radical Socialist votes to his standard with the offer to insure a chamber majority.

His proposal was, briefly, to quit political scrapping for three months until the naval conference could be concluded, the budget passed, and other major problems settled. He was reported in addition to have offered the recalcitrant group four ministries and two undersecretaryships in his projected ministry.

WILL FORM CABINET

"I adjured M. Herriot (one of the Radical Socialist leaders) to recommend to his friends that they accept this indispensable truce, which my friends have accepted unanimously. Nevertheless my cabinet will be formed tomorrow," Mr. Tardieu said.

He said he had urged M. Herriot to realize that the nation demanded action on its vital problems and he pledged his ministry to resign at the expiration of the three month truce.

So far as is known M. Tardieu has actually filled but one post in his new ministry, that being the foreign office portfolio, which he announced today Aristide Briand had accepted.

The Radical Socialists have been particularly obstinate as to collaborating with M. Tardieu in the formation of a new government, holding him personally responsible for the fate of their president, Camille Chautemps, in the chamber Wednesday when he asked for a vote of confidence on his ministerial declaration.

BODIES TAKEN FROM WRECKAGE OF FREIGHT

Allie, Ark. — (AP) — Four bodies today had been taken from the wreckage of a freight train which was derailed and caught fire last night near here. Four persons were injured. All of those killed and injured, some of whom were Negroes, were said to have been beating their way on the train.

Search was continuing for other bodies. Some of the cars still were burning today. The cause of the derailment had not been determined.

ARMY PRIVATE DROWNS DURING MANEUVERS

Panama City — (AP) — Military authorities here announced death of Private Ira D. Castleman, Battery F, 6th Coast artillery, stationed at Fort Amador, during the army and navy maneuvers which have just been completed.

Castleman was assigned to man a small boat transferring radio equipment from Orocopia island to a mining yacht. Choppy water caused the skill to capsize, hurling him and his companions into the water.

EVIDENCE CONFIRMS BAKER MURDER TALES

Detroit — (AP) — James E. McCarty, chief of detectives, announced today that evidence obtained in New York from James Baker, confessed slayer of 12 men by gun and poison has confirmed Baker's confession of two Detroit killings.

Chief McCarty made this announcement after conferring with Detective Earl Switzer of the homicide squad, who spent last week in New York questioning Baker.

The Detroit slayings attributed to Baker are those of Walter Ave, a railroad detective, on Jan. 20, 1929, and Otis South, a taxi driver, 10 days later. Police at first were inclined to doubt Baker's confession of the two Detroit slayings, as they believed he had not come here until later.

Taft Sinking Slowly; End Not Far Off

Washington — (AP) — After noting a slight improvement in the condition of William Howard Taft in the official 11:40 a. m. bulletin, the physicians attending him announced at 4:45 p. m. today that the former president and chief justice was "just about the same."

The physicians seemed surprised at the apparently slight rally of their patient.

The doctors have said, however, that any improvement in Mr. Taft's condition could be only temporary as they have abandoned hope for his recovery.

Washington — (AP) — William Howard Taft today was slowly sinking into death while a great nation sorrowfully awaited the end that could not be far away.

The doctors, the distinguished man who held the offices of president and chief justice of the United States had lapsed into a comatose condition which permitted no more than an occasional barely perceptible flash of the famous Taft smile as he momentarily recognized some member of his family at the bedside.

The mighty ones of official Washington expressed their solicitude and sympathy in the few ways possible—flowers sent to the Taft home, cards left at the door, and now and then a brief visit with Mrs. Taft—and eagerly scrutinized reports from the sickroom.

And the humbler folk of the capitol kept the telephone lines of newspapers and press associations busy with requests for information on the former chief justice's condition, signaling the warm affection of the rank and file of the people for the friendly, affable, man who once had sat in the White House.

How much longer he might live was a question cloaked in uncertainty. Dr. Francis R. Wagner and Dr. Thomas A. Clayton, who have been in constant attendance, said the end might be four or five days away but that on the other hand a sharp turn for the worse with death following closely after might be expected at almost any time.

A combination of disorders is responsible for the former chief justice's condition. For many years he has been a victim of a heart complaint, to which was added some six years ago a nervous trouble and a bladder ailment. Since his illness forced him to retire from public life nearly a month ago, arterial troubles have set in.

SPAIN AGAIN UNDER DICTATOR'S THUMB

Berenguer Returns to Conditions in Effect Under Gen. Primo de Rivera

Madrid — (AP) — Spain today found itself for all practical purposes under another dictatorship.

The Berenguer government, having experimented with permitting more freedom of speech, political assembly and newspaper expression and having found disorders and riotous expressions against the monarchy resulting, has overnight returned to the same rigidity of censorship and restraint of political assembly and expression that Primo de Rivera used.

Local and general elections have been indefinitely postponed by declaration of the Berenguer cabinet because of the demonstrations which followed the recent speech of former Premier Sanchez Guerra which caused the cabinet to conclude that to attempt the elections would be dangerous to the public peace.

Similarly all pending political matters have been suspended. If one Sanchez Guerra speech could cause such a flurry through Spain including crowds in the streets trying to parade to the royal palace shouting "Down with the king!" the government intends to take no chances of inflaming the populace through similar such speeches.

The domestic press and outgoing foreign dispatches are being watched much more vigilantly.

SLAYING SUSPECT IS CAUGHT IN TOLEDO

Milwaukee — (AP) — Jim O'Connell is on his way back to Milwaukee, and police let it be known today that he will be kept away from revolving doors.

O'Connell is charged with killing Frank Pfaff in a restaurant fight three years ago. A policeman saw him on the street, but Jim made his escape by deft maneuvering in the revolving doors of a department store. He was arrested in Toledo yesterday.

Hungary Celebrates Tenth Year Of Horthy Regime

GALA AFFAIRS ARE BARRED AT HIS REQUEST

Only Gift Accepted by Regent Is Testimonial With Millions of Names

Budapest—(P)—Hungary today celebrated the tenth anniversary of the Regent Nicholas Horthy's election to his high office by the national assembly.

In accordance with his wish no brilliant festivities marked the celebration; the only gift he was willing to accept was the signatures of several million Hungarians presented to him.

Regent Horthy is the constitutional head of the state and as such does not take part in the political life of the country. He is keenly interested in the improvement of the country's economic situation and in popularizing sports and physical training.

His second son, Stephen, has been in Detroit, working in the Ford factory.

Admiral Horthy has had a distinguished career both in the navy and in Hungary's political life. Before the war he was called upon to take part in the Austro-Hungarian navy, in which he was considered among the ablest commanders. During the World War he distinguished himself by his daring raids against Italian warships and ports and he was severely wounded at the battle of Otranto. It was a sore blow to him when he was ordered to hand over the entire Austro-Hungarian fleet to the Serbians in October, 1918.

When the revolution broke out in Hungary he was living in retirement of his country estate at Kenderes, which became a rallying point for the anti-revolutionary forces. During the red terror of Bela Kun he went to Szeged and engaged in the organization of forces to bring the country from the wave of Bolshevism.

He became minister of war under Count Julius Karolyi, after whose resignation he was nominated commander-in-chief of the national army with which he entered Budapest on Nov. 16, 1919, after having restored order in the provinces.

On March 1, 1920, he was chosen regent almost unanimously. He soon was elected to display his statesmanship in the resistance to the so-called attempts of former King Charles to establish himself in Hungary.

CLUBS, LEGION TO SPONSOR CONCERT

Proceeds to Be Used for Buying New Uniforms for High School Band

A ticket selling campaign for the concert to be given by Appleton high school band under the direction of E. C. Moore, in Lawrence Memorial chapel the latter part of this month or the first week in April will be launched next week by a special committee composed of members of the Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, and the American legion.

The proceeds of the concert are to be used by the three civic clubs and the legion for purchasing new uniforms for the high school band. It was announced Saturday. The special committee in charge of the campaign is composed of Harry E. Lonsdorf, Sr., Kiwanis club; William Strassburger, Lions club; and Charles Sparling, American legion.

Sixty new uniforms are to be purchased for the high school organization. Uniforms were purchased five or six years ago, when the band was composed of 35 members. Due to the tremendous growth of the band during the past two years, it was impossible to use uniforms, according to Mr. Moore.

Smith At Manitowoc
G. L. Smith and Brandt, local architects, will be in Manitowoc Friday conferring with E. F. Brandt, representative of the firm in that city on construction projects.

Medical Discovery Made Available To Doctors

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto—Placental crystalline extract, the discovery of which was recently announced to the world by J. B. Collip of McGill university, Montreal, will be made available to physicians immediately under certain specific conditions for treatment of women afflicted with certain functional disorders.

Dr. Collip made this announcement in a speech last night before a gathering of medical men, biologists, chemists and research workers.

Dr. Collip stipulated that all cases to be treated shall be thoroughly examined to determine if they fall into the classification of disorders already shown to be amenable to the extract treatment. He also insists that if they do, the patients shall be treated in the hospital and under the most careful observation.

Owing to the natural limitations of the production of the extract and the fact that the application of the discovery is still in the early stages, Dr. Collip feels that the greatest benefit must be exercised in its use and experimentation by himself as well as others.

Among the achievements

RED FOX OUTWITS SEYMOUR MAN AFTER THRILLING RESCUE

Foxes according to ancient legends are supposed to be the cleverest of animals, and here's a story about a big "red" fellow, who truly lived up to his name.

While attacking pieces of ice float down Duck Creek on their way to Green Bay, Lawrence Gonnering, Seymour trapper, and Gustave F. Schuch, also of Seymour, noticed a big red fox seated on a large tar barrel floating down the creek on a miniature "ice berg."

Aware of his eventual doom, "Red" was whining and barking at the top of his voice, according to Gonnering. In sympathy with the animal the two men by crossing the ice managed to bring the barrel to shore.

With one leap the animal jumped for shore and as fast as he could travel, made for a nearby wood, where the two men soon lost track of him.

WONDER WHO WILL BE GOVERNOR IF KOHLER IS OUSTED

Many Politicians Speculate on State's Muddled Situation

Madison—(P)—Those who are given over to speculating on the present state of affairs in Wisconsin see possibilities for numerous men to become head of the state or even a "headless" state.

A petition filed with Gov. Kohler charging the Lieutenant governor, the attorney general and the secretary of state with violation of the constitution practices act and asking for the institution of quo warranto proceedings precipitated the speculation.

One group of "assumers" see Mayor Albert Schmiedeman of Madison as the possibility for the executive position. The point to a decision handed down several years ago by the supreme court as a basis for this possibility.

Mayor Schmiedeman, a Democrat, was second in the gubernatorial race of 1928.

On the assumption that Gov. Kohler is removed from office for violation of the corrupt practices act, his election would be annulled, to follow a supreme court decision, and Mayor Schmiedeman would become governor.

The supreme court decision in the case of state ex rel Bancroft ruled that Levi Bancroft, now U. S. district attorney, was elected attorney general although he received less than a majority of votes. T. A. Tucker who received the majority died before the election. Based upon this decision, Mayor Schmiedeman is looked upon as a "possibility."

Under the order of succession provided in the constitution, the lieutenant governor succeeds the governor and the secretary of state is next in line. No further succession is provided by the constitution and this gives rise to the question as to the successor if the governor and the other three state officers are removed from office.

Delving into remote possibilities of the situation, the successor of either the attorney general or the secretary of state might have a chance of becoming governor. On the supposition that the lieutenant governor becomes governor, either the secretary of state or the attorney general might resign and a successor be appointed by the acting governor. The successor then may claim the governorship through succession if the lieutenant governor is removed.

All in all the speculation is unlimited and everyone may try his hand in the puzzle.

LIONS CLUB TO HAVE SURPRISE PROGRAM

A surprise program will be given at the weekly luncheon of the Lions club at the Conway hotel at 12:15 Monday afternoon it was announced Saturday by the program committee.

A demonstration also will be given by a group of valley council boy scouts following the dinner and discussion of business matters.

and possibilities of his extract thus far indicated, Dr. Collip said it had proved encouragingly valuable in a dominant majority of cases treated, with restorations of normal functioning, gains in weight and vanishing of nervous afflictions.

Dr. Collip added that a few preliminary tests had been conducted in cases of disorderly menopause and toxemia of pregnancy. Enough success had been attained in these fields, he said, to warrant further experiments.

Discussing his early experiments with rats and mice, Dr. Collip paid tribute to numerous workers who had preceded him in the same field with varying success.

Dr. V. J. Harding, professor of pathological chemistry at the university, disclosed that the number of deaths occurring yearly at the Toronto General hospital from the abnormalities of pregnancy had been reduced by more than 60 per cent during the past few years.

"Ten years ago," said Dr. Harding, "we had an average of three or more deaths yearly from this affliction. In the past five years it has been reduced to one yearly, and if we have any in the next five years it will be our own fault."

Dr. Collip's discovery of the placental crystalline extract, the discovery of which was recently announced to the world by J. B. Collip of McGill university, Montreal, will be made available to physicians immediately under certain specific conditions for treatment of women afflicted with certain functional disorders.

Dr. Collip made this announcement in a speech last night before a gathering of medical men, biologists, chemists and research workers.

Dr. Collip stipulated that all cases to be treated shall be thoroughly examined to determine if they fall into the classification of disorders already shown to be amenable to the extract treatment. He also insists that if they do, the patients shall be treated in the hospital and under the most careful observation.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY DELIGHTS CROWD AT LAWRENCE CHAPEL

Students Reveal Talent in Presentation of "The Charm School"

The spirit of youth and new ideas held forth against maturity and traditional thinking Friday night at Lawrence Memorial chapel, when the junior class of Appleton high school presented "The Charm School," a comedy in three acts, by Alice Duer Miller and Robert Milton.

The plot centered around Austin Bevans, a young automobile salesman who had come into possession of a girls' boarding school which he planned to run according to the idea that young girls should be taught charm. This part was admirably taken by James Laird who played it with sincerity and poise. Opposite him in the female lead was Janet Cameron who took the part of Elise Benedotti, one of the students in the "charm school." Miss Cameron showed remarkable ease and lack of self-consciousness on the stage throughout the entire production.

The characters of Jim and Tim Perkins, twin friends of Bevans, played by Charles Widesteen and Robert Carnes, were received enthusiastically by the audience, their flippancy and "wise cracks" maintaining a thread of humor throughout the play. Marion Farsky in the role of commandant of the school and her twins, walked away with many of the laughs. The part was a sympathetic one and was played with vivacity and remarkable ease.

SHOW TALENT

Mature parts were taken by Charles Huesmann as Homer Johns, guardian of Elise, and by Muriel Belling as Miss Hays, second in command at the school and divorcee wife of Johns. Both parts were well done, as was the character of Miss Curtis, the lovable but inefficient school secretary, played by Janet Murphy. Gordon Holtermann in the role of David MacKenzie, a law student, was convincing in his sincerity, and John Rossmel as George Boyd, expert accountant and brother of Elise, played his part well.

Other students in the school were Mary Brooks, Eloise Smeltzer, Helen Jean Ingold, Elizabeth Shannon, Violet Strelke, and Ruth Harris. Miss Brooks' part called for two vocal selections, "If I'm Dreaming" and "If I had a Talking Picture of You," which were charmingly done.

The entire production showed smoothness and finish largely due to the able staging and direction by Miss Ruth McKennan, dramatic coach at the high school. Music between acts was provided by the high school orchestra under the direction of E. C. Moore, director of instrumental music in the schools. The business end of production was handled by Clifford Lashen, Herbert Schmidt and financial manager, and Richard Ballew and Harry Cameron were stage manager and carpenter respectively. Property managers were Bluebell Ryan and Virginia Shannon.

PARIS SAYS THAT ENSEMBLE IS OLD

Still, Every Frock Appears to Have Its Coat, Whether It's Ensemble or Not

BY AILEEN LAMONT

Copyright 1930, by Cons. Press

New York—In a way the ensemble is old. In a Paris says so, and Paris ought to know. And yet, every frock seemingly has its coat. Tending that this isn't really being ensemble, Paris makes Rivera frocks of thin wool with short coats of another color, or crepe de chine frocks with cloth coats matching in color. But this isn't really ensemble, Paris explains, because the materials of frocks and coats are different. Oh, well.

Evening shoes dotted with handbags of silvery stars are among the things in which the chic London women steps out. Or she wears evening slippers in gay crepe, or satin, their one-strap fastenings all a-twinkle with matching jewels. She is likely to carry a little evening bag to match the footwear.

To relieve the severity of the frock, which retains its smartness no matter what other hues come and go, there is the great cuff of aleon lace. This cuff is frequently of a size such that a year ago a whole skirt could have been of it, at any rate for a bathing suit, and with its moustache flare it is feminine as anything.

INTERNATIONAL JURISTS ADJOURN OVER WEEKEND

Geneva, Switzerland—(P)—The international committee of jurists which has been at work for the past week at its task of amending the covenant of the league of nations so as to eliminate the possibility of war adjourned today over the weekend. Two or three days more probably will be needed before proposed revisions designed to make the covenant harmonize with the Kellogg pact can finally be drafted.

Discussion today centered around a proposal made by Dr. Mariano H. Corneo of Peru, that when the council cannot agree unanimously on a measure for settlement of a dispute between states but has a majority vote on such a measure, the question shall be referred to the world court for an advisory opinion.

Dr. Corneo's proposal further provided that when an advisory opinion was rendered, if the council was still unable to agree unanimously, the question be submitted to the world court for settlement.

The delegation formerly was occupied by a Persian minister, when the dwelling bore an Oriental atmosphere. Now it is Spanish. While many of the massive pieces of mahogany came from Spain, much of it is termed colonial by the minister because it was made in the colonies of Spain, in the eighteenth century.

The dining room where tea was served had been transformed into a sylvan apartment, from which leads a loggia, and was adorned with carvings and paintings, much of which is of a religious nature. Wives of other Latin-American diplomats assisted.

One of the capital's major tributes paid to the president's wife was the annual Congressional club breakfast. The Pan-American building was at its best, with the marine band stationed in the patio, where water splashed from the Aztec fountain and brilliantly feathered parrots perched in tall palms.

Mrs. Hoover was met at the door by "Uncle" Peter H. Dale, president of the club, who escorted her to the hall of nations. There the breakfast was served.

Mrs. Edward Everett Gann was escorted by Mrs. William Ramsayer, wife of Representative Ramsayer of Iowa, and first vice president of the club. She sat at Mrs. Dale's left.

Mrs. William E. Evans, wife of Representative Evans, sent all the way to her home in Canada, Calif., for the sprays of forsythia, with which the cloth on the guest table was decorated.

Rudy Vace, much famed radio singer during his sojourn in the capital this week, was there with his orchestra. Mrs. Hoover shook hands with him, and he later met the president at the White House. For the first time in its history, incidentally, the program of the Congressional club breakfast was broadcast.

and possibilities of his extract thus far indicated, Dr. Collip said it had proved encouragingly valuable in a dominant majority of cases treated, with restorations of normal functioning, gains in weight and vanishing of nervous afflictions.

Dr. Collip added that a few preliminary tests had been conducted in cases of disorderly menopause and toxemia of pregnancy. Enough success had been attained in these fields, he said, to warrant further experiments.

Yellow Kid Jaunty As Ever As He Leaves Leavenworth

Leavenworth, Kas.—(P)—Still debonair and smiling, Joseph (Yellow Kid) Well, one time prince of American confidence men, today left the Leavenworth Federal prison a free man.

"Sure," he said, "I'm going back to Chicago."

Although traces of gray appeared in the "Yellow Kid's" beard and in his aggressively pointed mustache, there was no hint of increasing age in his actions. He was flashily dressed.

It was nearly five years ago that Well was found guilty of disposing of bonds and stamps stolen in the famous train robbery at Roundout, Ill. He entered the prison June 25, 1926.

"Of course I'm glad to be free again," Well said. "I have no complaint to make about my treatment. The warden is a fine man. They've treated me mighty nice here and I appreciate it."

The "kid" is somewhat of an authority on prisons. He once served time in the Illinois penitentiary for defrauding Charles Worden, Fort Wayne, Ind., banker, of $15,000 in a fake stock selling scheme.

A motor car was waiting for Well at the prison gate and he left immediately for Chicago after being interviewed by newspapermen.

"No, I don't know what I'll do when I get back home," Well said. "Newspaper work?"

"Well, I don't know, I might. You see I've been a newspaperman before." It had been reported that he had received an offer from a Chicago newspaper.

The "Yellow Kid," during the nearly four years of his incarceration, has lost most of his showmanship. It was a cold gray morning. Three newspapermen, Well's welcoming committee, shivered outside the prison gate. The guard was being changed inside, and officers with rifles trailed back and forth.

The heavily grizzled door opened. Seven discharged prisoners, stodgy appearing persons, slowly descended the long tier of steps. Three were black, the others white. They gazed about as if uncertain just what to do with sudden freedom. Pasteboard packages containing extra clothing and what other personal packages were allowed inside the walls were hurried under their arms.

The "Kid" was not in the party. Again the big door opened. Arranged in all his glory, Well descended the steps. A companion carried a small bag. The "Kid" smiled a welcome.

His shoes shone. His eyes sparkled. His step was almost jaunty. He wore a dark suit. Prison fare had agreed with the "Kid." It was a keen line suit, cut closely about the waist. Part of the "Kid's" anatomy spread over and around the lines. The "Kid" wore such suits five years ago. He had worn this suit before, but not recently. The "Kid" had not forgotten about gloves. He wore them with tops turned down to better exhibit their immaculate bright grayness. If he appeared a trifle ungraceful in the gloves it was not his fault. He was seriously out of practice. They don't wear shiny gloves in Leavenworth prison.

There he spent Sunday evening. He was a dark suit. Prison fare had agreed with the "Kid." It was a keen line suit, cut closely about the waist. Part of the "Kid's" anatomy spread over and around the lines. The "Kid" wore such suits five years ago. He had worn this suit before, but not recently. The "Kid" had not forgotten about gloves. Members of Oney Johnston post of the American legion will attempt to clean up their membership campaign before the March meeting of the vets Monday evening at the Elk club.

Workers who have prospect cards given to them by the legion are to sign the post 623 members or one more than last year. There now are 623 ex-service men in the post.

Monday's meeting will begin at 8 o'clock. A mock trial will feature the entertainment program.

NO GAMES IN Y. M. C. A. CAGE LEAGUE TONIGHT

There will be no basketball games in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial league Saturday night, A. P. Jensen, physical director of the association, announced at noon Saturday. Two games featuring the Y. M. C. A. and Bankers and the Power company and Klehns were called but have been postponed.

INTERNAL REVENUE BUREAU TO WATCH INCOME RETURNS

Government, Caught Up on Work, Will Check Statements Closer

BY J. C. ROYLE

Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

Washington—In making out income tax returns, businessmen are taking more pains toward accuracy than ever before. The bureau of internal revenue will scrutinize returns, which must be in now within a little more than a fortnight with the utmost care.

The bureau is closer to catching up with its work than at any time since the income tax was established and can devote more time and attention to discovery and punishment of violations than in the past.

Then, too, the wild flurry of stock speculation in 1929 in which people in every walk of life were engaged, has lent itself to attempts to "beat the government." Such attempts are not likely to be successful, according to bureau officials.

During the latter part of October and in November and December, the bureau says it was cognizant of a large volume of "wash" sales, which, it is asserted, were for the purpose of establishing losses as "realized" with in the meaning of the statute on tax ation permitting such losses to be deducted in proper amounts from gross income.

The bureau has not announced its procedure in punishing improper attempts to secure deductions, but it is evident that the taxpayer must assume the burden of proof, showing in each case that the transaction was bona fide.

The bureau has not solicited information revealing attempts to dodge taxes on the part of others, but is receiving such information in large volume. Many of these consumers are anonymous and come in much as did the old "tips" slipped in to the so-called lion's mouth in Venice in the days of the dogs. Boasts of how the government has been misled are likely to have serious after effects.

Many who have had dealings in stocks and bonds have a feeling that it would be years before the government would get them. The bureau denies this. Returns will be given a more careful first scrutiny than in the past. If the figures give a hint of fraud, the investigation will be continued at once and pressed to a conclusion.

"Stock auctions" at which thousands of shares of stock have been transferred where the seller and buyer are believed to have been one and the same person, have been given marked attention by the bureau. Prices, it is said, have been established by these auctions which would allow tremendous deductions for "losses" on the part of tax payers.

The bureau investigations show these auctions have been held in all parts of the country and traders from all sections, it is charged, are giving orders up to Dec. 31. These auctions, it is known, have been held as far west as Kansas City.

Leakage through evasion might cause the amount due the government from income taxes to fall well below the sum counted on by the treasury department. The importance of the investigations may be realized by reference to President Hoover's recent warning that additional appropriations beyond those specified in the budget amounting to $50,000,000 would leave the treasury "in the red."

Society At Standstill As Taft Battles For His Life

BY SALLIE V. H. PICKETT

Washington—(P)—Washington's official social program went uncompleted this week, when the capital's life was diverted into concern with the illness of President Taft.

There was no hope for his recovery. Mrs. Hoover's social plans, which have been trailed by changes and disappointments this season, were likewise affected, with cancellation of the White House reception in honor of the house of representatives Thursday night.

The reception arranged for Friday evening by the Congressional club for Speaker and Mrs. Lowworth was canceled, as were many of the large official and semi-official dinner parties.

Mr. Taft's successor, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, and Mrs. Hughes had made no social plans and had accepted only the most informal invitations from old friends.

They are living at the Mayflower Hotel, and have with them their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Hughes. Miss Hughes was a cathedral student during their previous residence in the capital.

One gets an occasional peep into unusually delightful places in Washington through the ordinary medium of an "at home," and those who attended the first reception held by the new minister from Ecuador and Senora Viteri Lafronte were well rewarded.

Senor Lafronte presented his credentials in October, but failure of his household goods to arrive until recently resulted in postponement of

55 LOCAL PUPILS FOUND WITH POOR HEARING IN 1929

Report Shows 2,674 Students Were Examined in Appleton Schools

Out of 2,674 school children examined last year, Appleton had 55 with defective hearing, reports from the office of this school nurses indicate. Miss Lavilla Ward, supervisor of education for deaf, blind and speech defective children in the state department of public instruction, states that there are 62,240 children in the state with defective hearing.

Children in Appleton schools with defective hearing are taken care of in three ways. If there is only a slight degree of deafness, the child is moved into a seat in the front row of the classroom. If the deafness is a little more marked he stays in his regular class with the exception of one hour a day when he learns lip-reading in the defective hearing class. When the child is so afflicted he cannot keep up with the rest of his class he is placed in the defective hearing class at Lincoln school.

Miss Ward estimates there are 51,880 children in the state whose hearing is so defective that they need medical attention; 7,770 children who should have lessons in lip-reading; and 2,590 children who should be in classes for hard-of-hearing children.

AGAINST SYSTEM
In the six years there has been a trend against the institution dependent and handicapped children, who have ability to be trained to fill some place in life, she says. Now much of the work is being handled in the state school system. Five schools with an enrollment of 219 crippled children are functioning; 35 cities have work for mentally retarded children with a total enrollment of 1152 pupils; 39 children are enrolled in 21 schools for the deaf; classes for the blind or defective of vision are held in two cities with an enrollment of 60 pupils; and 23 cities are training 5,206 pupils to overcome speech disorders.

"In the day schools for the deaf the children are taught entirely through speech and lip-reading," she says. "In classes for those with poor vision, lessons are under the guidance of a special teacher in a room especially lighted and equipped for conservation of vision and with the aid of clear type books and readers. Children with speech disorders go to the speech teacher singly or in small groups two or three times a week."

Miss Ward believes that hard-of-hearing children are the "most neglected children in the state at present." They are the ones who could give the greatest return for the money expended because they "are able-bodied and, normal mentally, but having this partial handicap they are failures in school," she comments.

FAVORS PURCHASE OF POWER PATROLS

Highway Committee Will Receive Recommendation from Road Commissioner

Purchase of three of four power patrols for road work in Outagamie county will be recommended to the highway committee next Monday afternoon by Frank Appleton, county highway commissioner. The committee will meet about 2 o'clock.

Outagamie is one of the few counties in the state without power patrols for highway work, according to Mr. Appleton. Substitution of the power patrols for horse-drawn machinery will result in a substantial saving, he believes.

"Power patrols will cost approximately $3,000 each," Mr. Appleton said Friday. "The state furnishes fuel for them and pays the county $11 a day for every day they are used on state trunk highways. A power patrol will cover from 25 to 30 miles a day."

"A driver and a team costs the county $165 a month, and the team can cover only about one-fifth as much territory as the patrol."

The county has been running behind every year in its maintenance fund. The principal reason for this, Mr. Appleton believes, is because the new power patrols have not been adopted here.

The committee also will consider a slight alteration in plans for the addition to the county garage to bring the cost of the project down to a figure, corresponding with the amount of money available. Recent bids on the addition all were rejected because they were higher than the committee intended to spend.

PATROLMEN MAY START HIGHWAY WORK SOON

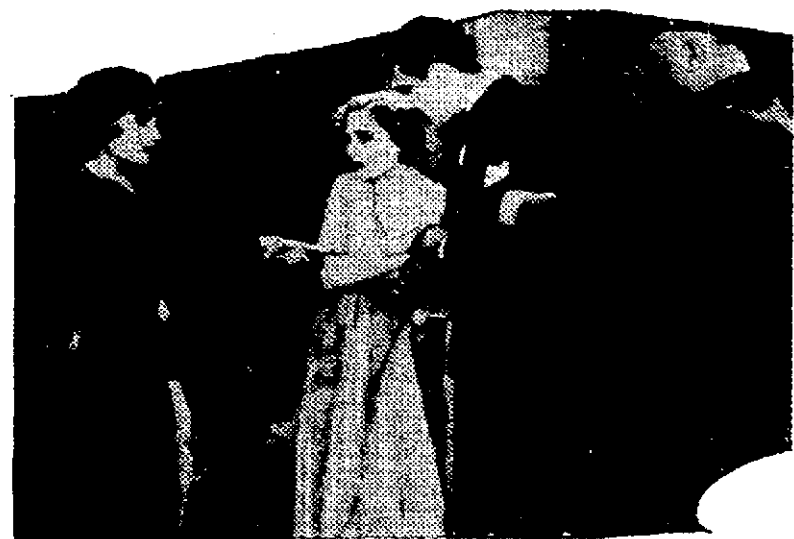

If the warm continues for a few more days, some county patrolmen may be called in next week to start work on roads, according to Mr. Appleton. Regular highway patrol work, however, probably will not get underway for another month, he pointed out.

Approximately 40 patrolmen are employed regularly during the summer on state and county trunk highways. The majority of them have worked for the county for several years and most of them already have filled their applications for jobs again this season.

2 COUNTY COMMITTEES WILL MEET NEXT WEEK

Two county board committees will meet next week, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk. The building and grounds committee will meet at the courthouse at 2 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon. Only routine business is scheduled for transaction. The sanitation committee will meet at 2 o'clock next Thursday afternoon to allow bills and consider proposed repairs at the county sanatorium.

Colored Slips With Income Tax Blanks Bear Good News

The red and white, black and yellow slips enclosed by Uncle Sam with income blanks mailed to taxpayers apparently have failed to register with some persons, even though they bear the best kind of news, it was revealed today by Elmer Konkamp, deputy collector of internal revenue.

Evidently a few taxpayers mistake the colored slips for advertisements of some kind, Mr. Konkamp surmises, for several returns received have shown disregard for the instructions they contain. If the tax is computed without reference to the inserted slips, Mr. Konkamp points out, about six letters between the government and the taxpayer will be necessary to finally straighten out the matter, thereby putting the government to a great deal of unnecessary expense.

The colored leaflets, printed after the forms 1929 income returns were changes made in the tax rate by the last congress. The individual blanks are accompanied by red and white slips, and the corporation blanks are black and yellow.

Taxpayers unfamiliar with the change are urged by Mr. Konkamp to get in touch with the local office. After March 1 he and his assistant will be in the office in city hall to assist in making out tax returns.

SHOW CHANGES
The red and white slips mailed to individual taxpayers show that the tax on the first $4,000 of net incomes is one-half of one per cent instead of the one and one-half per cent rate of last year. The rate on the second $4,000 or fraction thereof is two per cent and all net income over that limit is taxed at a rate of four per cent. The old rate was three per cent on the second $4,000 and five per cent on the balance.

The black and yellow slips, mailed with corporation tax blanks, show that their normal tax is deducted from 12 to 11 per cent.

Mr. Konkamp today called public attention to the legal requirements in filing of income tax returns. A report must be filed by every citizen of the United States, whether living at home or abroad, and every person residing in the United States though not a citizen, whose gross income for 1929 amounted to $5,000, or whose net income amounted to (a) $1,500 if single or if married and not living with husband or wife; (b) $3,500 if married and living with husband or wife; or (c) more than the personal exemption if the taxpayer's status changes.

If any individual is single and the net income, including that of dependent minors, if any, is $1,500 or more, or if the gross income is $5,000 or more, a return must be filed. If the combined net income of husband and wife and dependent minor children, if any, is $3,500 or more, or their combined gross income is $5,000 or more, all such income must be reported on a joint return, or on separate returns of husband and wife.

STAGE And SCREEN
An innovation in entertainment will be presented at the Appleton Theatre tonight, when the management presents their first Midnite Review performance. At this time two complete shows will be given at one price, consisting of "Footlights and Pools" and "Wedding Rings." This latter picture which stars H. B. Warner and Lois Wilson will be shown at this performance only, and is not the picture that will be shown on Sunday.

The box office will remain open until 11:45 for the benefit of late comers, and the performance will last until 12:15.

Sundays picture at the Appleton Theatre is Maurice Chevalier in "Innocents of Paris."

CURATOR TELLS ABOUT BIRDS AND BANDING
Birds and bird banding was the subject of a talk by Harold C. Wilcox, curator of the Lawrence museum, before McKinley junior high school students Friday afternoon. Miss Mary Rogers was in charge of the assembly program.

NATIONAL GUARD ENCAMPMENT DATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Cavalry, Artillery Units to Hold Joint Manuever at Camp McCoy

All Wisconsin National guardsmen, including infantry and artillery units, but excluding cavalry, will go into camp at Camp Williams and Camp McCoy, Saturday, July 5, and return to home stations, Saturday, July 19, according to camp dates approved by the militia bureau of the war department. The cavalry will go into camp July 12 at Camp Williams and return to home stations, July 27.

The artillery will remain at Camp McCoy and the cavalry will disperse with its annual march from Camp Williams to Camp McCoy and will remain at the former camp during the entire tour of duty.

The balance of the troops at Camp Williams will take the train for Camp McCoy Wednesday morning, July 16, maneuver the sixteenth and seventeenth and return to Camp Williams by train that night, except the tank company which may move by truck. The following day, Friday, will be devoted to cleaning property.

The two days maneuvering will consist of an assumed division in attack with the enemy imaginary. The 64th infantry brigade, the 51th field artillery brigade, the 134th medical regiment acting as a division unit, the 32nd tank company and the 32nd division staffs will participate.

The 64th infantry brigade and the 119th field artillery will appear on paper in the problem, but will be imaginary.

The 103th cavalry will devote the entire period at Camp Williams for the first time since 1927, the second week being devoted to advance cavalry work that cannot be accomplished at the home station.

The 32nd tank company will move overland from Janesville to Camp Williams, using trucks as tank carriers. If the bridges will permit the company will move that way from Camp Williams to Camp McCoy.

Governor's day will be Sunday, July 13. Governor Kohler will review the artillery at Camp McCoy that morning and the balance of the troops at Camp Williams in the afternoon. He will make the trip from one camp to the other by air plane.

MUCH APPLETON MAIL IS UNDELIVERABLE

Between 2,400 and 2,500 undeliverable first class letters received at the local post office, end up annually in the district dead letter office in Chicago, while approximately 500 to 600 undeliverable parcel post packages annually are shipped to the dead parcel office at St. Paul, Minn., according to local postal officials.

In most cases when letters containing valuable such as money, are received at the dead letter office, after being searched for a possible return address, they are returned to the office of origin where the sender must pay three cents penalty according to postal officials.

Parcel post receives similar treatment when first class, but in the case of lower class parcels articles of value are auctioned off after being held in the St. Paul office over a certain period of time.

MASTODON TOOTH IS DELIVERED TO COLLEGE MENTOR

A mastodon tooth, a relic thousands of years old, has been brought to Dr. R. M. Lagg, professor of geology at Lawrence college, by Miss Jean Brigham, Jamesville. In spite of its age, the tooth, a molar eight inches long and four inches wide, is still in a perfect state of preservation. It was found in southern Illinois by Miss Brigham's father.

The mastodon is a species of extinct elephant and is of the same family as the prehistoric mammoth. The huge mammals roamed widely through the central part of the United States and much evidence of their existence has been found in Illinois.

FARM COMMITTEE MAY CAMPAIGN FOR DAIRY PRODUCTS

Plans for Drive Among Farmers Will Be Discussed Next Week

A campaign to encourage the consumption of dairy products among Outagamie county farmers probably will be drawn up by the agriculture committee when it meets at 1:30 next Thursday afternoon at the courthouse, it is reported by Gus Sell, county agent.

Petitions probably will be circulated among patrons at cheese factories pledging the signers to consumption of milk, butter and other dairy products in place of dairy substitutes. Speakers will be designated to appear at the factories to explain the purposes of the campaign and to start the circulation of the petitions.

The move is in line with a recent recommendation of the federal farm board urging farmers to increase their consumption of dairy products to help encourage an increase in the prices of such products. Mr. Sell pointed out.

A special news letter addressed to cheese factories in the county, was issued by Mr. Sell last week in which he pointed out the necessity of increasing the consumption of dairy products among farmers.

"Probably one of the Delillahs responsible for the fall of dairying is the farmers themselves," Mr. Sell said. "Some of them discontinued the use of butter altogether. Others are eating less cheese and drinking less milk than is recommended by health authorities. Increased consumption of dairy products is the health duty of every one and the move that will stabilize America's leading industry."

"The business men in the small cities and towns of the country realize the importance of home consumption of farm products for the prosperity of the community. They know that there is a close relationship between the dairy cows and the success of the community."

ATTORNEY EXPLAINS LAWS ON ADVERTISING

Members of Lions clubs throughout the state are starting to arrange plans for attending the 1930 convention of the twenty-seventh district at Sheboygan, Monday and Tuesday, May 26 and 27, according to the Earle Lion, official publication of this district. Although dates for the convention have been set, plans for the convention have not been completed. It is expected the meeting this year will be largest ever held by the state organization.

SOPHOMORES WILL TAKE NEW TESTS

Students Ranking in Upper Three Quarters Will Be Exempt in Finals

The faculty of Lawrence college has accepted the invitation of the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching to test the accomplishment of its sophomores along with 50 colleges in the state of Pennsylvania. This proposal arose out of the excellent showing made by the Lawrence seniors in the achievement test last June. The test will be given in five periods of three hours each in April or May.

The sophomore test will consist of a general test in each of the various fields of learning including history, literature, art, language, mathematics, science and the social sciences. In accepting the invitation to administer the test, the Lawrence college faculty voted to excuse from final examinations all sophomores who ranked in the upper three quarters of the class as judged by the test results.

HONOR COEDS TO BE FETED AT BANQUET

First year coeds at Lawrence college having a scholastic average of 83 or more will be entertained by the freshman commission at an informal dinner tonight at Ormsby hall. Lawrence girls dormitory. Twenty-two girls will be honored. President and Mrs. H. M. Wriston, Professor and Mrs. R. C. Mullen, Miss Margaret Woodworth, dean of women and Miss Ellen Tutton, advisor to the freshman commission, and faculty resident at Ormsby hall, will be special guests.

Drys Guard Names Of Witnesses At House Inquiry

PLANS BEING KEPT SECRET UNTIL PROBE

Rumor Ford and Rockefeller May Be Among Those to Uphold Law

Washington (AP)—The drys said today that they would wait until the "wet fling" was over before making public the witnesses they intend to marshal before the house judiciary committee in support of prohibition.

The wets will end presentation of their view of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act Tuesday, the Rev. Edwin C. Dinwiddie, secretary of the National Association of Organizations Supporting the Eighteenth Amendment, in a statement asserted that the dry plans "will be kept secret until then."

W. W. Atterbury and Pierre S. Du Pont, men of influence in the financial world, have testified at the hearings that they thought prohibition a failure. Reports that the prohibitionists will counter with Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and A. P. Sloan, who are also prominent in the world of business, have been heard in and out of the committee room, but Chairman Graham said today he had no information on dry plans.

Explaining his attitude, Rev. Dinwiddie asserted: "We are keeping out of the controversy until our time to present witnesses comes."

"After the hearings have ended, the seven resolutions before the committee, some to modify and others to repeal the eighteenth amendment outright, will be taken up."

While some said there was little likelihood that any of the measures would be reported favorably, Chairman Graham said he thought the Sabath resolution, which would permit the establishment of federal liquor dispensaries in state that have no prohibition laws, was based on a sound principle.

2 WEEKS LEFT TO FILE INCOME TAX RETURNS

Only two more weeks remain in which to file income tax returns with Leo J. Toonen, assessor of incomes, he warned Saturday. Returns must be filed in his office by Saturday, March 15, to avoid penalty, he pointed out.

Aid in filling out returns at the assessor's office at the courthouse still will be available to the public next week. After that office employees will not have the time to help work on the returns although they will answer questions of those who may enter the office or who call by telephone, according to Mr. Toonen.

Mayan Ruins May Uncover Secret Of Lost Atlantis

BY CHARLES E. HARNER
Washington (AP)—The lost continent of Atlantis, theme of speculation for centuries by historians and fiction writers, has cast its spell over General Charles G. Dawes.

The former vice president and present American ambassador to England believes there was an Atlantis where prospered a highly civilized people, and that part of its people, at least, were the ancient Mayas, who inhabited Yucatan and Guatemala, in Central America, before the coming of the Spanish conquistadores, four hundred years ago.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, directed the world's attention to the land of the Mayas recently when he flew through Yucatan, seeing great stone monuments, bigger than the pyramids of Egypt and other graven records of a forgotten, high civilization.

It was such a civilization as has been attributed to the lost Atlantis for countless decades. Legends, perhaps partially historical, certainly partially mythical, describe a great people, called Atlantis, of peace, wealth, industry and wealth, whose people, unpurged by travail, turned to clay for excitement. Then came a day of darkness, when the sun was hidden by black clouds, and the earth trembled, and a great wave of the sea submerged Atlantis and its people.

Today there stand the Mayan ruins, inscribed with hieroglyphics no man can read, although the Mexican and Guatemalan governments, the Carnegie Foundation and many exploring archaeologists have labored for decades to find the key to their mysteries.

Sheldon Whitehouse, newly appointed United States minister to Guatemala and a lover of archaeology, revealed today that Ambassador Dawes believes these Mayan temples may hold, chiseled in their great stone blocks the story of Atlantis.

Mr. Whitehouse said Ambassador Dawes had employed Prof. Charles Upson Clark of Yale university to go to the library of the Vatican, in Rome, to seek the key to the Mayan mysteries.

There, Professor Clark is rummaging through ancient documents seeking his prize. Thus far he has uncovered one important paper, a priest sent to Rome by Spanish priests attached to the conquistadores. It was written 30 years after the conquest by a Mayan who had learned the Spanish language from the priests.

But still he has not found the hoped for document—one which will tell a story in both Spanish and Mayan.

If such a relic be found, the secret of Atlantis may be told.

The Oldtimer Asks...

Do You Remember When—
We used to memorize in school our geography lessons by the help of songs, metrical compositions etc., the state capitals by the help of songs, state capitals for instance being woven into a song that went something as follows:
Maine, Maine, Augusta,
On the Kennebec River,
Maine, Maine, Augusta,
On the Kennebec River.

New Hampshire, Concord,
On the Connecticut River,
New Hampshire, Concord,
On the Connecticut River,

Vermont, Montpelier,
On the Onion River,
Vermont, Montpelier,
On the Onion River.

And the Islands about Europe were set to meter somewhat as follows:
Majoria, Minorca, and Iviza, Sardinia, Corsica, Ebba, Lipari, Sicily, Malta, Cefu, Cephalonia, Zante,
St. Maura, Ithaca, Paxos and Cerigo.

Etc. Etc. Etc.

We kept track of our relative positions in classes in school at the end of the recitation by the names of the Presidents of the U. S., the head of the class being George Washington, the next of the class being John Adams, etc., or by the names of the states in the union the being being Maine and the next being New Hampshire etc. or by the counties in Wisconsin arranged alphabetically the head being Adams and the next being Ashland, etc. or by the towns in Outagamie County arranged alphabetically the head being Black Creek and the next being Bovina, etc.

MANY UNEMPLOYED IN LOS ANGELES

Blizzards in East and Middle West Are Blamed Indirectly

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Los Angeles, Calif.—Blizzards in the middle west and east are indirectly responsible for the unemployment conditions in Los Angeles, which led to general unrest and subsequently to the rioting of 3,000 communists plus their sympathizers, the communists, marching Wednesday night toward city hall to demand work, were dispersed by police with tear gas bombs but the unemployment situation remains unchanged.

Reports from charitable organizations today show more people out of work in this city than at any other time within the past nine years. Exact figures are not available, but the Salvation Army relief department alone has had nearly eight hundred people during the past month, and describes the situation as "keen and unusual." Officials of charitable organizations attribute the unemployment crisis to the fact that untrained workers, small salaried trained workers, and small-time actors seeking Hollywood jobs, have come to Los Angeles in greater numbers than ever before to escape the exceptionally severe winter in other sections.

Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS APPROVE NEW BUDGET

Directors of the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening adopted the 1930 budget for the association as recommended by the finance committee. The new budget covers the ordinary activities of the association for the year, there being no new projects under consideration. Regular reports of employed officers were read and other routine business transacted.

The directors will meet again in two weeks, according to George F. Werner, general secretary of the association and at that time will consider plans for observing the fiftieth anniversary of dedication of the building.

Erie L. Madisen and David Smith were in Milwaukee Saturday on business.

CITY MANAGER IN JANESVILLE CUTS EXPENSE

$60,575.86 in Appleton and $38,678.69 in Janesville. Nearly every governmental expense in Appleton was larger than the corresponding item of Janesville where a city manager is in control of operations.

WIDE DIFFERENCE

The most marked contrast between the two cities is in the cost of operating the department of highways. The total cost of this department in Appleton, including installation of new sewers and the cost of new pavement was $309,582.72 while in Janesville it was only $90,638.06. If the cost of new construction is deducted from these totals, the cost of street lighting, cleaning, maintenance, flushing and other street and bridge repairs and services was $197,717.63 in Appleton and $62,276.39 in Janesville.

The largest item of expense in Appleton's highway department last year, exclusive of new pavements and sewers, was $91,862.04 for street maintenance, weed cutting, erection of street signs and street repair while the same item for Janesville was $18,123.55. Yet Janesville has 90 miles of street while Appleton has 73 miles. It is said in the city hall here that between $5,000 and $8,000 of this amount should be charged to bridge expense, increasing that item which is listed in the audit at $23,210. It also is said there are some credits to offset this item of $91,862 but these credits total only a little more than $2,000. At any rate the cost of street maintenance and repair, exclusive of bridges and credit offsets was well in excess of $70,000 while Janesville's cost, with offsetting credits and offsets was just a little more than $18,000.

ANOTHER WIDE SPREAD

The spread between the cost of street cleaning and removal in Janesville and Appleton was just as great in proportion. Appleton's expense for snow removal and street cleaning in 1929 was $28,555.22, while Janesville's expense for the same service was $9,205.39. Yet Janesville has 90 miles of open street of which 45 miles are paved and Appleton has 73 miles of which 36 is paved.

Street lighting and flushing cost 4-1/2 times as much in Appleton as it did in Janesville, the figure for Appleton being $9,674.73 while Janesville spent $2,006.84.

Appleton was engaged in large program of sewer construction last year, spending $52,738.32 for sewers and $2,588.77 for new pavements. The city, however, has a claim of about $7,000 against Outagamie-co to reimburse it for almost all of this paying cost, so that there will be an offset of that amount against the total cost when this money is paid by the county. Janesville last year spent $30,331.26 for new pavements and sewers. That is only the city's share, the actual cost of paving and sewer construction totaling $32,726.98.

MORE FOR PARKS

Municipal recreation and entertainment cost Appleton considerably more than Janesville, in spite of the fact that Janesville spends more for its parks and has more than twice the total park acreage of Appleton. Last year Appleton spent $34,134.35 for parks, celebrations, supervised play, swimming pool and tourist camp while Janesville expenditures in the department were $26,244.61. Janesville does not have a tourist park and its swimming pool is operated in connection with the parks. Another large park containing a natural swimming pool, has been acquired by the city and is in process of being developed. Appleton paid $13,363.33 for band concerts and in assistance to celebrations last year while during the same period Janesville expended $1,511.49. Janesville, however, has no large band like Appleton and its concerts are not as popular.

BIG HEALTH PROGRAM

In the department of health Janesville spends more than 1-1/2 times as much money as Appleton and gives considerably more health and sanitation service, including the collection of garbage and refuse. Health department expenses in Appleton last year, including sewer maintenance, was $12,438.17 while for Janesville they were $32,987.76. Janesville employs five persons in the health department, including a health officer, inspector, nurses and clerk. In addition there are several part time employees in charge of a contagion hospital and rest room.

In fiscal service and other welfare work cost Janesville $6,000 and it spent another $1,912.79 for care of contagious disease patients and for quarantine. Garbage and refuse collection and disposal cost Janesville $10,957.16, but exclusive of this item the latter city spent more for health and welfare work than Appleton. Appleton has no garbage.

Janesville, however, has no poor department, that work being done by the county and charged to Janesville as part of the county tax. In reality Janesville pays in proportion as much for the care of its poor as Appleton does, but it is not reflected in the expenses of the city, being included in the county tax levy against the city. Last year Appleton's expense for care of the poor was $22,163.23.

PAYMENTS ON BONDS

Bond interest and retirement cost Appleton $71,009 while Janesville paid $37,007 for interest on bonded debt and retired its bonds to the extent of $69,500, making a total ex-

AIRMAIL PILOTS PASS UP FONDY AIRPORT

Pilots of air mail planes on the Fox River valley route, from Milwaukee to Green Bay, have been instructed not to land at Fond du Lac until further notice, but to drop all consignments of mail at the Oshkosh field. This order was necessary on account of the poor condition of the Fond du Lac field, which is soft and muddy. Ships can land on soft soil in case of emergency, but taking off would be difficult. The air mail is sent to Fond du Lac from Oshkosh by motorcycle in the morning and all mail for the south-bound plane is taken back to Oshkosh in time to connect on schedule with the airship.

EXPLAINS WHY JAPS WANT BIGGER RATIO

Quotes Napoleon to Prove Larger Percentage Needed to Assure Security

London (AP)—A prominent Japanese, who is close to the Japanese naval delegation here, today quoted the first Napoleon in explanation of his country's attitude toward a 70 per cent big cruiser ratio with America.

Napoleon Bonaparte said: "An attacking force to be sure of success must have a superiority of at least 50 per cent over its enemy."

The Japanese today said: "Japan believes thoroughly in the Napoleonian maxim and for that reason it is asking 70 per cent of America's cruiser strength."

"While we do not anticipate ever going to war with America, yet the same line conservative American naval men, just as conservative Japanese naval men, are always looking toward the question of security. Since the United States is our greatest and nearest armed neighbor it stands to reason we must take her into consideration theoretically when figuring our relative naval strengths."

"Now the five-five-three battleship ratio comes very near to a 50 per cent superiority; in order to be technically secure we must have an increased ratio in the branches of cruisers. With the 70 per cent and 50 per cent merged Japan feels she will have the security which the country desires and which actually will not menace America in any way."

ITALY BEGINS DRAFTING OF YOUTHS FOR CAVALRY

Turin, Italy (AP)—The voice of the stable sergeant and the staccato bugle notes sounding the Italian "boots and saddles" went ringing down the peninsula-kingdom early this morning, all the way from Turin to Taranto; and across the sea to Tripoli.

Today is "first call" for the conscript in the cavalry youngsters from 20 to 21 whose turn has come for military service, together with a few volunteers under and over those ages. Italian army chiefs believe in catching their future cuirassiers, lancers, and other martial horsemen as early as possible in the spring of the year. Recruits for the other arms of the service will not be called until April 23.

The youths who tumbled out of bed at dawn and stepped into their gray-green uniforms soon found their dashing charges in open fields waiting for them. The old-time rite of "curry and groom, water and feed" had to be gone through with, all under the eagle eyes and laughing tongues of old non-coms.

penditure of $106,500 for Janesville and $72,000 for Appleton.

Police protection in Janesville last year cost $26,580.61 while Appleton spent $40,397.75, but Appleton has more policemen than Janesville. Appleton's fire department expense was $68,405 while Janesville's was $43,801.55. Hydrant rental in Appleton was $34,000 and in Janesville $23,500 in Janesville. The total cost of the department of protection of persons and property in Appleton in 1929 was $148,618.16 and in Janesville $101,650.39.

Appleton provided approximately $300 for more the city library than Janesville the figures being $17,000 for Appleton and $16,708 for the latter city.

NO INTEREST CHARGES

Janesville had no subway expense last year, while Appleton paid $80,617.51 for that work. Janesville, however, has made to large grade separations in the last few years and is now engaged in the construction of a large viaduct. Tax rebates here last year totaled $512.14 while Janesville paid back only $134.05 to taxpayers. Among the items which Janesville isn't called upon to meet was the payment of $5,131.97 as interest to banks on loans made by the city and payment of a judgment of $6,738.36 to the county. Janesville isn't obliged to borrow money from the banks to carry on and for that reason has no interest expense.

Appleton last year spent $2,000 for airport rental for mail planes, an expense which Janesville did not have, but arrangements for a municipal airport now have been completed at Janesville since that city was placed on an air mail line.

The item of "music in schools" which appears in the Appleton expense account as $11,935.57 is covered in the expense account of the Janesville board of education.

As was explained in the beginning of this story, the total cost of operating the city of Appleton exclusive of schools and payments to county and state, was about $753,000 after all deductions were made, while the cost of Janesville for the same 12 months of 1929 was about $415,000. The cities are of about the same size, each having 25,000 population, both are dissected by rivers and both have large ravines and hills which complicate street improvements. Appleton is operated by the aldermen form of government, Janesville is succeeding under a city manager.

FEAR STRIFE AT ELECTION IN ARGENTINA

President's Party likely to Keep Power — Brazilians at Polls Today

Buenos Aires (AP)—The Argentinian opposition parties will bring all their strength to bear at the polls tomorrow in the national congressional election with hope of obtaining enough seats to destroy the majority which the Yrigoyenist party now possesses in the chamber of deputies.

By virtue of its ability to form its own quorum, the president's party has been able to ride rough-shod over its opposition during the past 18 months, and political observers of both camps profess to see pointers there might be a change in the situation in tomorrow's voting.

It was considered doubtful, however, whether the combined efforts of the opposition parties would be sufficient to shake the power of the Yrigoyenistas, who were believed to be assured of the major support of the electorate province and city of Buenos Aires and of the key provinces of San Juan and Mendoza.

The opposition was particularly bitter with reference to these three districts and charged that in the past fortnight gangsters in the pay of federal intervenors had been holding up electors on the public thoroughfares and raiding their homes to confiscate their military enrollment books, without which they cannot register to vote.

They charged, too, that they have not been permitted to hold meetings or indulge in other forms of propaganda while many of their leaders have been jailed on purely technical offenses. Out of a total of approximately 25,000 opposition supporters in San Juan, 50 per cent, it is said, cannot vote because of theft of their enrollment books.

There were grave fears that the intense political rivalry would bring recurrence tomorrow of the acts of violence which have occurred for weeks past. It was believed in some quarters followers of former Governor Carlos Lencinas, who was assassinated in Mendoza a few months ago, would use Sunday as an opportunity to avenge his death. Troops and police have been dispatched to the province in anticipation of such an effort.

BRAZIL ELECTIONS

Rio Janeiro (AP)—Brazilians went to the polls today in one of the most important general elections of recent years to elect a president, a vice president, a new house of deputies and a new one-third of the senate.

Although there are forty million inhabitants in the Republic, less than 2,000,000 are registered voters, the necessary literacy test eliminating many. Of these about 1,500,000 are expected to vote today.

An administration victory, with losses, however, both in chamber and senate, was expected. Julio Prestes is the administration candidate for president, and Vital Soares, for vice president.

The Liberal opposition has as its candidate for president Setúlio Vargas and for vice president, Joao Pessoa. Vargas has been president of the state of Rio Grande do Sul, where some pre-election conflicts have taken place. He has waged a particularly strong campaign.

Polling is expected to pass off quietly despite clashes which have marked campaigns of both parties. Seventeen persons have been killed outright or have died of wound, and 48 others have been wounded, among them Melio Vianina, in pre-election rioting.

LAWRENCE SWIMMERS MEET BAYS TONIGHT

Lawrence college swimming team Saturday evening will invade Green Bay to meet the Columbus club team of that city in the club pool. The meet will begin at 8 o'clock. Among members of the Viking squad who will make the trip are Bud Van Roo, Tommy Ryan, John Chinkosky, Harold Sperka, and Louis Sauter. The Bays defeated the Vikings in a meet in Appleton a few weeks ago.

JUDGE AND REPORTER BACK FROM MILWAUKEE

Judge Edgar V. Werner and William H. Kress, circuit court reporter, returned Friday night from Milwaukee where they spent the week. Judge Werner presided in a court case there.

Citizens Move To Crush New Illinois Gang Rule

Granite City, Ill.—(AP)—The problem of gang rule has flared up again in southern Illinois, once the domain of Charles Berger and the Shelton Brothers.

This time the outbreak is in Madison, in the St. Louis district, and citizens are preparing to nip it.

Incensed by the recent kidnapping for ransom of one of their most prominent business men, 300 citizens at Granite city held an indignation meeting last night, talked over the gang situation, and planned to act. The meeting, sponsored by a group of business men, was told that the county is overrun by gangsters and hoodlums who have established headquarters in extortion activities and other crime.

STUDENT COUNCIL TO DISCUSS MANY MATTERS

At the regular meeting of the Appleton high school student council on Monday, March 3, at which Arthur Roemer, president, will preside, the following matters will be discussed: constitution which a newly organized club is submitting; announcements concerning the student finance plan; and reports from the handbook committee, the lawn committee, and chairman of the dance which is being held tonight.

Matters of getting a frame for the picture that the council has bought will also be discussed, and a communication from the Scholastic magazine which is offering prizes to student councils throughout the country will be read.

400 FARMERS WILL ELIMINATE USE OF DAIRY SUBSTITUTES

Sign Pledges to Encourage Heavier Consumption of "Real" Products

Outagamie-co farmers Friday formally threw their support to the nation-wide movement designed to rescue the dairy industry.

Between 350 and 400 farmers, gathered at Seymour and Kaukauna, signed pledges agreeing not to use any more dairy product substitutes in their homes.

The momentum of the campaign is spreading throughout the country and many more farmers are expected to take similar pledges within the next few weeks, according to Gus Sell, county agent.

Action of the farmers Friday is in accord with recent recommendations of Mr. Sell. He has appeared at numerous rural gatherings within the past few weeks urging concerted action of this nature.

More than 250 signatures were affixed to a pledge by farmers attending a tractor school at Seymour Friday. Circulation of the pledge followed a talk by Mr. Sell, in which he discussed the dairy situation and strongly advised the discontinuance of the use of butter substitutes.

The pledge signed at Seymour read: "We, the undersigned dairymen assembled at Seymour Feb. 23, do hereby pledge ourselves not to use any butter substitutes in our own homes."

WILL ENCOURAGE USE

"Further, we will do everything in our power to encourage the eating of more cheese, the use of more butter and the drinking of more milk, and the use of other dairy products, all this to the end of helping us up the surplus of dairy products, encouraging their consumption, and helping stabilize our markets."

The pledge adopted by approximately 35 farmers attending the Mid-Winter fair at Kaukauna Friday afternoon is similar to the one circulated at Seymour. It read:

"We, the undersigned dairymen pledge ourselves to use no butter substitutes or other dairy substitutes in our own homes."

"We further pledge ourselves to do all we can to encourage the use of more butter, the eating of more cheese and the drinking of more milk, to bring about an increase in consumption of all dairy products to the end that we may do our bit to help stabilize the dairy markets."

The move in the northern part of the county was practically brought to a head at Seymour last Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Kiwanis club there, at which farmers were guests. The club received a petition signed by patrons of a cheese factory in that vicinity requesting the merchants of Seymour to remove dairy products substitutes from their shelves.

The consensus of opinion, however, was that the real solution of the problem is up to the farmers themselves. Circulation of the pledges yesterday was the result.

Just When Does Society At Palm Beach Go To Sleep?

Palm Beach, Fla.—(AP)—Just when Palm Beach does its sleeping would seem to be a matter for serious consideration. Evidence is that it obeys the poet's injunction that "nights were made for music, not for sleep." While morning hours find tennis courts, golf links and sea shore crowded, afternoons have a number of delightful social events claiming attention. Palm Beach appears to be on the go just about 24 hours a day.

Announcement of the engagement of Carolyn Storrs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Storrs of New York city, to Daniel E. Sikes, of New York and Paris, has caused a decided ripple on the social stream. Miss Storrs, who with her parents and sister are at Whitehall, is extremely popular in New York, Paris and Palm Beach. Mr. Sikes is a grandson of General Daniel E. Sikes of Gettysburg fame. He is the son of Countess Napoleon Magne of Paris.

Practically the entire winter colony were guests at the birthday party given on Wednesday afternoon by Edward T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia, in gala celebration of his eighty-first birthday. The affair was held at el Mirasol. Mr. and Mrs. Stotesbury received guests in the loggia which was lavishly decorated with flowers and tropical plants. On last Sunday, following an annual custom, Mr. Stotesbury tossed the first ball in the society baseball game.

Edmund F. Allene of Cleveland, entertained an interesting company at dinner Tuesday night at the Everglades club. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. William J. McAneney, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hopkins, Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chadwick, Chicago and Count Serge de Negre, New York.

William Rhineland Stewart arrived from New York on Wednesday to join the house party at Charles Munn's villa, Casa Amado. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Craig Biddle, Philadelphia; Davis Dows, Miss Alice L. B. Moats, New York, and Lord Adare, London. The entire party attended the Sharkey-Scott bout at Miami on Thursday, going by airplane.

JEWISH COLONY IN RUSSIA PROSPERS, OFFICIALS REPORT

Soviet Government Goes Better Than It Promised to Support Project

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
New York—The great Jewish land colonization project in Russia, financed mainly by American philanthropists and the Soviet government, has not been affected by world agitation over the reports of religious persecutions in Russia. It was learned here today at the headquarters of the joint distribution committee, of which Felix Warburg is chairman.

This project, inaugurated in 1924 to provide relief for landless and workless Jews in Russia, was financed by Julius Rosenwald, of Chicago, Mr. Warburg, John D. Rockefeller and others. Mr. Rosenwald contributed $500,000, Mr. Warburg $1,000,000 and Mr. Rockefeller $500,000.

The soviet government contributed 1,750,000 acres of land in Crimea and the Ukraine, and obligated itself to spend $1,500,000 annually for the colony. There are now in the colony, or rather the aggregation of about 220 small colonies, 50,000 families, or about 200,000 persons. About 4,500 families are being added this year and the soviets will contribute $3,500,000 instead of the required $1,500,000.

FORMER CITY DWELLERS

The colonists are nearly all former city dwellers, who were thrown into acute distress by the abandonment of the new economic policy and the banning of commercial enterprise.

In 1925 the American Society for Jewish Farm Settlements took over the entire program and the formerly American Jewish Agricultural corporation became the operation agency for the society under the name of "Agro-Joint." It was in this year that about $5,000,000 was raised for the cooperative agricultural colony.

The director of the work is Dr. Joseph A. Rosen, world famous in cooperative organization work, and a former member of the staff of the joint distribution committee of the Hoover relief administration.

According to J. C. Hyman, secretary of the joint distribution committee, the colonization plans have made steady and encouraging progress and five or six of the small colonies have become self-supporting. Grain, barley, rye and other produce have been grown and cattle, tractors and other implements have been added to the communal holdings. Adequate housing and roads have been provided and schools and synagogues have been built.

GOVERNMENT HELPS

"Has the soviet government interfered in any way with the religious observance of the colonists or conditions its appropriations on any religious grounds?" Mr. Hyman was asked.

"No, I visited Russia and the agricultural colonies recently. There is, of course, all through Russia a strong propaganda against religion. Among Jewish people, particularly as between the younger and older generations, you find divisions of opinion on religion and government and all other problems. Synagogues in Russia are supposed to be about the same attendance as they do in this country. My impression was that the general issue of religion in Russia was much more intense outside of Russia than within its boundaries. People there didn't seem to be thinking much about it."

"Is the soviet government fulfilling its obligations to the American society for Jewish Farm Settlements?"

MRS. D. H. JEFFERS

Word was received in Appleton of the death of Mrs. D. H. Jeffers, Sparta, Wis., took place Friday at Sparta. She was formerly Miss Lucretia Van Zandt, a teacher in Appleton high school more than 10 years ago. She attended Lawrence college some years before. Survivors are her husband, Dr. D. H. Jeffers, and two children. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Sparta with burial there.

Badger Briefs

Darlington (AP)—After 25 years of operations, the Mineral Point and Northern, diminutive railroad, was formally discontinued today. Reduction in business was given as the cause for suspension. The passing of the road leaves Highlander, Linden and Harker without train service.

Kalish (AP)—It took a postcard nine years to go three miles. On March 29, 1921, W. W. Winchester, depot agent at Strickland, Wis., wrote a postcard to J. A. Dvorak at Lehigh. It was mailed at Kalish, three miles away. On Feb. 11, 1930, Dvorak received the belated message.

Sturgeon Bay (AP)—A coroner's inquest into the death Sunday of Mrs. Robert Haberle, Sturgeon Bay, had its hearing today in a preliminary hearing for George Gerdman. He drove the car in which she was killed south of here. A jury yesterday returned a verdict of careless and negligent driving.

CHALLENGER WEEK STARTS ON MONDAY

New Essex Will Assault Existing Records in Speed, Reliability

"Essex Challenger Week" starts Monday and the New Essex Challenger cars will assault existing records in speed, reliability, brake, economy, endurance and acceleration tests, many of which they now hold, with the public invited to take the wheels. The Hudson Motor Car Company confidently predicts that many new records will be established and that the new Challenger will again prove its right to the audacious name it carries.

Appleton Hudson Co. will stage tests here and will submit the cars to every conceivable test, with major interest centering on the driving by local motorists.

FOR THE "SHOW ME" MOTORIST

"This is the day of the 'show-me' motorist," says Mr. Haen of the Appleton Hudson Co. "and we expect to meet the demand. This year we are quite confident that the car will live up to everything a motorist can expect of a car not only in performance but in beauty, comfort and value."

BETTER CAR THAN EVER

The New Essex Challenger is an even better car than that which won sensational success last year. It is on a longer wheel base, giving more room, and is now from the front bumper to the rear fenders, with new motor included.

"We are asking the public to take an active part in this year's tests, because we believe that this new Challenger offers the maximum safety, not only at every speed but on the turn, in traffic, hill climbing and, generally, easy, sure handling in any kind of going. We do not expect to wait for favorable conditions or have carefully coached professional drivers undertake the tests, except in extraordinary circumstances. We invite any motorist to come in and take out a stock car and submit it to any tests he or she chooses. We will stand by the result," says Mr. Haen.

INVITES WOMAN TO DRIVE

"We are particularly anxious to have women drivers accept this opportunity to show their ability as drivers. There is a popular impression that women drivers are not so competent as men, a sentiment with which I certainly do not agree. Women designers played a big part in designing the New Essex Challenger, not only the upholstery, appointments and fittings, but the actual designing of the chassis and body, and the artistic motif which is carried out to the smallest detail. We would like to see local women prove their right to see much of the high ways as the men."

"Last year Essex-the Challenger created records in every state and Canadian province. It won six European and two South American trophies for speed, endurance and reliability, and the prize for the best body of its kind at the International Body Exposition in Belgium, so that we have international marks to shoot at. Because this year's car is greater all around we expect to see many old marks shattered," says Mr. Haen.

CHEVROLET AGAIN IS FIRST AT SHOW

Wins Award for Member Company Doing Largest Annual Business

For the third consecutive year, the Chevrolet Motor Company in 1930 enjoys first place at the national automobile shows.

This award is given annually by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce to the member company doing the largest annual volume of business. It is regarded as one of the most coveted honors that the automobile industry can bestow on an automobile manufacturer.

In addition to the distinction that goes with the award, Chevrolet is given first choice of display space at the national automobile shows in New York and Chicago.

The Chevrolet is sold and serviced in Appleton by the Satterstrom Chevrolet Co., 511 West College-ave.

Car Versus Plane—Dead Heat

Roaring down the Detroit Airport runway, an Oakland 8 and a fast Lockheed Vega monoplane recently ran a dead heat but failed to settle an argument between Schlee and Brock, "round-the-world flyers." Schlee believed the car would out-sprint the plane. Brock didn't. The car leaped away (at the gun), the plane in close pursuit. Slowly Brock closed the gap. They were even when Brock soared into the air at 55 miles per hour.

BUICK IMPROVES ITS LEADERSHIP AGAIN

Car Is Central Attraction Among Auto Exhibits in Country

Buick's unquestioned leadership in its field has again been definitely demonstrated during the present automobile show season which is now drawing to a close. At the national shows in New York and Chicago, as well as the shows in other cities throughout the east and mid-west, Buick proved itself a central attraction among the exhibits.

A reflection of this show interest is seen in the increasing sales figures which took a decided upturn following the New York show. As the subsequent shows opened in other cities, factory figures indicated a steadily increasing demand which dealer reports indicate, will continue into the spring buying season.

Enthusiastic approval of the new big roadster, which was offered to the public for the first time during the New York show, has marked the appearance of the car in other cities. This car, built on the long 132-inch wheelbase, is a symbol of the world of sport and the great outdoors. It has long, low racy lines which are dressed off with a tailored, smartly finished, low top. The fittings are luxurious in every detail and the car is offered in three different and attractive color combinations.

Few automobiles appeal to such a wide range of motorists as the Buick. In contrast with the big roadster is the series "40" line of six models designed to meet every motoring need. This series is built on a smaller wheelbase—118-inch, and with an 80 1/2 horsepower motor which develops a speed in excess of 70 miles an hour. Because of its moderate price this series of Buicks has proven the most popular of the Buick line at the shows this year.

With many of the automobile shows on the West Coast scheduled for the next few weeks, Buick officials are optimistic over the sales outlook for the present year and predict a steadily increasing business with the advance of the spring and summer seasons.

WILLYS BOASTS OF SPEED, HIGH POWER

72 Miles an Hour in High and 48 Miles in Second Is Attained

Improved roads and better automobiles are giving the public an entirely new conception of the possibilities of the motor car as a medium of dependable and swift transportation. No longer are speeds of 30 or 35 miles an hour satisfactory on the highway and many states have removed their limitations entirely or increased the legal rate of travel.

In the Willys Six, Willys-Overland has introduced a car in the low price field that meets these new requirements for speed in a way heretofore possible only with cars selling in the higher price ranges.

Seventy-two miles an hour with calibrated speedometer over a measured course has been attained in repeated tests with the Willys Six DeLuxe Sedan, Heaviest car in the Willys Six group, and even higher speeds can be expected under favorable conditions or with lighter models. Into the powerful 65 horsepower engine that makes this great speed possible, has been built the ability to travel for hour after hour at rates in excess of a mile a minute.

In developing the Willys Six, its engineers recognized that the truly satisfactory car of today must prove itself at cruising speeds that would have been considered excessive a few years ago. All tests for economy in oil and gas were made at speeds around 45 miles an hour, instead of the much lower rates generally used in such tests with highly satisfactory results.

Because of the great speed of the Willys Six, closest attention has been given to safety through the use of large international expanding four-wheel brakes, hydraulic shock eliminators, sturdy frame construction, oversized tires and highly efficient steering mechanism.

The eleven inch brakes, of internal type, given a total braking area of 148 inches and assure positive control in all kinds of weather since dust, rain and mud are entirely excluded by the new design. Tests have shown that these brakes are unusually efficient at high speeds.

Because of the high top speed, rapid acceleration and deceleration, 29 x 5.00 tires are used on the Willys Six to provide the maximum of safety and service.

Smoothness and additional safety are provided by the Monroe hydraulic two-way shock eliminators, and engine vibrations are eliminated by the use of rubber insulated engine mounting.

"Finger-Tip Control," a feature on all Willys-Overland products, appears to advantage in the Willys Six where the greatest attention has been given to making driving easy and simple under all conditions. This makes possible the operation of the starting motor, light and horn by a single button conveniently located on the steering wheel.

The hand brake lever in the Willys Six is found on the left of the driver, where it is entirely out of the way, and the gear shift lever has been moved forward to the top board, adding still further room for free movement in the front compartment.

The Willys-Knight, Willys Six, and the Whippet cars are sold and serviced in Appleton by Tecklin-Wassman, Inc., 116 West Harris-st.

SMOOTH BRAKES FEATURE ESSEX

Four Wheel Braking System Is One of the Best, Engineers Claim

The outstanding smooth operation of the new Essex Challenger is nowhere better exemplified than in the improved four wheel braking system. Retaining the full floating, self-aligning, two-shoe, self energizing construction, positive unchanging pressure is exerted through the use of a special roller bearing type brake stabilizer. This floating shoe design prevents dragging brakes, thus increasing the service life of the brake and furnishes a trouble free braking system.

The shoes are cadmium plated to prevent rust and are lined with a pressure molded lining. This lining is impervious to water and oil, providing full brake pressure power under all weather conditions.

PONTIAC REPAIR COST REALLY LOW

Pilot Car in Silver Fleet Car-avan Averaged $.0056 Per Mile

Further proof of the stamina built into the Pontiac Big Six is revealed in the low maintenance cost of the Pontiac which recently led the Goodrich Silver fleet of 15 tire-testing cars back to Akron, Ohio after a gruelling trip of 30,856 miles which included some of the worst roads in 43 states, Mexico and Canada.

The 15 cars, all of different makes, were carefully serviced during the long tour on which they encountered ice and snow, loose gravel, hub-deep mud, blistering sand and every conceivable variety of road and weather conditions.

Commander H. R. Schaeffer, in charge of the tour and his group of trimly-uniformed college student drivers were on the road for 263 days and spent a total of 1,800 hours at the wheel. They kept an accurate record of maintenance expense which has been compiled into a final report showing that the mechanical repair cost on the Pontiac Big Six averaged only $.0056 per mile for the entire trip. This figure, according to Goodrich executives, is one of the lowest registered by any of the Silver Fleet cars.

The Pontiac's valves were ground once during the trip. The mechanical repair expense charged against the Pontiac included the replacement of two windows, a set of tires, inspection for brake adjustment and perfect wheel alignment and other details which the average motorist seldom encounters.

AUTOMOTIVE EXPERT PRAISES NEW TIRES

Miller's Geared-to-the Road Are Best Investment, He Believes

Few men in this country have had more first-hand acquaintance with automobiles and tires than has Norval A. Hawkins. Well-known as the former sales manager for Ford and a lifelong expert on automobilizing matters, Hawkins has swung his personal purchases over to Miller tires.

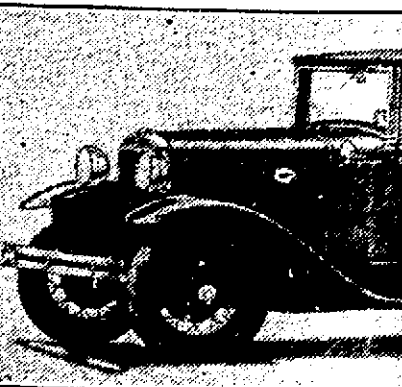

Realizing that a sincere statement of his experience with the new Miller Geared-to-the-Road tire would be a courtesy to the manufacturer, he wrote L. C. Rockhill, general sales manager, a straightforward letter explaining his enthusiasm for Miller tires.

Hawkins' tribute has been widely featured in Miller advertising. It carries a weight and an impressiveness because of the wide experience Mr. Hawkins has had in automobile lines. For Hawkins undeniably knows tires.

"Local motorists are finding on their own cars that Miller Geared-to-the-Roads are the best tire investment they can make," says Mr. Scheurle, distributor of Miller tires in this vicinity. "Miller G-T-R's are not only provided with a tread which is practically skid-proof and stays skid-proof, but they carry an absolute guarantee from one of the best known firms in the rubber business."

"That guarantee reads simply and definitely like this: 'The new Miller Geared-to-the-Road tire is guaranteed to outwear any other tire of equal price.'"

The New Convertible Cabriolet

THIS new Ford Convertible Cabriolet is a particularly good choice for the woman motorist because it combines the smart, youthful style of the roadster and the snug, all-weather comfort of the coupe. The compact, landau top can be raised or lowered easily and quickly. The side windows are framed in bright metal. Wide, substantial rumble seat and cowl lights are included as standard equipment.

REO ELECTS NEW GENERAL MANAGER

William Robert Wilson Is Named to Post This Week. President Says

Far reaching developments in the Reo Motor Car company, according to A. R. Winberg, of the Winberg Motors, Inc., local Reo dealers, are presaged in an announcement this week by Richard H. Scott, president of the election of William Robert Wilson as general manager of the company. Mr. Wilson, a former vice president of the Irving National bank in New York and co-manager with Edsel Ford and other Detroit motor executives of the Guardian Banking group, has taken a substantial stock interest in Reo and has been elected to its board of directors. Mr. Scott announced. Mr. Scott will continue as president, an office which he has combined with that of general manager for some years.

Mr. Wilson brings to Reo the experience of a varied and outstanding career in the automotive field. He was drafted by the late John F. and Horace E. Dodge as their personal aide in the organization of the original Dodge Brothers company in 1914. Later as president of the Maxwell Motor Corporation, he became associated with Walter P. Chrysler in the rehabilitation of that company which later served as a nucleus of the present Chrysler corporation.

Mr. Wilson entered the banking field in 1919 when he became vice president of the Irving National bank in New York. In 1923 he was associated with prominent members of the Detroit motor industry in the formation of what is now known as the Guardian group, an outstanding banking institution. In the central west, Mr. Wilson served as the first president of the Guardian Trust company of Detroit. His associates in this enterprise included Edsel Ford, president, Ford Motor Company; Roy D. Clapp, chairman, Hudson Motor Car company; Alvan Macauley, president, Packard Motor Car Company; Fred Fisher, president, Fisher Body Company; Carl Hilde, well-known banker and director of Reo Motor Car Company; and Howland Coffin, vice president, Hudson Motor Car Company.

In 1931 he entered the automotive industry as assistant to the Manufacturing Manager of the Studebaker Corporation in Detroit. He was then chosen by the late John F. and Horace E. Dodge as their personal aide in the formation of the original Dodge Brothers Automobile Company. He was elected president of Maxwell Motor Corporation in 1931. In association with Walter P. Chrysler he reorganized and rehabilitated the business of that company out of which has grown the present Chrysler Corporation.

In 1927, after serving as Receiver's executive of the Murray Body Company of Detroit, Mr. Wilson was elected chairman of the board of the Murray Corporation. The reorganization of this company was accomplished under his supervision.

Mr. Wilson is president and one of the largest stockholders in Allied Motor Industries, Inc., a holding company in the automotive and industrial fields. He is also chairman of the board and one of the largest stockholders in Copeland Products, Inc., a leading manufacturer of electrical refrigeration. He is a graduate of the school of engineering at Armour Institute, Chicago.

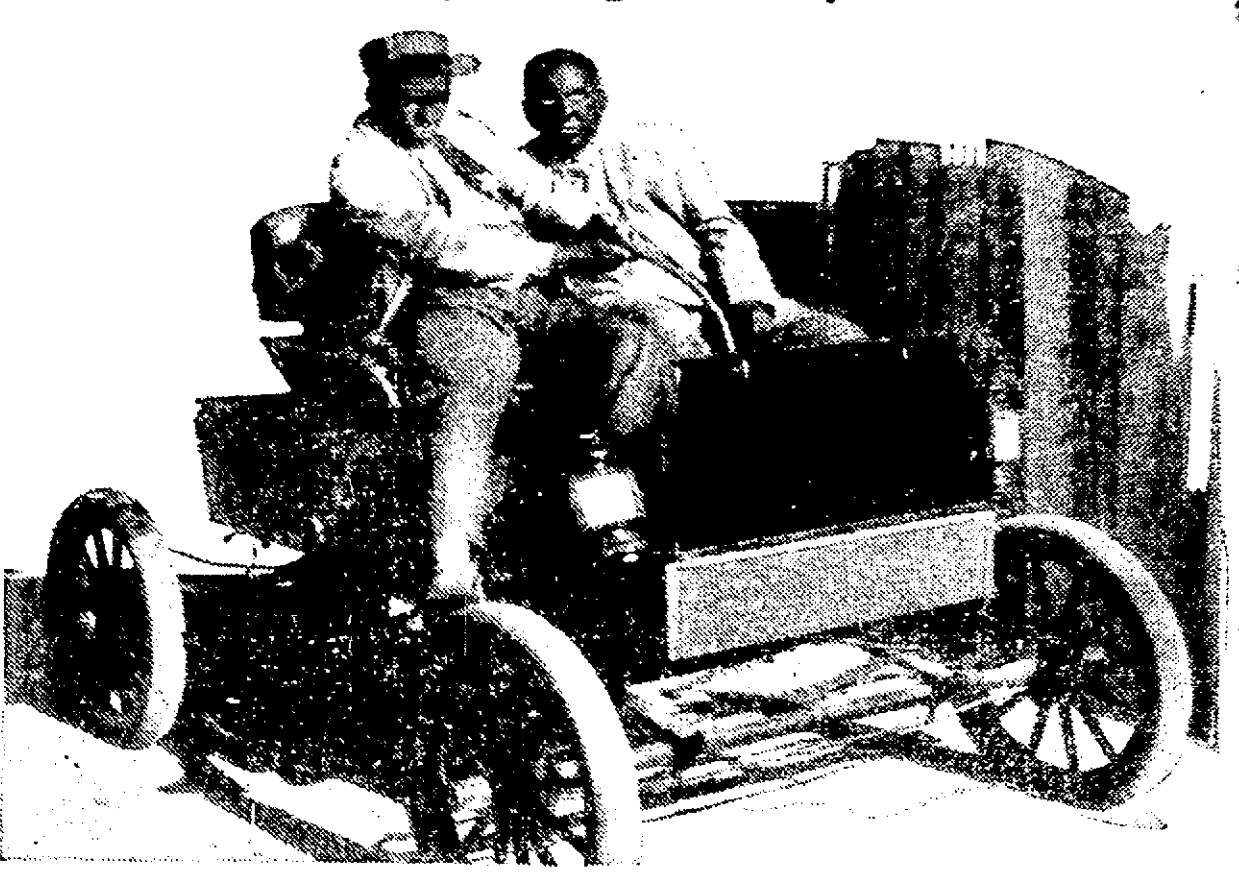

In announcing Mr. Wilson's election as general manager and director of Reo, Mr. Scott said: "We have long known Mr. Wilson intimately over a period of years. We respect him for his record of achievement in both the industrial and banking fields. My associates and I have, in consequence of his proven abilities, invited him into our midst with the confidence that he can carry Reo forward in a manner worthy of the traditional high standards maintained in our institution for more than a quarter of a century."

"As a result of this new association, Reo not only benefits by Mr. Wilson's wealth of experience and matured ability, contained through his long association with the automotive industry and banking business, but gains further the constructive force of a personality known to the business world for his high standards and sound organizing ability."

"Mr. Wilson is taking a substantial stock interest in our company. He will assume his new duties as general manager and director immediately."

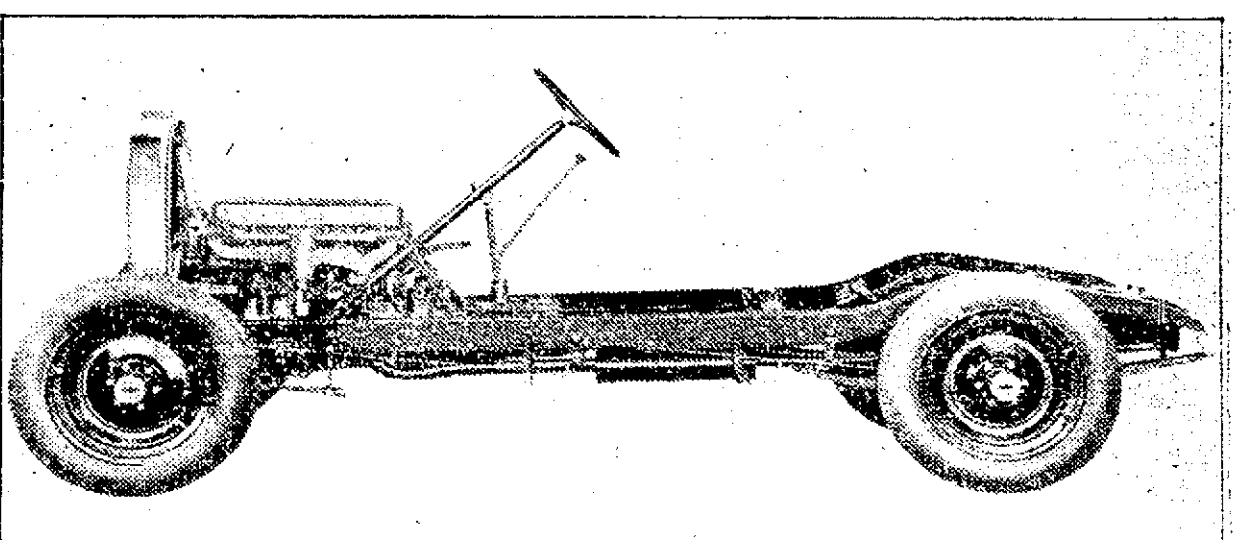

A statement made public by Mr. Wilson today follows: "I have always had a great admiration for Reo. Not alone because of the fine quality and long life to be found in both its pleasure car, the Flying Cloud, and its commercial vehicle, the Speed-Wagon, but more essentially for the fine principles and sound policies which have so many

Why Bring This Up?

Moran and Mack, the famous "Two Black Crows," delved into the very infancy of the automotive industry to dig up this Oldsmobile for use in their recent Paramount picture, "Two Black Crows in the A. E. F." The Oldsmobile was made in the late nineties, even before the early curved dash Oldsmobiles. Reports say the stamina which has kept this car going for more than 30 years has been inherited by the present Oldsmobile. In the above picture Mack is seen at the steering tiller.

Durability and Safety Feature Chevrolet Chassis

Durability, comfort and safety have been stressed in designing the new six-cylinder Chevrolet chassis. The frame supporting the body for its entire length is made of high-grade heavy channel steel. Springs are made of chrome-vanadium steel—the finest spring steel obtainable. Eighty-four per cent of the wheelbase is carried on these springs. Every point requiring lubrication has been designed so that it can be easily reached. The entire chassis is equipped with Alemite fittings for positive lubrication. The rear cross-member is exceptionally wide and sturdy and is designed so as to protect the gasoline tank.

CURRICULUM CHANGE

There is agitation at the University of Wisconsin for changes in the curriculum of the letters and science courses that are described as "revolutionary." It has its origin both within the faculty and the student body. The details of the changes have not been agreed upon or published, but among other things it is stated that the language requirements for a degree would be cut in half and that instead of having a smattering of three or four languages, like Greek, Latin, French and German, the instruction would be confined to two languages so that the student at the end would have a thorough speaking and reading knowledge of them.

This proposal is in line with the criticism recently expressed editorially by the Post-Crescent when it declared that the preservation of Latin instruction in the high schools was obsolete and anomalous. We believe that the same argument holds good in the college of letters and science so far as any of the dead languages are concerned, unless, the student expects to specialize in languages or research of a particular nature.

As courses are prescribed at present few graduates of our universities can speak French or German or any other tongue than English. They have a fair reading knowledge of certain languages which they soon forget. They have not been thoroughly instructed in any one language except in English and in that not any too thoroughly. They spend years of useless toil on Latin and Greek and a couple of years or so on one or two live languages, and they know very little about any of them. Furthermore, the study of Greek or Latin is of no practical benefit to 90 per cent of the students that graduate from any college when we consider the requirements of this day and age for the earning of a livelihood and the achievement of success in the great majority of occupations. Nor is Latin of such aid to the acquisition of French and so-called Latin tongues as to warrant the waste of time consumed in its study.

We venture to say that the ordinary student graduating from a Wisconsin university who could read and speak fluently German and French or Spanish and Italian would be much better equipped for the work before him and would get immeasurably greater pleasure out of his education in future years than the graduate who has floundered around in Greek and Latin and touched superficially his German and French. There could be no comparison in the practical worth of their education or in the mental development achieved.

It is time high schools considered the entire banishment of dead languages from their curriculums, and the time must soon come when colleges and universities themselves will be faced with the necessity of trimming these courses down to the bone and giving students the option of discarding them entirely and confining language instruction to modern spoken tongues. We have progressed too far and are living in too enlightened an age to be encumbered in our educational system with this dead and useless material. It is all right for scholars and those who have a real use for Latin and Greek in their special pursuits, but it is not all right for the great student body of our educational institutions of today.

CHICAGO HITS BACK

Chicago has not so thick a hide as the rest of the country has thought. It is growing sensitive to criticism and abuse. The president of the Chicago Association of Commerce took occasion the other day to inform a press association that the city is not "broke" at all, but in better financial shape than most of our other large cities. Also, that, far from being the "murder capital" and "crime center" of the world, Chicago compares favorably with other American cities in the matter of peace and order. How, then, has the world got so false an idea of Chicago? The Chicago News explains:

For decades Chicago has been the target for the shafts of less prosperous and less advanced communities. So long as its vital forces continue to make it the most progressive city in the world, it will continue to be encircled with calumny. That is the penalty of frank and fearless militancy. Chicago fights its evils in the open. At this moment it is engaged in great civic works. Its moral forces are aroused. It is going forward at a pace unequalled elsewhere on this planet.

Shame on all of us envious backbiters and slanderers!

MORE HELP FOR VETERANS

The house veterans committee has approved what is known as the Johnson bill under which in the neighborhood of $100,000,000 more would be expended annually for the care of disabled ex-soldiers. We do not know how it is proposed to administer this fund or the specific uses to which it will be put, but we do know in a general way that the veterans of the World war, like many of past wars, have not been adequately cared for by the government.

Following the war and for a long time afterward there were insufficient hospital facilities and many conditions surrounding the supervision of disabled and sick ex-service men were scandalous. Some of them were due to red tape, some to inefficiency, some to politics and some to dishonesty. Furthermore, we do not believe the government has been overly generous in compensation and aid. We think it could well afford to add the hundred million dollars to the present charges for care of and assistance to the men who have fought its wars. It can a great deal better afford to do this than to spend $100,000,000 in increased armaments. It can better afford to do it than to waste millions on political projects. As we say, we are not familiar with the details of this proposed legislation, but so far as the principle involved is concerned, the additional funds ought to be authorized.

ROOSEVELT'S DEMOCRACY

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York has just done something for which, it is said, "the old observers in the capital can recall no precedent." Knowing of an approaching meeting of Republican women of the state at Albany, he wrote to their leader inviting them to an informal reception at the executive mansion. In his letter of invitation the governor said, in part:

The main purpose of this meeting, I understand, is to learn from the leaders of your party what progress is being made toward the enactment into law of those things in which women are particularly interested, and in turn to acquaint your party legislative representatives more fully as to what these matters are.

Such gatherings, showing, as they do, an awakened interest in public affairs, seem to me to deserve the outspoken approval of all desirous of arousing our citizens to a quickened sense of personal responsibility in the welfare of the state.

I am charged under the constitution with the duty of furthering the progress of the whole state without regard to partisan or special interests. Your conference will bring together an important group of women citizens devoted to the same purpose.

It therefore seems to the Democratic governor that they should make each other's acquaintance. It is rather a disconcerting commentary on the political attitude of many leaders, officials and private citizens that the governor's invitation should cause surprise and criticism.

The heaviest rainfall recorded anywhere was at Rio de Janeiro in the Philippine Islands, July 11-17, 1911, when on one day 45.5 inches of rain fell and on all four days, 35.15 inches. During one period of five minutes, two-fifths of an inch of rainfall came down.

Nearly all of the metal vanadium, used in making "high speed" tool steel, comes from a deposit in the Peruvian Andes, at an altitude of more than 16,000 feet above sea level, and is brought down on the backs of llamas to shipping points.

The British Empire, including Canada, India, Australia, etc., covers an area of about thirteen and a quarter million square miles, which is about one-fourth of the inhabited land of the earth.

A map of Alaska with its outlying islands, if placed over a map of the United States on the same scale, would reach from the Atlantic to the Pacific; and from the northern boundary of Minnesota to southern New Mexico.

If all the rain that fell on the earth during the course of a year could be gathered together at one time, it would cover the entire earth to an average depth of 29.13 inches.

The wettest spot on the earth is said to be in East Bengal, India, having 120 inches of rainfall per year.

All the planets of the solar system, including the earth, receive only about one two-hundred-millionth of the heat radiated from the sun.

Even as early as 1891, Congress appropriated $10,000 for bombarding the clouds with cannon shot in an effort to bring rain.

Eighty per cent of the tornadoes occurring in the United States happen between the hours of noon and 6 p. m.

The ocean is estimated to contain $6,500,000,000,000,000 tons of brimstone.

Snow falls to a depth of 30 or 40 feet in the Sierras, near Truckee, Calif.

Today's Anniversary

HOWELLS' BIRTH
On March 1, 1837, William Dean Howells, American novelist, poet and critic, and often referred to as "the dean of American letters," was born at Martin's Ferry, O.

Stodious, as a boy, Howells began making verses almost as soon as he could read. He first attracted attention, however, when his poems appeared in the Atlantic Monthly.

In 1860, in his 23rd year, he wrote a campaign "Life of Lincoln," in recognition of which he received the next year the Venetian consulate. In his four years abroad in that post, he is said to have done his country a great service in interpreting, through his writings, America to Europe. When he returned, he did hardly a lesser service in interpreting America to itself. A strong champion of realism, he wrote of his fellow countrymen as he saw them.

Two of his most famous works are: "The Rise of Silas Lapham," and "A Hazard of New Fortunes."

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Saturday, March 4, 1905
Theodore Roosevelt was that day inaugurated as the twenty-sixth president of the United States.

A marriage license had been issued to William P. Winney, Green Day, and Ella Lettice, Appleton.

A return party given by the Bachelor Maids the night before at the new armory was attended by about 75 couples.

Ethel Fitzpatrick, Florence Ross, Enid Saecker, and Ignatius Goode entertained about 50 friends at a dancing party at Odd Fellows hall the previous night.

The Lawrence university basketball team lost to the Ripon five at Ripon the night before by a score of 23 to 18.

Joseph Nemacheck, who was interested in the new paper and pulp mill to be erected in the northern part of the state, left the day before on a business trip to New York.

Miss Kathleen Kautler returned the night before from Chicago where she had been employed as nurse in Wesley Memorial Hospital for several months.

The Rev. F. T. Rouse, who had traveled extensively in England, had secured a set of slides on the cathedrals of England and Wales which he was to show at the Congregational church the next Sunday.

TEN YEARS AGO

Saturday, Feb. 28, 1920
Petitions were being circulated in Chicago that day for the nomination of Governor Edward J. Edwards of New Jersey as the democratic candidate for president in the state democratic primary May 12.

Miss Maymie Murphy who had been visiting at Milwaukee for about a month returned to Appleton.

The Misses Eva Schultz and Phe Eberhardt, teachers in the Shiocton schools, were spending the weekend in Appleton with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Eberhardt, 635 Meade-st.

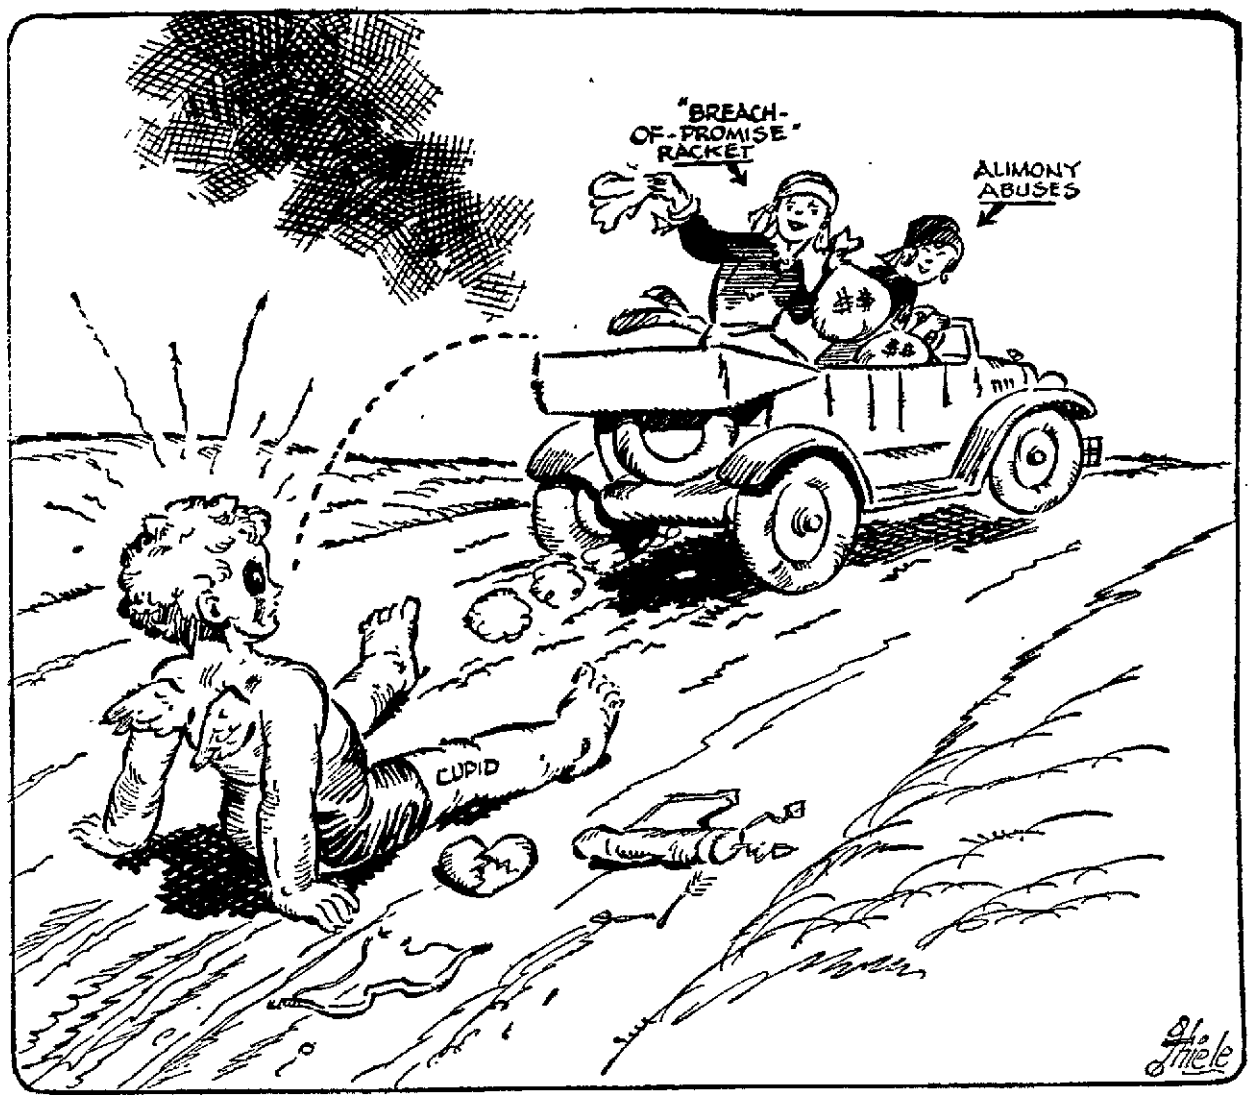

The following day was to be observed as "Everybody so to church day" in Appleton.

Miss Pearl Johnson, 817 Star-st., entertained a number of friends the day before in honor of her birthday anniversary.

Miss Marie Riedl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Riedl, 113 Packard-st., and Saddy Cienkowski, South Bend, Ind., were married Feb. 17 at St. Stanislaus church, South Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan were spending the weekend in Milwaukee.

EVERYBODY SHOULD EAT EGGS FOR BREAKFAST

Come on now, while the hens are producing and the cold storage men are busy laying away what the hens produce let's all take eggs for breakfast. The new health diet, you know calls for two eggs for breakfast, as well as a glass of orange juice, or if you prefer, an orange, some other fresh fruit, and a glass of milk. No tea or coffee is required in the health breakfast, but there is no objection at all, if one likes a cup of tea or coffee instead of the glass of milk, provided one will take the milk, of course only fresh raw milk, at some other time in the day, and provided one does not take much cream or sugar with the coffee. If one is very young and not over-nourished, even a generous helping of cream and plenty of sugar in one's breakfast tea or coffee is quite permissible, provided, again, one still disposes of the glass of pure fresh raw or certified milk at some other time in the day.

I cry from the bottom of my heart for the cardiac and the stomach. There is no toast, no rolls, no joy at all in the health breakfast. You see, what ails the majority of us Americans is that we subsist on a dietary that supplies insufficient vitamins, insufficient residue, too many calories and too much acid ash. The health breakfast is planned to counteract the usual American breakfast. Every item in the health breakfast is rich in vitamins and leaves a neutral or alkaline ash.

The usual American breakfast not only includes some kind of a cooked or ready cooked cereal, which is mainly carbohydrate, but also some kind of bread, toast, rolls, cakes or doughnuts, and as the toast is not enough it is customary to add still more carbohydrate in the form of sugar, syrup, honey or other sweet, all of which is assuredly grand eating, especially when one has cultivated the craving for carbohydrates thru long and delightful sinning, but it costs one dearly in the end, or at least we doctors are beginning to think so. Besides the sugar and calories in all this carbohydrate that is so very easy to eat, you may search as you will but you can't find a single vitamin in the whole breakfast, and that's just too bad, for if anybody needs vitamins it is we Americans, who boast so much of our good better attitude.

So I am issuing this appeal for eggs—only reasonably fresh eggs. Two to each guest. Have 'em cooked 'em hard boiled, or you have to chip 'em out with a little hammer, that is quite all right, for nothing is more digestible than a thoroughly hard boiled egg if one likes 'em so.

But two eggs for every man, woman and child every morning. That's some of the best health advice I can give. I can not subsidize the egg industry and egg industry. I don't like eggs myself, particularly for breakfast. I'd rather have a lot of buttered toast, but I tell you the eggs are essential for good health, so we must all do what we can to encourage the hen. Two eggs yield practically the same number of calories as three thin slices of bread or toast, but the eggs give one a generous quantity of vitamins and the bread or toast is of no value at all in that respect.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran
THE work upon the airplane went along real fast. The time was spent in fixing this and fixing that. The Tynmites thought it fun. They lent a hand as best they could. The boy said, "My, you lads are good. If we keep on at this rate, very soon we will be done."

Then Clowdy said, "This little bus is big enough for all of us. Gee, wouldn't it be great to go sailing through the sky? But, there is naught to make it go, unless it's something I don't know. I'd like to steer it. I would not be one bit scared to try."

The others laughed. Then Clowdy said, "Who wouldn't like to take a ride in such a dandy plane as this? The whole job's very neat. If it would take up into the air and not bring forth a sudden scare, I'd gladly stand up all the way 'cause it would be a treat."

"Oh, that would be a silly thing because disaster it might bring," replied the friendly little boy. "The wind might blow you out. When in a place you should sit down and not pull antics, like a clown. Now listen, I will tell you what this plane is all about."

"I have here a rubber band. Of course you all well understand when it's twisted it will make the little plane sail high. The big propeller swings around and lifts the plane up off the ground. And then, in just a moment, it is sailing through the sky."

Then Clowdy grabbed the rubber band and Clowdy, too, reached out his hand and seized the other end of it. "They stretched it, kinda slow. All of a sudden Clowdy jumped as on his chest the rubber thumped. Then Clowdy cried, 'I'm sorry that I let the rubber go.'"

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington — Well down front in the house of representatives these days there sits a small, bespectacled, athletic young man who follows with great care the proceedings of that body.

Whenever opportunity presents itself he is on his feet, either addressing the speaker or requesting that some gentleman yield. And his words, shaped to fit the situation, always carry the same appeal — freedom for the Philippine Islands.

Camilo Osias, golfer, tennis star, one-time captain and quarterback of a football team in Illinois, and now resident commissioner from the Philippines to the United States congress, overlooks no chance to further the cause of independence for his native country.

Since he is convinced that the question will come to the house for decision before the 71st congress adjourns, he is ever vigilant.

EDUCATED IN U. S.

Recently Osias spoke at length in the house in behalf of the Philippine cause. For more than 30 minutes he talked, astonishing members of that body with his knowledge of parliamentary procedure, his ability to hold his own in debate, and his grasp of conditions in the Philippines.

Born in the little town of Balacan in the province of La Union Osias came early to this country to complete his education. In a normal school in Illinois he soon distinguished himself both as a student and athlete. He went out for football, won the position of quarterback, and later captained the varsity squad, playing tennis meanwhile.

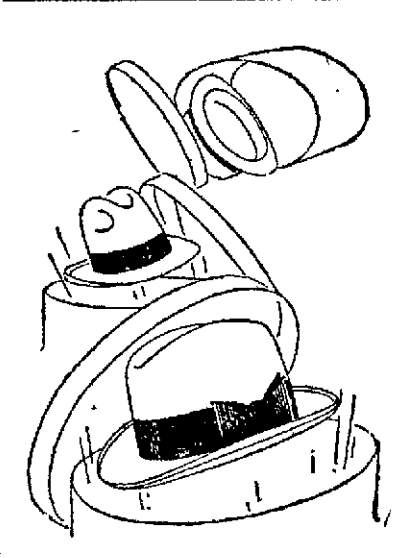

He also won first place in an interstate oratorical contest while there. Upon being graduated he went to the University of Chicago for two summers thence to Columbia university where he was graduated with a degree of bachelor of education. Further study in New York at the Teachers College and he returned to the Philippines to teach school.

IN FILIPINO SENATE

After several years of work in education, he went into politics. Credited with the largest majority ever obtained by a Filipino elective official, he took his seat in the senate there. After four years service, he was sent to Washington as resident commissioner last March, elected for a four-year term.

Osias' hobby is to observe and study good manners and right conduct. At the present he is writing a book in his spare moments on this subject. He is the author of many text books, and has also written a biography and history of the hero-martyr of the Philippines, Dr. Jose Rizal.

He is an excellent golfer—a member of the hole-in-one club—but has very little opportunity to play.

SCHAFFER CHARGES PROGRESSIVES ARE DECEIVING PUBLIC

Asks Congress to Adopt Resolution Calling for Investigation

BY RUBY A. BLACK (Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent)

Washington—Representative John C. Schaffer of Milwaukee speaking today before the House of Representatives charged Wisconsin Progressives with being "hypocrites and demagogues" who condone corruption in their own political campaigns while attacking corrupted elections in other states.

Pleading for adoption of his resolution providing for an investigation of the campaign contribution of Richard H. Lee of New York, whom he characterized as "master lobbyist" for mail order concerns, particularly in seeking reductions in postal rate, and W. T. Rawleigh of Freeport, Ill., Representative Schaffer brought out Lee's interest in the Wisconsin election, his contribution of $5,000 the source of which he has never revealed, and charged violation of the Wisconsin corrupt practices act in six particulars.

Representative Schaffer paid his respects to Philip F. La Follette's campaign against chain stores and prospective Progressive candidate for governor, is attorney for the Rawleigh Tariff Bureau, financed by W. T. Rawleigh, of the W. T. Rawleigh company, "whose president and owner joins Mr. Lee with angelic financial contributions to the political campaigns of those in Wisconsin who have heretofore and at the present time are saying much against chain institutions, including chain stores."

CLAIMS HYPOCRISY
On this stand, Representative Schaffer said:

"This certainly is a hypocritical position taken by the attorney of Mr. Rawleigh's Tariff Bureau, who conferred upon a number of occasions during the Wisconsin 1928 primary campaign with the La Follette Progressive Republican of Milwaukee County, particularly in view of the financial connections of Mr. Rawleigh and Mr. Lee with the political campaigns of his cohorts in our state. If a chain grocery or drug store, or other chain stores, are injurious to the business institutions and the people of Wisconsin, as Mr. La Follette states, and I do not indicate they are not, certainly the chains of the great mail order institutions of Lee and Rawleigh, with a link in practically every postoffice in our state, are far more dangerous and injurious than a chain drug or other store which at least pays taxes in our state, employs citizens thereof, and owns or rents buildings to carry on its business, while the chain links of the Rawleigh and Lee monopolies do not."

HITS PROGRESSIVES
In his final plea for adoption of his resolution providing for an investigation by the committee on expenditures in the executive departments, of which he is a member, Representative Schaffer said:

"In order to prevent a repetition of the dastardly fraud upon the citizens of my fair state in the future and a continuation of its growth which unchecked will pollute the stream of representative government at its very source and inevitably lead to the destruction of our institutions, I ask in all seriousness, I plead with all earnestness and sincerity, that each and every one of you, my colleague, assist me by doing everything you can to pass H. Res. 69. We must fearlessly fight this vicious and revolting political corruption without retreat or surrender, holding high the flaming torch of free representative govern-

NATIONAL DAIRY CO. TO PURCHASE KRAFT

New York—(AP)—Arrangements have been completed for purchase of the assets of the Kraft Phenix Cheese corporation by the National Dairy Products corporation, it was announced today.

National Dairy has offered the equivalent of about $25 per value of 5 1/4 per cent debentures, plus one half share of National Dairy Stock, for each share of Kraft Phenix. National Dairy will give $33,175,000 in debentures, 663,500 shares of stock, and $6,400,000 in cash for the entire purchase.

The purchase will carry with it control of the Southern Dairies corp., which is owned by Kraft. This will give National Dairy representation over considerable territory in the south where it is not now operating.

Kraft Phenix manufacturing and distributes cheese and other dairy products through what is practically a nationwide organization and in addition does an extensive foreign business. Its principal factories and warehouses are located in Wisconsin, New York, Illinois, Georgia, Alabama, California and in Canada, England, Holland, Cuba and Australia.

National Dairy is a holding company with wide spread interests in milk and dairy products and manufactures and distribution of ice cream. Its operations extend over the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Tennessee and West Virginia.

SMITH PERPLEXES ILLINOIS VOTERS

Politicians Wonder Just How He Hopes to Get Seat in Senate

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

Chicago—(AP)—Just how Col. Frank L. Smith—twice refused a seat in the United States senate—proposes to achieve his well-nurtured ambition to sit in that body, is a matter that perplexes Illinois politicians at the moment.

Col. Smith now is a candidate for Republican nominee as congressman-at-large from Illinois. He has little formidable opposition and much well-organized backing at the coming April primary. In a Republican state this may be taken as an augury that the man who once was elected senator by a majority of 100,000, will get to Washington.

But in that case he would be in the house of representatives, while his hankering is for the senate. Colonel Smith's most lively ambition is to run against Senator Otis F. Glenn, who defeated him in 1923. The senator is up for reelection in 1932. But Governor Louis L. Emmerson is pictured as having his eye on that election and he is supporting Colonel Smith now.

So politicians are saying that the Colonel may be a Republican candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in 1932 and then seek the senate in 1936. Still, Colonel Smith says that if his health permits he may be expected to run for the senate two years from now.

The forthcoming primary and election are expected by him to be in the nature of a vindication of his record, since all of the citizens of the state are privileged to vote. When he made his successful campaign for the senate in 1926, Colonel Smith while chairman of the Illinois Commerce commission, has accepted $203,000 in contributions from utility interests.

MANY DOGS WITHOUT TAGS, CHECK SHOWS

With over 1,000 dogs in the city only 657 are wearing new licenses at the present time, despite the fact that Feb. 1 was the deadline for the payment of dog licenses. However, with the majority of Appleton's taxpayers visiting the city treasurer's office this week to pay their property taxes, the call for dog licenses is increasing. Most dogs will be licensed by the end of the tax paying period, Friday, Mr. Bachman believes.

MOVIE STARS LIKE MIDDLE-CLASS EATS

Hash, Pineapples and Hamburger Steak Are Consumed in Great Volume

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

Hollywood, Calif.—(AP)—It takes a week to eat 500 pounds of hash, 600 pineapples and 120 pounds of hamburger steak to make the movie stars what they are to eat. These are the foods ordered most frequently at the Brown Derby, Henry's and the White Spot where most of the bright planets of the cinema flock for a snack at their favorite snacking hours. Which, as it happens, are 12:30 at noon, 12:30 at midnight, and 3:30 at night. Ninety per cent of the food consumed at these places is consumed by picture people.

If the star man or woman, has been putting on a little weight, pineapple salad and nothing else but as the order. At Henry's for staid pineapple salad or apples contrast, mainly of pineapple, they use something better than 3000 pineapples yearly, the average running up toward 600 a week. If, however, the star finds the seeds are repulsive, satisfactory, it is a real pleasure to watch him or her plunge into the must of a plate piled with corned beef hash, or devour a couple of hamburger sandwiches.

The more important personages of the film colony eat 500 pounds of corned beef hash every week at the Brown Derby. At the White Spot,

SEARS ROEBUCK CO. SALES SHOW INCREASE

Chicago—(AP)—Sears Roebuck and company today reported sales for the first 26 weeks of the second period of 1929, from Jan. 30 to Feb. 26. The company is operating on a 13 month calendar. In the same period of 1928 the sales were $3,577,509, indicating an increase of 3.3 per cent this year. For the first two periods, Jan. 2 to Feb. 26 this year the sales totaled $34,113,141 compared with $31,177,305 a year ago, an advance of 9.2 per cent.

The comparative number of retail stores operating at the corresponding periods were not made public.

which is in high fettle toward the drawing, they consume 124 pounds of hamburger each day, generally in a sandwich. And over the week-end, Saturday and Sunday, they raise the total poundage to 700.

They may be excused to the general, but the film stars, when they do eat, concentrate on regular, middle-class edibles. And how?

DON'T PAY TOO MUCH FOR SODIUM CHLORIDE

Sale of sodium chloride to farmers in neighboring counties at excessive prices has been reported to Gus Sell, county agent. The product is sold on grounds that it is absolutely necessary for the health of poultry. "There is no question that it is necessary, but the fact is that sodium chloride is nothing but a chemical name for ordinary salt and anyone who pays more for it than they would for salt is being defrauded," Mr. Sell said.

He has not learned of any such sales in the county.

Tells About D.A.R. Work In County

MRS. JOHN LONSDORF read a paper on Americanization and Education at the meeting of the American Revolution, Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. A. Ritchie, 345 E. College-ave. She mentioned the various schools in the country which are being supported entirely or in part by the D. A. R. and spoke of the work they are doing.

Conservation and Thrift was the subject of a paper given by Mrs. J. H. Farley, in which she spoke of the great loss of land in the northern part of Wisconsin which the D. A. R. has taken over for the purpose of reforestation. She made a plea for money to help in this project. No definite action was taken at this meeting, the business being laid over for a later date. Mrs. John Ross Frampton read a message from the president general of the national society, Mrs. J. Hobart, concerning the lives of Lincoln and Washington whose birthdays fall in February.

Mrs. F. G. Wheeler was elected a delegate to the Continental Congress which will be held at Washington, D. C., the week of April 19. After the business meeting a social hour took place with Mrs. C. E. Walters and Miss Margaret Ritchie as assistant hostesses. A board meeting took place before the chapter session. About 25 members were present.

SOCIAL SEASON ENDS WITH DANCE

The last social function of Appleton council, Knights of Columbus, to be held before Lent took place Friday night when members, their ladies, and friends were entertained at a mask and costume dance at the city hall. About 92 couples were present.

Novelty dances were a special feature of the evening's entertainment. Among these were auction dances, circular two steps, and broom dances. Music was provided by Hank Johnson and his orchestra. Unannounced took place at 10:30. The committee in charge of arrangements included A. Hall, chairman; Dr. George Hegner, Mrs. Mullen, Rufus Lowell and John Reid.

GOOD CROWD AT EAGLE'S DANCE

About 300 people were in attendance at the last masquerade of Fraternal Order of Eagles before Lent which took place Friday night at Eagle hall. Music was provided by Chet Mauthe's orchestra of Kimberly. Prizes for group costumes were won by the Black and Whites composed of Miss Anna Miller, Miss Anna Harte, Miss Florence Kenna, and Miss Emma Zeilutius, all of Green Bay; and the Hungry Five which included Mr. and Mrs. A. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. A. Pekel, and H. Luebben. Couples which won prizes were Miss Florence John and Miss Violet Firmer, Miss Genevieve Kottler and Miss Violet Drephal, Mrs. Norman Le May, and Mrs. Frank Olson, Kimberly. Miss Kate Jakob and Mrs. Matt Diederich were awarded prizes for comic costumes and Andrew Ries won the men's comic prize. Henry Stadt was general chairman of the dance.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Miss Anna Sieg will have charge of the topic at the meeting of the Young People's society of St. John church at 7:30 Monday night at the church. Miss Annette Elitz, Harry Elitz, and Miss Mabel Daelke will prepare the program.

A report of the two card parties given recently by Sacred Heart society of Sacred Heart church will be given by Arthur Stumpt, chairman at the meeting of the society at 1:30 Sunday afternoon at the parish hall. Routine business will be transacted and an attendance prize will be given.

Group No. 1 of the Women's Union of First Baptist church met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Henry Gillette, 1209 N. Oneida-st. Nine members were present. A social hour followed the business meeting. Mrs. Glen Meidam is captain.

The Women's Auxiliary of All Saints Episcopal church will meet at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. A. W. Hammond, 225 Oak-st. Mrs. John Ross Frampton will be assistant hostess.

Business will be the subject of an address by G. L. Buchanan at the meeting of the Congregational Men's club scheduled for 9:45 Sunday morning.

At the Young People's discussion class Erik Madison, editor of the Appleton Review, will talk on "What Congregational Churches Believe."

"Our Walls," featuring John Gilbert and Joan Crawford, will be presented at the Congregational moving picture service at the church Sunday evening. Dr. H. E. Peabody will deliver the sermon.

The Christian Endeavor society of First Reformed church will meet at 6:30 Sunday evening at the church. Miss Lorenz Pranz will be the leader on the topic, Faith and What It Does.

A musical program will be given at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of Memorial Presbyterian church at 6:30 Sunday evening at the church. The program will be arranged by Miss Mary Schenck. Historical backgrounds for various hymns will be given and several of the members will present musical selections.

A business meeting will be held at which time new officers for the coming year will be elected.

Jabot Frill at Neck

BY ANNEBELLE WORTHINGTON
Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson Finished with Every Pattern

Long slim line in a one-piece satin crepe in manilla brown shade is given gracious movement to hem by circular flounce.

The important femininity of mode asserts itself through jabot, frill falling softly at front from neckline, and in the inserted frills or fitted sleeves. Narrow self-fabric belt nips the normal waistline. Inset pockets at either side of front are placed diagonally.

Style No. 3235 is designed in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

Black flat silk crepe is very distinctive and smart and may be worn for shopping as well as for luncheon or bridge.

Lightweight tweed in bottle green tones is jaunty in diagonal weave. Navy blue wool crepe is excellent choice for all-day frock and especially attractive and neat for classroom or travel.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"GRACE?" Sue asked. And then wished she hadn't. It would have been better to have pretended that she didn't know that Grace was there.

"Yes, is it Sue?" Grace's voice answered quickly. "Have you heard the gorgeous news? Jimmy won?"

Sue laughed triumphantly. "But here I am sitting on when you called to tell me something special. Mother told you I'd been invited over for a celebration breakfast, didn't she, when you called the house? I wonder how you knew I was here. Now I'll let you tell me what you wanted."

Sue stared straight ahead, not seeing the old wines and purples and blue blues and gods of the tapestry before her. She was recalling Grace's impish, provocative eyes and lips and self-assurance. She had never even considered that Sue taken it for granted that the drama was ended and the stage lights had winked out on that particular show. Then in another flash, she recalled Grace's unswerving loyalty and devotion. She had to give some reason for calling. She would never let on it was Jimmy she had been seeking!

But Grace, sensing her hesitation, spoke quickly.

"She was it... Jimmy you wanted? He's right here. I'll call him. I just answered because I was next to the phone. He'll love talking to you." But her voice had lost some of its buoyancy and seemed tired.

"No, no Grace, I wanted you," she answered immediately. "I wanted to tell you that I'm engaged." At least she had some news that would justify the call. She had not intended to mention it to Jimmy, though.

There was a far away buzzing in the telephone and Sue knew that he who had been drowned in her mind had been drowned in her mind.

"Hurry, Sue, we're putting in bids for our favorite dishes for today," Harry stuck his head around the corner to tell her, waved his napkin, and disappeared. Evidently someone had said something in the dining room for there was a burst of hilarious laughter. It was the kind of setting conducive to merriment and contentment, and Sue liked it even while she wished that she had been just an ordinary guest, not the fiancée of the son of the house.

And far away, in Jimmy's small brown house, Grace was waiting to hear her news, and Jimmy was waiting for Grace to finish talking.

"There, now we've got a better connection, Sue," Grace answered. "Is the house-party grand and glorious? I don't even envy you this morning? But what were you trying to tell me?"

"I'm engaged, Grace," Sue answered, and her eyes deepened, knowing that Grace would catch her breath at that.

"Engaged? Oh Sue, I'm so glad!" Sue could feel the timber of her voice growing deeper and more joyful, almost like an anthem.

"I think it's wonderful, Sue darling," she added.

Now that Sue was no longer to be considered where Jimmy was concerned, Grace need not wait quietly. She could play actively and still be fair. Her answer was really a pageant of joy.

"A grace went on talking: 'I know you'll be ever and ever so happy and no one deserves it more. Jack is such a splendid fellow...'"

"But I'm not engaged to Jack," Sue answered.

She glanced down into the room just as Jack and Barbara came through the door and looked up.

News About New Books

YOUNG MRS. GREELEY, by Booth Tarkington.
Booth Tarkington has run the gamut in his writings of things that were great and those that were not. He has had his masterpieces but he has also had his lesser moments. The Plutocrat of a few ago belonged to the latter class, and we were frankly curious as to whether he would get back into his old stride and do excellent things again like Alice Adams. Consequently, we are very much excited over Young Mrs. Greeley, published recently by Doubleday Doran. It is less of a full-blown novel than a clever character sketch, but the casual, skillful way the author digs deep into the roots of feminine psychology is worthy of Willa Cather's Last Lady.

Young Mrs. Greeley is an attractive young woman who minded her husband's business. She and her best friend are two young married women of the purely female type, dependent for shelter and sustenance upon the instinctive exercise of their attractions, and native wiles upon the male. They come in conflict with a cool-eyed, competent young business woman, and the result is a story of humor that verges over so near to tragedy and an understanding of human beings which would be almost uncomfortable were it not for Tarkington's own rich, wise, and kindly philosophy of living.

The women are excellently and truthfully portrayed. But Tarkington achieves an even greater result with their husbands in our opinion. He paints the tragedy of the small town man caught up in the complications of city life, playing benefactor to another small town friend. The latter has capabilities far surpassing those of his friend, and he travels beyond him in the same business. William Greeley is made for great things, and native wiles upon the way through his trials with his pretty, spoiled wife, but we knew it for certain in the closing episode of the book when—for the sake of future marital happiness—he squelched his own curiosity. The author describes William's conflict far more adequately than we can:

"The great Dutch King of England never did a better thing than when he destroyed, without reading it, a scroll bearing the names of those who had conspired against him. They had been traitors but would be truer to him thenceforth than if they knew he knew them to be traitors; William of Orange let them live in safety and with spirits unbroken. By instinct shepherly, the other William did as fine a thing. He heard the lift in his wife's voice.

"Ah, well, the good fellow said to himself. 'I guess I can get along without knowing every last thing about everything.'"

Young Mrs. Greeley is a short amusing little story. It will take you a little more than an hour to read. We wished that it had lasted longer. But Tarkington is again a great author and he will not disappoint you.

ZANE GREY WRITES IN SAME OLD CHAIR
Zane Grey writes all his novels in an old Morris chair which was about the only decent piece of furniture he had when he and his wife started housekeeping in Lackawanna, Pa. They lived in a shack and Mr. Grey sat in the Morris chair by the light of a kerosene lamp wrote novels which were rejected and starved and starved. Now, in his million dollar home in Altadena with a magnificent view of four cities spread out before him, Mr. Grey sits in the old Morris chair with the sort of sewing board used by one's grandmother, on his lap, and writes, with a box of one hundred fifty sharpened pencils by his side. Mr. Grey writes in long hand and so legibly that his first draft is pretty close to his final draft. Harpers published his Fighting Caravans recently.

Frau Anna Seghers, author of The Revolt of the Fishermen, the Kleist prize novel, can talk excellent strudel. She is the mother of three children, a Doctor of Philosophy of Heidelberg University and amazed guests at a tea in artistic Bloomsbury by modestly translating from the Chinese. So vigorously are the figures in her book drawn against the stark background of oppression and hunger that literally London had concluded its author was a man. The Revolt of the Fishermen will be published in this country by Longmans, Green and Company early in the spring.

Dorothy Heyward's first novel, "Hot Water," will be published this spring by the Century Co. The author is the wife of Dubose Heyward and collaborated on the stage version of the famous novel "Porgy."

Richard Wightman will reveal the other side of the charming correspondence which he published in his widely read book "The Things He Wrote to Her" in a companion volume to be issued by Century in March. "The Things He Wrote to Her" is to be the title.

CHICAGO SOLVENT AGAIN AS WORKERS GET THEIR WAGES

Citizens and Corporations Help to Fill Up Depleted Treasury

BY OWEN L. SCOTT
Copyright, 1930, By Cons. Press
Chicago —(CPA)— Chicago today is numbered among the fully solvent cities. The days of starving public employees, unpaid coal bills, curtailed health service and a totally bare treasury, appear now to be ended.

Given the chance to save their city from a condition of semi-bankruptcy, citizens and corporations have poured nearly $60,000,000 indirectly into the local treasury within the past week. The goal of $74,- 000,000 needed to carry the various governmental until tax collection time probably July 1, is almost certain to be reached.

Pay day for the 43,000 local governmental employees came on Saturday for some and will come on Monday for the remainder, according to present plans. Various other creditors, with millions due them, are to be paid shortly.

This new experience of virtual civil insolvency has been a harrowing one for Chicago workers and for business as well. It lifted thousands of families from the bill paying class and out of a crimp into real business. It had a salutary effect on the city's credit. There is no doubt that a critical situation would have arisen. There was beginning to be talk of a general strike of government employees.

The financial impasse comes to an end without the satisfaction of the demand that deadweight be cleared from municipal payrolls. There even is no definite promise that the legislature will be called to enact legislation which would make a repetition impossible. But the lesson taught has been graphic enough to be impressive, so far as local politicians are concerned.

RE-ENACT OLD SCENES
The drive for funds, which has proved effective in amounting to the experience of Liberty loan drives during the World war still is valuable. Regular war-time scenes have been re-enacted with four-minute men, high pressure publicity and salesmanship. Teams of money gathers worked by industries. Booths were set up in banks to sell tax anticipation warrants. This city paper now is listed on the Chicago board of trade securities market, to give it a liquid value.

Philip R. Clarke, chairman of the citizens tax certificate committee, which raised the money declared:

The workers in this drive have been drafted for service on short notice and they have dropped their business and put every bit of their energy and time into making good on the tasks assigned them. They realize what failure means; they know that if this drive fails Chicago is doomed to an ignominy whose black marks never can be entirely erased.

Of success might have meant deflation on interest and principal of bonds due to be retired this year.
Failure to meet these obligations would have been tantamount to bankruptcy.

But now the lullababoo is over and the world hereafter will hear less of Chicago and its financial difficulties.

NEW YORK FINALLY FINDS MANSFIELD

Long Suffering Theatre Picks Out Live Negro Play,
"The Green Pastures"

BY WARD MOREHOUSE
Special Dispatch to Post-Crescent New York —(CPA)— New York seems to have at last discovered that there's a theatre in town called the Mansfield, that it's in 47th-st opposite the west side gospel mission and that it's a playhouse with a roof, goats, seats, aisles, scenery, actors —and a show. Yes, a show that packed the house for its second performance and that caused to be dragged from the subcellar a "standing room only" sign, something that hasn't been in use since the Mansfield was opened four long years ago.

The long suffering Mansfield, after four years of famine, appears at last to have picked a live one. The live one is Marc Connelly's "The Green Pastures," a fantastic, mad, hilarious play presented by an all-negro cast.

The Mansfield, be it recorded, is an independent house. It's a Chinin house and has to get those shows that the Erlanger and Shubert booking offices don't get. Well, when Erlanger and Shubert get through the pickings are slim, as Harry Kline has learned these many months.
With "The Green Pastures," however, it appears that the patient Mr.
Kline, who books the plays for the Chenin houses—there are three that remain—has landed the one show he's been trying to get. And it will now be up to the Erlanger and Shubert booking managers to explain if they can, how they happened to miss it.

NO REPORT ON TAXES COLLECTED FRIDAY

With many letters containing tax money still unopened in the office of the city treasurer, a total of the last day's tax collections has not been reached. The office was crowded all day with last-minute taxpayers, and every mail brought hundreds of checks. Fred Bachman, treasurer, estimates that Friday's receipts will probably run to the $450,000 mark.
Up to Thursday night $540,652.95 of the total of $1,245,572.80 had been collected.

RADIO AD TAKERS FLEEING PUBLIC EXPOSED IN EAST

New Broadcasting Advertising Racket Is Discovered by Police Chief

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
Washington —(CPA)— Large scale operations of a group of radio advertising racketeers who have been fleeing local merchants and broadcasters, are being exposed by the sale of "time on the air" over particular stations, are revealed for the first time.

The scheme, very simple and apparently quite effective, was uncovered by Edward F. Reilly, chief of police of Montclair, N. J., after the group had made a "raid" among the merchants in this town by selling over and over again the same hour of time over station WBSB, at Jersey City.

The four young men, who hail from Chicago, were arrested, and a search of their personal effects, according to Chief Reilly, showed they had operated in 15 cities in the east and midwest, including Chicago and New York. He said he had definite information from police departments in Easton, Chester and Bethlehem, Pa., and Bridgeton, N. J., that they had operated in these towns.

STATION IS INNOCENT Broadcasting stations evidently become parties to the schemes innocently. Chief Reilly reports that a contractual arrangement is entered into between the station and the conspirators, individual or group for a relatively small amount of time per week, booked several weeks in advance. Regular advertising contract blanks bearing the station's call letters then are printed, and the same hour is resold as many times as possible, but by the time this is discovered, the perpetrators have disappeared.

Chief Reilly stated that the four men he apprehended explained to him the way in which they have operated.

"From their own admissions," he declares, "they would go to the station, make a contract getting the lowest possible figures from the station, then have the station print and advertisers, solicit the merchants, have a musical program sent out for one night, and move along to other fields where they would start all over again."

Inquiries at station WBSB, according to the Montclair Chief, revealed that the men had made an agreement to buy an hour's time for a musical program one night a week, the cost to be $40 per hour. On the night the first program was to be broadcast they did not appear.

Chief Reilly has apprised the federal radio commission of the affair suggesting that if this matter could be placed before the owners of broadcasting stations in a proper way there would be a "stricter watch for persons who might attempt to employ the same methods."

Your Income Tax

NO. 19
A loss in the sale of stock or bonds may not be deducted on account of anticipated profits that have not been realized. A dealer in securities, as defined by income-tax regulations, may use the inventory method to report income because the stocks and bonds held by him are not investments but comprise his stock in trade.

A taxpayer possessing stock of a corporation can not deduct from gross income any amount claimed as a loss in value of such stock in account of fluctuation of the market or otherwise. The loss allowable in such case is that actually suffered when the stock is disposed of.

A taxpayer, other than a dealer in securities, can not deduct any loss claimed to have been sustained from the sale of stock or securities, within 49 days before such sale, if he has acquired (other than by bequest or inheritance) substantially identical property. This provision is designed to prevent a taxpayer, in computing net income, from claiming as a deduction a so-called "loss" sustained from a sale of securities, which is immediately followed or immediately preceded by a purchase of substantially identical securities.

Gain or loss, however, is realized in the case of a "short sale." A taxpayer owning 100 shares of the X corporation, who purchases another 100 shares and within 30 days thereafter sells the first purchased stock can not deduct any loss claimed to have been sustained from the transaction; if he sells the entire 200 shares, a gain or loss from both transactions is thereby realized at that time; and if he sells the stock included within the second purchase a gain or loss is realized.

FAMED SPECIALIST DIES
New York —(CP)— Dr. Floyd Summer Muckey, a nose and throat specialist who devoted the last 40 years to a study of the science of voice production, died of a stroke of apoplexy last night while seated at his home listening to a woman pupil sing Handel's "Oh Sleep." He was 72 years old.

He is credited in "Who's Who"
with having been first to give a work-
graphed a flame and to have made a demonstrating photograph of vocal cords in action.
Widow, son and daughter survive.

saucepan over the fire, and, when warm, stir in the beaten yolks and one-half pound of powdered white sugar. Sprinkle a very little salt over the soaked tapioca, remove the milk and eggs from the fire before they boil, and beat them into it.

Whisk the egg whites to a firm froth, stir them lightly and quickly into the pudding, pour it into a buttered pudding-basin, stand it in a pan of boiling water, and bake in a moderate oven with a dish turned down over it to cover it until the custard thickens. Then remove from oven, take off the cover, lift it out of the hot water, and stand it in the hot part of the oven to brown. It may be served either hot or cold.

said the post might have to move.

MUNICIPAL UTILITIES SHOW LARGE PROFITS

Madison —(CP)— Reports filed with the state railroad commission this week by four municipally owned utilities in Wisconsin show their combined profits during 1929 were nearly 25 per cent of the gross income.
The combined profits of the Jefferson, Marshfield, Richland, Center and Port Washington utilities in 1929 were $134,615.71, according to the reports while the gross income of the utilities was less than $500,- 000. The Port Washington plant recently sold to a private company showed a profit of more than $28,- 000 in 1929, although its gross income was only $93,000.

All Wisconsin utilities are required to file their 1929 financial reports with the railroad commission by March 1. Only one large private company, the Superior Water, Light & Power Co., of Superior, Wis., had filed its report up to yesterday.
A net profit of $233,798.60 was made in 1929 by the Superior Water, Light and Power Co., according to its annual financial report. According to the report the gross revenues of the company during the year were $970,637.32. Total revenue deductions for taxes, operating expense, depreciation and retirement of bonds were $678,129.15. The net operating income was $294,508.14 and net profits were $223,798.60.

Ripon Beats Lawrence; Manitowoc Trims Highs

JOHNSON, CRIMSON FORWARD, STARS WITH NINE GOALS

Vikings Lead During First Few Minutes but Wilt and Take Beating

BY GORDON F. MCINTYRE
RIPON — Glenn Johnson, who was heralded as Ripon's newest basketball sensation came to the front last night and almost single handedly defeated the Lawrence college Vikings, 41 and 33, in a game that will have the home folks talking for a long while.

Going into the game as a substitute for Red Martin who went to guard, Johnson brought Ripon out of the doldrums of a trailer and with a couple of his mates had the Crimson trailing by one point when the half ended.

But when the second half got underway Johnson proceeded to show the folks just how trimming Lawrence could be accomplished. During this period he sank six more field goals for a total of nine during the evening. He sank four consecutive shots from almost any angle of the floor and missed but three tosses.

Johnson was aided no little in his efforts, however, by the playing of Schneller, Lawrence center, who after several games in which he reaped all the glory slipped back into early season form. Johnson's efforts at baskets were hardly molested as the big Viking center who was guarding the Ripon star would slide by his man, be caught off balance when Johnson chose to shoot, and who was evaded with ease. Schneller started the game well enough and Lawrence soon had a big lead. Then he tired and the Lawrence attack through the center of the floor quit functioning and in the second half the defense went wrong as Johnson started his work.

Because George Lewis, the referee for the evening's battle, was stranded near Columbus in the snowstorm, Werner Witte, Appleton umpire, was forced to handle the game alone. Witte turned in an exhibition of officiating that was beyond reproach. He was one of the best referees in the state and as a result lost seven and one half pounds. But one man wasn't watching all the fouls last night and there were numerous little tricks pulled off that made playing almost as hard as officiating.

The half opened with both teams getting points on free throws and then Lawrence stepped out and ran the count to something like 11-3. Play continued on even terms until Johnson entered the game and the Crimson began pulling up. About that time the Lawrence offense ceased as far as play to the center of the floor was concerned and the half ended 20 and 19 for Lawrence. The Crimson's last two points being decided by the timers and referee during the rest between halves. Johnson had tossed a goal just as the gun barked but the play was not allowed until a conference was held by the officials.

When the second half opened Ripon pulled up even with the Vikings and then rambled off to a substantial lead as Johnson's tosses began to count with uncanny rapidity. Lawrence tried to even matters down to the final whistle but the shooting of the Ripon forward was too much and the Crimson won its first victory in the Big Four this winter.

KLOEHNS, POWER COMPANY TO MEET

Two Games Being Played Tonight in Y. M. C. A. Industrial Loop

Two games, one of them a challenge battle which still believes it can beat the Wisconsin Michigan Power company five, playing the Power company. The game will begin about 8:30. Several close games between the two and the fact the Power company was beaten last Saturday, has imbued the Kloehns with all the confidence.

Another postponed game still is on the schedule. It will be played March 3 between the Y. M. C. A. and the Menasha Kimberly-Clark team, the game having been postponed from Feb. 1.

HOCKEY PLAYERS WILL HOLD MEETING TONIGHT

Appleton hockey players will meet at 7:30 Saturday evening at the Roach Sport shop to consider whether the team will be disbanded for the season or whether the men will live in hopes of a little more ice this winter. Plans for a team next season also will be discussed, the valley hockey players considering possibility of a league next winter.

Badger Immortals

Jerry Riordan
Rock of The Line

"ROCK OF THE LINE"

IN the fall of 1894 three entered the University of Wisconsin a big, gangling country lad who was destined to become one of its greatest linemen and finest football captains—Jerry Riordan.

Jerry had had no high school football training and was scarcely the type to suggest future football greatness. But in his huge, slightly bent shoulders there was rugged strength, to be gained only by hard farm work, and in his deep set eyes smoldered fire kindled of a line of fighting Irish ancestors.

When football practice started that fall, Jerry was among the first to report, decked out in a new suit of shining white canvas and an ample pair of heavy work shoes to which a local shoemaker had nailed a scattering of leather cleats. Players bought their own equipment in those days.

As a freshman Jerry was not the type to send a coach into ecstasies of enthusiasm. The game was new to him and at first he found it difficult to master. But in his soul there burned boundless ambition and

LAWRENCE FROSH BEAT RIPON, 35-13

Benny Rafoth, Former Appleton Star, Leads Yearlings to Win

Ripon—Lawrence college freshman basketball team under direction of Eddie Kotal, walloped the Ripon frosh last evening here in the gymnasium, 35 and 13. The big game, by a score of 35 and 13. The yearling "A" team played the game.

Led by Benny Rafoth, former Appleton high school star, the Vikings ran up a big count in the first half and then coasted to a win. At half time the score was 24 and 8 for Lawrence.

Rafoth and Roek were big scorers for the Vikings. Rafoth counted six field goals and Roek three with three free throws. The Vikings beat the Ripon quint at Appleton last week.

SHAWKEY TEACHING YANKEES TO SLIDE

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(P)—For the first time in the history of the club, the New York Yankees will have to go through with a rigorous program designed to bring about an improvement in their sliding ability.

Bob Shawkey, new manager of the club, is a firm believer in the efficiency of the sliding pit and one has been constructed at the Yankees' training camp here. All of the club's previous managers have been opposed to the sliding pit.

Sharkey Lost Prestige In Beating Phil Scott

Associated Press Sports Editor
Miami, Fla.—(P)—Bag, baggage and ballyhoo, the pugilistic hosts of Madison Square Garden prepared to beat a strategic retreat today from the disastrous scenes where the second battle of the cocoanut palms ended and flopped.

They have been more artistic failures than this Scott-Sharkey affair. Tex Rickard had his troubles at Toledo in 1919 and the boom town of Shelby, Mont., was hard hit by the flop of the Dempsey-Gibbons fiasco there in the summer of 1932. But these, at least had glamor of a championship struggle, no matter what the sad tale in the box office.

The halmy setting of this winter's fistic fiasco had few, if any redeeming features to offset its financial shortcomings. These might have been overlooked with a more magnificent gesture by the garden corporation had Jack Sharkey achieved a convincing and decisive victory over Phil Scott, the palid Zeilon who, though a three-round victor over Scott under extraordinary circumstances, remains an uncertain figure as a fighter of apparent great possibilities but distinctly erratic tendencies in the ring. Seemingly, Thursday was the night for this Jacky and Hyde of fistfights to wage one of his "bad fights."

Not only did he fail to justify the long odds in his favor but actually he came within a shade of losing on a foul and spilling whatever hopes he had of winning world's championship honors.

The expert consensus, as a result, is that Sharkey by no means figures to have any advantage over Max Schmeling, the German clouter, when they met on June 26 in the deciding heavyweight tilt at New York. This bout will feature the annual mild food show.

BASEBALL MOGULS TO MEET SUNDAY AT CONWAY HOTEL

Decide Whether League Will Function as 6 or 8 Team Loop

MOGULS of the Fox River Valley league meet here Sunday afternoon to decide whether the wheel will function on eight or six spokes this season.

Last season the loop was an eight club affair, being made up of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin Rapids, Neenah-Menasha, Appleton, Kimberly-Little 1897, Fox and Kaukauna.

During the next three years, Jerry Riordan was Wisconsin's regular left guard and a player respected by all opponents. He had an inextinguishable will-to-win and a keen mind, which was always working on the field. No smarter guard ever wore the cardinal.

Like all great linemen, Jerry was more or less an unsung hero, but these days he is being recognized for first down, the play was usually sent over him. When Wisconsin beat Minnesota, 6 to 0, in 1896, Big John Richards, at fullback, carried the ball on the last three plays for the winning touchdown and it was Jerry who drove aside big Harding, the most powerful man in the Gopher line for those last yards.

According to President Baetz, things are moving lively in a baseball way all around the circuit. Joe Clusman has returned to the helm as manager of Green Bay and the Baseball association is planning improvements at the park, which will include the construction of a new grandstand.

Joe Muench and Harry Leopold are sitting pretty at Neenasha. They have their 1929 championship team practically intact and there is some new material that looks promising. Wisconsin Rapids is about ready for the going. The Rapids' association made some money last year and a well filled treasury is generally a firm stepping stone to a winning ball club.

Les Smith, the Kaukauna manager, figures his youngsters are about due to come through with bells on. He is scouting around for a number of experienced ball players and expects to have them in the "mill" long before the final registration day.

APPLETON BOWLERS ROLL IN K. G. MEET

Teams from Five Cities Try Luck on Elk Alleys Saturday, Sunday

Appleton bowlers will roll in doubles and singles over the weekend in the Knights of Columbus State bowling tournament being rolled off at Elk alleys. Eight doubles teams and 11 single bowlers will be on the runways.

Other teams to try their luck over the weekend are from Milwaukee, Oconomowoc, Sturgeon Bay, West Bend, and Hartford.

Members of "murderers row" hardly had landed on the island yesterday before Marjoe Joe had them on the practice floor. The stiffest workout the Cubs ever have been given. Lester Bell, acquired from Boston during the winter, was at third base. Rogers Iornsby demonstrated the injury to his heel is history, and Tiggs Stephenson, Clyde Beck, Clarence Blair, Elwood English, Herman Jones, Charlie Tolson and Danville Taylor, enthusiastically went through the drill.

The oldest active man in baseball, Charles Comiskey, is leading the fight to bring a championship team to his dug-out this year.

In all the years, he never has retired from the game, as far as his identity with his club is concerned, but there have been times when he has been unable to make his force felt because of illness. Had it not been for his possession of a will that concedes nothing to sickness and a frame that is steel rivited, he might have relinquished his White Sox long ago.

Commy is a man who thinks whole wheat baseball. His idea is to win and he wants his players to be imbued continually with the same thought.

When he was a big, tall kid, and was picked up by Ted Sullivan, a play baseball, one of his principal assets was a deadly earnestness.

"That new player of mine will fight the butcher if he doesn't win every one of his games," said Sullivan. "One of these days he'll bite the cover off the ball when he isn't going right."

It was the type of man thrown down by the Eddie Cicotte crowd of Black Sox in 1919. That event stunned Comiskey. He didn't believe that ball players would do a thing like that to an old time player. But now he is back at the helm and is out to make the White Sox team a pennant contender.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS OFF FOR FLORIDA TODAY

St. Louis — (P) — Whether the month of March makes it lion or lamb, the St. Louis Cardinals will embark at 8:20 P. M. tonight for Bradenton, Fla., which some fans says should be changed to Bradenton for President Braden.

The group due to leave here for the annual spring exercises includes Manager Gabby Street, the Joplin, Mo., planter, who arrived in town yesterday with enthusiasm written over his features, Earl Smith, Hal Haid, Jim Bottomley, Andy High, Walter Rottger, Herman Bell, Mace Brown, Fred Meyers, Burt Bruckman, Clarence Mitchell, Mickey O'Neill, Coach Clyde Wares, President Braden, Secretary Lloyd, Dr. S. S. Burns and newspapermen.

MILLER CORDS WIN AT TIGERTON MEET

Beat Stevens Point in Amateur Caging Tournament Friday Night

Playing the strong Foresters of Stevens Point in the fourth game of last night's opening games at Tigerton the Miller Cords of Appleton won a fast and thrilling game by a score of 25 to 15. Not until the last seven minutes was the game decided when Johnson and Schuerle of the Cords caged several field goals to swing the game.

The Cords played their amateur lineup and not the team that has been playing professional games during the winter.

Stevens Point lead at the quarter 5 to 4 but the Cords lead at the half 12 to 3. The third period ended 16 to 12 and the final score was 25 to 15.

Leopold defeated Shawano, Clintonville defeated Wittenberg and Tigerton defeated Black Creek in the other games. The Cords will play one of the three winners tonight and if they win will play for first place Sunday afternoon. The winners of first, second and third place receive gold basketballs, a trophy and a chance to play in the state tournament at Milwaukee and the national at Indianapolis.

YOUNG FITZ LOSES IN MILWAUKEE

Paul Pantaleo Wins Decision from Son of Old Bob Fitzsimmons

Milwaukee — (P) — Paul Pantaleo, up-and-coming Chicago boxer, Friday night won a decision in 10 rounds over young Bob Fitzsimmons of Newark, N. J., son of the former champion. Fitz spotted Pantaleo by 11-2 rounds, weighing 101-125.

The younger Fitzsimmons incidentally marred Pantaleo's record of 20 fights and 20 knockouts by his successful defense, but displayed little aggressiveness.

In the semi-final of 10 rounds Jimmy Murphy, of Milwaukee, 124-120, won the decision over Jackie Stewart, Chicago, 121-34. Mickey

AMMY, JIMMY TO MEET TONIGHT

Boxer and Slugger Expected to Attract 15,000 Spectators at Chicago

Chicago (AP)—Sammy Mandell, master boxer and world light-heavy champion, and Jimmy McLarnin, slugging Irish welterweight, will meet tonight at the Chicago stadium their "rubber" bout, a 10-round affair at 145 pounds.

McLarnin, who scored last in his feud, was a 7 to 5 favorite over a Rockford flash, with some waging being done at 1 to 3, that the "blond" dynamite will win by a knockout. Mandell, however, said he is in far better shape than when McLarnin punched out a decision over him in 10 rounds last fall.

Mandell won their first meeting, 15-round lightweight championship engagement, 18 months ago in New York by a wide margin, but McLarnin a tougher fighter 145 pounds in the second meeting.

The bout, the first of major importance to be held on a Saturday night, was expected to attract 15,000 spectators, which would mean a gate of approximately $55,000. The semi-final 10-round affair also promised plenty of action. Young-Clark Thompson, San Francisco No. 6 welterweight, will be out to tie up a surprise defeat at the hands of Freddie Fitzgerald, promising Youngstown, Ohio, puncher.

Sports Question Box

Question—What college did Add Warren, the pugilist attend and did he play football? Is he a real prospect?

Answer—U. of North Carolina, played football and won letters in four other sports. Yes, if he overcomes a brittleness in his hands.

Question—How many times did Joe Lonski and James J. Braddock fight? What were the results?

Answer—Twice. Lonski the winner on points in both contests, ten rounds.

Question—In a baseball game a player batted the ball past the catcher and went on to third and then continued home where he was out. Does he get a single or a tree bagger on account of being out?

Answer—A three bagger. He must have credit for all the bases that he runs in safety.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

New York—Ted Sandwina, German, outpointed Ricardo Bertazzoli (10); Arthur Dekker, New York, knocked out Charlie Smith, England; Harold Mays, Bayonne, N. J., outpointed Marty Gallagher, Washington, (10).

FOUR SHAWANO MEN ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURY IN CRASH

Car Crashes Into Truck and County Officials Suffer Slightly

New London—A collision in which four men from Shawano narrowly escaped serious injury occurred at about 6 o'clock Friday evening when their car, descending the hill just south of the golf course on the Shawano road, crashed into a Borden company truck and trailer. The road was very slippery and the driver of the truck, Leonard Rice, found his truck unable to make the grade. It began slipping backward, and finally stopped at the bottom of the hill. Mr. Rice, seeing the approaching car as it mounted the brow of the hill, ran on ahead and endeavored to avert the crash by warning the driver. The driver of the Shawano car slammed on the brakes, but could not divert the danger. The car crashed into the heavy truck, hitting it head on.

District Attorney R. H. Fisher received a bruised hip. Constable Bobb was perhaps the most seriously injured receiving a bad cut above the bridge of his nose. Oliver Raasch, a deputy sheriff, suffered chest bruises and a scalp wound. Philip Hoffmann, a constable, was not injured. The party was on its way to Milwaukee to identify goods alleged to be stolen in the four recent robberies which have occurred in Shawano. Goods disappeared from four Shawano stores in a series of night robberies. Four men have been arrested, one of them a Shawano drayman. Goods were disposed of in Milwaukee. All of the men implicated have been apprehended.

The men were brought to the city where their injuries were cared for. Their car was badly damaged, one side being badly shoved in and windshield glass broken. The men in their conditions could not continue on their way.

PLYWOODS TAKE WIN FROM LEGION TEAM

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—An indoor ball was again played at the Legion hall Friday night. The Plywood-Krauses had a stiff tilt with the Legion team the former finally winning with a 9 to 7 score. Mose Barlow gave way for Huntley when the going got rough in the seventh inning. Bunker's men carried through with four runs in this period.

The second game of the evening saw one inning of six and one of seven runs pounded in by the Edison team, who were playing the Borden-Hamilton squad. Borden rallied in their last innings, but the best they could reach was 15 runs, while the Edison team had hammered in 24.

NEW LONDON QUINT ENDS ITS SEASON WITH AN EASY WIN

Red and White Team Defeats Oconto Falls by 25 to 17 Score

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—Winding up the basketball season on the home floor in conference games New London easily defeated Oconto Falls 25 to 17 in a game here Friday evening.

The Red and Whites piled up a safe lead in the first quarter when Pete Westphal went on a rampage getting baskets from all over the floor. At the half the game was on New London leading by an 18 to 5 score. Pfeiffer, in the first half also found his shooting arm, shooting in three pretty baskets. Minnow Brown also came through with a basket and a free throw in the first half. Kurten of Oconto Falls was the only visiting man to come through with a basket in this period. He and two teammates also made a point each on free throws.

Both teams made plenty of substitutions in the second half. Pfeiffer found the hoop twice on field goals, while he made one shot good on a free throw. Brown was the only other player able to spot a basket during the second half. The visitor's guards carried the burden of play for their team. Bernier came through with two baskets, while his running partner, Wolfe, found the hoop three times and also annexed two points via the free throw route. The line-up is as follows:

The BADGER STATE CHICKERY helps you to raise your Chicks Successfully!

Our interest in your successfully raising your chicks does not end with the sale of the baby chicks to you. We are constantly studying the problems of the flock owners themselves — problems concerning proper feeding, ventilation, sanitation and temperature for the best results in raising good paying flocks. Of course we don't know everything about chick-raising but we are glad to impart to our customers what information we can give. Feel free to request this information at any time.

We recognize that to raise chicks most successfully they must be better than ordinary to begin with. To make them so we select eggs from the very best flocks in this community and employ modern methods of incubation. Six Buckeye incubators constitute a part of our extensive equipment having a capacity of more than 18,000 chicks to a hatching. Starting with these superior chicks it is easier for the flock owner to be successful.

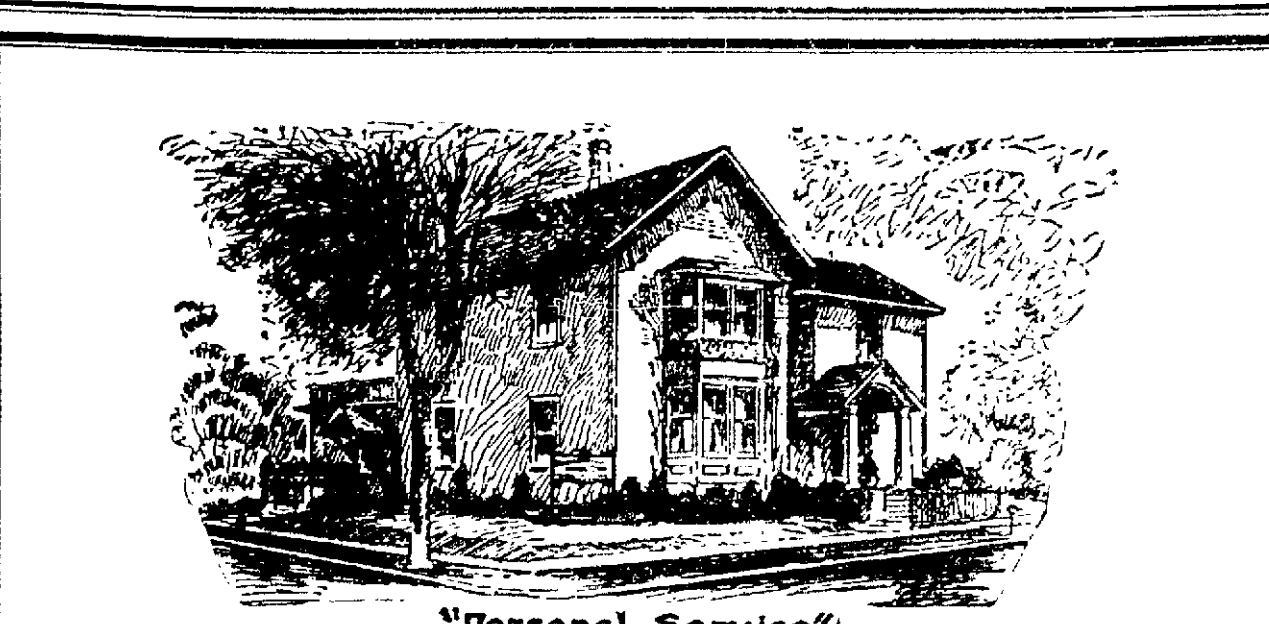

We have found the problem of feeding to be most important. That we are confident that we can furnish valuable information as to feeding is borne out by the fact that we pay a 33 1/3 higher premium to all flock owners that feed the feed we recommend. This premium easily pays the difference in feed costs.

Visit or write the Badger State Chickery and learn more about its services to flock owners in this vicinity. Patronize a concern whose interest in your success is continuous.

THOUSANDS ATTEND MID-WINTER FAIR AT KAUKAUNA HALL

Record-breaking crowds throng to see unusual number of exhibits

Kaukauna—Approximately 3,000 people attended the Mid-Winter fair here Friday afternoon. More than a thousand of the visitors were packed in the auditorium on their feet and enjoyed the program of band music, vaudeville, movies, and drawing of merchandise premiums staged by the merchants of Kaukauna.

One hundred home economics leaders of Outagamie county participated in demonstrations of home laundering conducted by Miss Harriet Thompson, assisted by Mrs. Margaret McCordie, of the extension service of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

Seven hundred farmers took part in the farmers' institute held in connection with the fair, and people of all ages filled the halls of the high school attracted by the school and home economics exhibits.

Hundreds of farmers kept moving about the city garage containing the grain exhibits and many resolved to try to raise grain, corn, alfalfa and potatoes as good as they saw on exhibition in that building.

The free health clinic drew hundreds through need of service or intense interest in the project. The points of interest in each building were so many and so interesting that it was difficult for a visitor to make the rounds and do each department justice.

MACHINE EXHIBITS

People of an inventive or mechanical twist "lingered long" in the room in which exhibits of the Evening Post, stands, tables, toy cradles, toy wheelbarrows, rocking horses, magazine racks, cedar chests, bird houses, sleds, airplanes, and windmills. These displays in scope, quality and service were exceptional and drew large crowds.

PRIEST SPEAKS

The principal speakers at the farmers' institute were the Rev. P. X. Van Nistelrooy, West Holland; P. E. Mc Nall, Madison; County Agent G. A. Sell, and Malachi Ryan, Kaukauna.

"In business, manufacturing, farming, production and marketing of all kinds, 'united we stand but divided we fall,' declared Father Van Nistelrooy. 'It is useless for any group to try as individuals to get what should come to it in this age of sharp competition.'"

He paid a great tribute to the United States Chamber of Commerce and the Federation of Labor for what they have accomplished through the union and cooperation of members, the one for capital and the other for the laboring man. The former in its membership and action is 100 per cent perfect but the latter is only 22 per cent perfect. To the Federation of labor and to no one else is due the increase in the wages of labor that has taken place in the past 20 or more years, he said. If it were not for the activities of the federation, labor in the Fox river valley and everywhere else would now be getting the low wages of 20 or more years ago, he claimed.

FARMER IMPORTANT

The farmer is the most important producer in the world. Shut off his products from the city of Chicago for one week and the people of that city would starve. And yet the farmer on account of union and co-operation among the people who market his products, gets only a small part of the value of his products and the distributors get the big part, the pastor said.

"In the past 20 years, while all classes have been organizing and co-operating, what has the farmer done in that line?" inquired Father Van Nistelrooy. He answered his own question in these words, "Not a thing." "Organization and co-operation will be your saviour," declared the speaker.

While Father Van Nistelrooy is urging cooperative marketing and team work he earnestly urged all farmers of Dundas, Sherwood, Kaukauna, Freedom, Wrightstown, to become members at once of the Kaukauna Cooperative Egg marketing association because egg marketing is the easiest and one of the most profitable lines for farmers to experiment with and get training from.

TO SHIP SOON

Father Van Nistelrooy wishes to have the first carload of cooperative ly shipped eggs leave Kaukauna the first week in March. Nearly every farmer in the large audience signed a paper passed about as an indication that he wished to become a member of the cooperative. After contracts are signed by the members shipping activities will begin. The members of the audience pledged themselves to do all in their power to increase the home and city consumption of dairy products, and to reduce the consumption of substitutes.

Mr. McNall discussed the outlook in the dairy industry at length. A capacity house witnessed the

HONOR TRUSTEE OF KAUKAUNA CHURCH

Kaukauna—Herman Trettin, trustee of the Trinity Lutheran church for the last 35 years, will be honored at a jubilee service at the church at 7:30 Sunday evening for the service he rendered the church. Following the service a social hour will be held in the school.

SCHOOL BOARD WILL HOLD MONTHLY MEET

Kaukauna—Members of the board of education will hold a monthly meeting at 8 o'clock Monday evening in the office of the high school. Monthly bills will be allowed and other routine business will be transacted.

Sell "Hot Dogs" To Raise Money For Graduation Trip

Kaukauna—"To Washington on a Hot Dog" was the slogan used by three rural school teachers who conducted two refreshment booths at the Mid-Winter fair held here Thursday and Friday. One stand was in the high school and one in the auditorium. Total receipts were in the neighborhood of $100 and the teachers were pleased with the result of their venture.

A special trip to Washington is being planned for all the rural school graduates in June and the different schools are turning to many money making schemes to raise funds for the expense of the trip. According to plans made the cost of making the trip to Washington, which will for four days, will be about $25 per person.

Teachers, students and those interested help the students raise the money for the trip. Card parties, socials, dances, candy sales and other things are conducted at the schools. It is expected that each school will raise enough money by June to pay the expenses of all the graduating students on the trip.

The teachers who had charge of the refreshment booths at the fair were Miss Marjorie Walker, teacher of the Oak Grove school, Miss Agnes Egan, teacher of the Little Chute school and Miss C. H. Holliman, teacher of the Combined Locks school. They were assisted by Misses Matilda Killian, Mary Walker and Lorraine Holliman. Hot dogs, cheese sandwiches, coffee, pop, candy and gum were sold.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Members of the Odile chapter, No. 154, Order of Eastern Star, held a regular meeting at 8 o'clock Friday evening. Initiation was conferred upon a class of candidates.

A covered dish party will be held by the members of the Senior Christian Endeavor of the Immanuel Reformed church at 6:30 Monday evening in the church assembly.

The regular monthly meeting of the official board of the Brokaw Memorial Methodist Episcopal church will be held next Thursday evening.

Members of the Lady Elks held a regular meeting at 8 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Elks' hall on Second street. Mrs. Irvin Spurr was the hostess.

The Ladies Aid society of the First Congregational church will hold a shower Wednesday afternoon at the church parlors. Cards will be played and lunch will be served.

ORANGE AND BLACK QUINT ENDS 1929 SEASON WITH LOSS

Brillion Takes Final Game to Give Basketeers Full Season Without a Win

Kaukauna—Coach Paul E. Little's high school cagers ended their season at Brillion Friday evening with a loss which made the record for the season all losses and no wins. The score Friday evening after the game, which was for the most part a contest of fouls and free throws, was 18 to 11. During the fracas 30 fouls were called on both sides.

Brillion scored shortly after the opening of the game. Kaukauna netted a point on a free throw and then went into the lead with a next basket by Paschen. Brillion received a gift shot and added another basket as the quarter ended sending the team into a 5 to 3 lead over Kaukauna. They held the lead throughout the game.

In the second quarter Kaukauna failed to score. The local lads were finding the going rough on an unusually slippery floor and numerous fouls were called on them. Brillion took advantage of the handicap and added seven points to give them a 12 to 3 lead at the half time period.

Rosin and vaseline served to stop the slipping for a while and in the third quarter the locals held the Red and White team to one point while they garnered four points. Van Lieshout was playing a good game but was removed from action having four fouls. Farwell also looked good in this quarter.

The last quarter found both teams on the floor almost as much as on their feet. Brillion scored on a basket, 5:30 a. m., Low mass. 7:00 a. m., Low mass. 8:15 a. m., Children's mass. 10 a. m., High mass.

WALTON LEAGUE TO SEEK NEW MEMBERS

Joseph Promer Is Named Chairman of Committee on Arrangements

Kaukauna—A drive for new members will be started this month by the local Isaac Walton League, according to President John Licht, who stated that an endeavor will be made to organize all local sportsmen. Joseph Promer has been named chairman of the committee in charge of the drive. The committee is expected to start work within the next week.

After the drive a dinner will be held by the old and new members. A speaker will be engaged to talk on conservation of game. The local league has been active during the past two years establishing a game preserve here and planting game there. Many pheasants have been released on the preserve and have been fed regularly during the winter.

The aim of the Isaac Walton league is the conservation and propagation of our game, according to President Licht. He brought out that all sportsmen are anxious to hunt game but only a small per cent of them help increase the game so they can enjoy hunting in the future.

Establishing game preserves and urging reforestation are one of the principal works of the league as they serve as a means to protect game and affords them a habitation until such time when they are plentiful enough to be hunted.

ket and free throw and Kaukauna added four more points to their end of the score. The final minutes of play found Brillion trying to stall and the Kaws desperately trying to not a couple baskets. However, the whistle ended activities while Kaukauna was still on the short end of a 16 to 11 count.

Of Interest To Farmers

FARMER PREFERS SOYBEANS, CORN FOR HIS CATTLE

Combination Produces Best Results in His Community, Says C. P. Oaks

BY W. F. WINSEY

Shiocton—C. P. Oaks, manager of the Greenfield Farms, west of this village, has selected a combination of excellent feeds for farm animals, each one of which is suitable to the soils of the town of Bovina and produces big yields.

The combination is made of soybeans for hay, clovers and timothy as supplements to permanent pastures and rye and corn.

Last summer Mr. Oaks raised 40 acres of soybeans from which he made 150 tons of hay about equal to alfalfa in feeding value. He raised 50 acres of corn, one half of which he put in the silos and the other half he husked. Because rye does better than oats, he raised 40 acres of rye, marketed the rye and bought oats that do not thrive as well as rye on Shiocton soil. He says that big crops of barley can be raised on the farms of his neighborhood but he raised no barley last year.

For each two loads of corn put in the silos, Mr. Oaks put in one load of green soybean, and says that the mixture makes wonderful feed for dairy cattle as a producer of milk. The balance of the soybeans he turned in hay which he has been feeding to cattle, sheep and hogs all winter.

Neenah And Menasha News

NEENAH EASILY DEFEATS MENASHA BY 34 TO 14 SCORE

Jorgensonmen Take Lead Early and Keep It Through-out Game

Neenah—Neenah high school basketball team defeated the Menasha high school team Friday evening by a score of 34 and 14 before an audience of 1,100 frenzied fans at the Senior school gymnasium. This is the second time this season the locals have defeated the Menasha team. The game was a fast one and the Menasha team was outplayed, especially in the first quarter when the score was 8 to 0 in Neenah's favor. In the second quarter and at half time Menasha had scored 3 points to Neenah's 12. At the end of the third quarter Neenah was still leading by 28 and 10 and at the end of the game had reached the 34 and 14 point. Coach Ole Jorgenson started the game with Bell, Ehlers, Johnson, Schmidt and Hahl who remained until close to the end when Neubauer, Barnes, Haire, Thomsen and Clough entered and finished the game. Coach Ole Jorgenson had a starting lineup of Webster, Massey, Weiser, Lanzer and Anderson. Becker, Asmus and Lopez substituted throughout the game. Hahl was easily the star with 11 points to his credit made on five baskets and one free throw, scoring two baskets in the first two minutes of play following a free throw with which Bell started the scoring. Schmidt followed with a free throw on a foul by Vetter; Hahl scored one point on a foul by Lanzer and Bell scored a point on a foul by Becker. Who replaced Anderson. In the second quarter Asmus went in for Becker. Bell started the scoring with a basket followed by a point by Vetter on a foul by Ehlers; Schmidt scored a free throw on Asmus' foul; Vetter scored one point on a foul by Schmidt; Johnson scored a basket and Anderson one point on a foul by Johnson. Anderson replaced Webster who later went in for Asmus.

WEBSTER SCORES

The third quarter started with a basket by Webster followed by close by baskets by Schmidt and Vetter; Webster scoring two points on free throws on foul by Johnson and Anderson scored on another foul by Ehlers with Schmidt making two free throws on Lanzer's foul and again on a foul by Massey. Bell and Hahl each made a basket and the quarter closed Bell made two baskets and Ehlers one basket. Several substitutions were made by Menasha.

MANY CHANGES

The last quarter started with Neubauer for Johnson and Asmus back for Vetter, who later returned. Webster got a free throw on a foul by Bell and Schmidt on a foul by Lanzer; Asmus scored a point on Ehlers' foul and Bell two points on a foul by Lanzer and Vetter. Bell made his limit of fouls at this point and was replaced by Barnes. Vetter scored a point on Bell's last foul. Vetter scored a point by the free throw route on Barnes failing to report to the scorekeeper. Clough went in for Ehlers and registered a point on a foul by Asmus which completed the scoring for the evening. Haire went in for Hahl, Thomsen for Schmidt and Lopez went in again a few minutes before the end. Asmus was removed toward the end of the game on four fouls. The summary:

MENASHA PERSONALS

Menasha—Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jourdan, who were detained at Nashville, Tenn., several days by illness of their daughter, Mrs. William Jones, left Thursday for Dayton, Ill., where they will spend the remainder of the winter.

Mrs. George Volksen is receiving treatment at St. Elizabeth hospital at Appleton.

WANT VIEW OF MEMBERS ON BUILDING PROPOSAL

Menasha—Menasha Athletic association, at a special meeting following a meeting of the Eagles Thursday evening, adopted a resolution providing for getting an expression from each member of the Eagles lodge in regard to the building of a new auditorium. Cards will be mailed out in a few days and whether the proposed building will be erected this season will depend on the replies. No further action will be taken in the project until the members have expressed their view.

FAMILY FORCED FROM HOME BY LEAKING GAS

Menasha—Bender Rakalska, who fractured his wrist last week while at work at the plant of the Menasha Wooden Ware corporation, was temporarily with his family forced to vacate his residence on Racine-st. this week owing to a defective gas pipe. He started down in the basement to make an investigation, but was able to get no further than the basement door. He notified the gas office which promptly sent an emergency man to shut off the gas while repairs were being made.

TWIN CITY DEATHS

MRS. AMELIA STERNHAGEN. Menasha—Funeral service for Mrs. Amelia Sternhagen, formerly of High Cliff and Stockbridge, who died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Larson, at Waukegan, Wis., was held at 2:30 Friday afternoon at Menasha. Funeral company funeral home and was attended by a large crowd of former friends from Fox River valley cities. The Rev. J. G. Polley was in charge and burial was at Brooks Corners in the town of Clayton.

Flashes of Life

Omaha—Anybody who engages in bootlegging continuously has a gainful occupation and therefore is not entitled to war risk insurance. Federal Judge Woodhouse so ruled in deciding that Joe Mason, who has quit being a bootlegger, was entitled to $10,000 protection.

New York—H. B. Driscoll of Tulsa, Okla., probably would tell Diogenes where to stop. In a tax he left a brief case containing stock valued at $250,000 and railroad passes, the taxi driver, Charles Mintz, turned them over to the police.

New York—There are a lot of high-flying chickens—16,000 of them in fact. Just out of the shell they have been sent by plane from Bronxville to Mexico City, at times being a mile and a half up.

A QUESTION of HONOR
by Ruth Cross

Chapter 13
A PUZZLING MAN

IT was a stirring story to which Anne listened as she sat by Glenn's side in front of the blazing log fire; a narrative of an unconquerable will battling the forces of nature.

He sketched the engineering obstacles in a clear, concise manner. Of the clash with Morse and Douglas over the right of way Glenn said nothing but did tell her of the stubborn, unreasoning hostility encountered from the ranchers in the vicinity of the reservoir.

"As for Burkhalter," said Glenn, "he's not a bad sort, once he gets on the right side of a question. But he's bull-headed and rather dense, and, unfortunately, he has a very strong following in the community."

"Don't you think he may try it again some day—some variation of the scene at the dance?" Anne inquired.

"Oh I don't know—I shan't take any unnecessary chances of course," Glenn stood drumming his knuckles abstractedly against the window pane.

Anne guessed that he had forgotten her—everything but his cherished dream that was materializing rapidly.

Suddenly her schemes for bringing him low, for avenging his first fancied insult seemed mean and indeliberately petty. Her own enterprise—acquiring a rich husband—turned suddenly sordid and tears stung very close to her lashes.

Her companion roused sharply from his reverie, lifted his head and looked down at her searchingly. A curious change came over his face; he could see only her drooping shoulders, her head inclined a little towards the window pane—wearily—her whole attitude that of unutterable boredom caught off guard. He crossed abruptly over to the fireplace and stood staring down into the flames, a mocking, self-devisive smile curving his lips.

Of course, he could not expect her to understand or to care about this dream of his. She was of another world; almost of another species—a brilliant, exotic world where such grim realities as work and struggle never intruded. But why had she pretended to be interested? Why had she encouraged him to make a fool of himself? Again he saw her as he had the first day they met—an unscrupulous flit, bent on forcing her little due of tribute even from him—her feigned interest and attention the oft-tried trick of the professional coquette.

"The rain is almost over," he observed after a time, drawing out his watch. "I'm afraid if you are to reach the lodge before dark—" His tone was punctiliously courteous, but the change in it, the unconscious note of irony, made Anne turn quickly—with unaffected surprise.

"Yes, of course, I must be going," she assented at once, glancing across at him in puzzled, almost shy bewilderment. She guessed that something had happened to alter the whole of their friendly good comradeship.

"Why, there's Sheb," she said as she pressed her face closer to the window pane, "coming right out of the mountain there." She looked inquiringly at her companion.

Glenn glanced indifferently at the window. "Oh, that's an old mining shaft, a relic of the Forty-Niners no doubt, which comes out near the dam. Sheb and I use it for a little private subway. So far as I know, nobody is aware of its existence but the two of us—and you."

Glenn lifted her coat, warm and dry from a chair in front of the fire, and held it out for her. She slipped into it and donned her hat and gloves.

"I'm afraid," she laughed, "I've been a great nuisance—intruding on this man's paradise of yours." Her tone was lightly ironic, but her mouth trembled a little suspiciously.

"Oh, not at all—" The words were faultlessly polite, but they carried no conviction. Glenn shook himself down into his great coat, took his hat from its peg, and threw open the door. "I will go ahead," he added briefly, "the footing may not be any too safe."

Anne followed Glenn into the chill dusk. He led the way along the familiar trail towards the Lodge.

For almost an hour they tramped along in silence broken only by his regularly timed inquiries as to how she was coming. Each time she answered "all right" though it became increasingly difficult to keep her footing on the slippery and treacherous trail and a strain on her physical powers to maintain a reasonable distance between them.

As Glenn rounded a curve ahead of her she sank down beside the trail, thinking to snatch a moment's rest and then catch up again. She felt she would almost rather admit that she was too tired to go on. She could hear him stalking on down the trail and she wondered vaguely how long it would be before he would miss her, if she did not go on at all.

His footsteps died away altogether and she could not rouse her numb aching limbs. Tears of weariness stung sharply in her eyes. Finally, she put her head down on her knees and let them flow unchecked.

After an interval all too brief she heard him coming back. She lifted her head, dashed away some of the tears and began hastily unlacing one of her boots. Thus engaged she did not see the look of mingled relief and worry in his eyes, as he brought up abruptly in front of her.

"Give out!" he queried ironically. "No, rock in my shoe," she answered with equal brevity.

"Humphry, that's queer!" He dropped on the wet ground, which slushed gurglingly under his weight, and reached for the boot which caused the strings out of her knee. But Anne jerked it off herself shook out the supposed rock with her final spurt of energy.

"Why didn't you say you were tired?" he demanded rather impatiently.

"I wasn't," Anne lied stoutly, her telltale eyes fixed unflinchingly on the boot.

He smiled a little. "Why didn't you call out to me then?"

"How did you happen to discover I was missing?" she parried ironically, resolutely crushing back the tears which still flowed copiously.

"Here's your handkerchief in this pocket," he informed her, a suspicion of appreciative humor lurking behind the anxiety of his voice as he took the strings out of her finger and began to lace up the boot. "I'm afraid," he added more seriously, "he jerked the laces into a crisp knot—the truth is we're up against a pretty disagreeable situation." He helped her to her feet. "Come and see."

A dozen yards or so farther on Anne dropped back against a stunting elm with a gasp of terror and dismay. The trail was gone. Literally vanished. In its place was a sheer drop of some 12 feet between the two levels, yawned horizontal gap of perhaps three or four feet. Far below could be heard the roar and rush of swollen water.

OFFICIALS VOICE OBJECTIONS TO INDIANS CLAIM BILL

Secretary of Interior and Indian Commissioner Ask for Defeat of Measure

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—The Secretary of the Interior, Ray Lyman Wilbur, and Commissioner Charles J. Rhoads of the Indian Bureau have made an unfavorable report on Representative Brown's bill to refer all claims of the Menominee Tribe of Indians to the Court of Claims, and they have recommended that "it be not enacted into a law."

The letter explaining Commissioner Rhoads' opposition states that the claims of the Menominee have never been formulated and that the records of the Department of Interior contain no information as to what they are.

Commissioner Rhoads says that according to the bill introduced by Representative Edward E. Browne of Waupaca, the Indians' principal claim seems to be based on an alleged violation of an act of Congress, March 29, 1908, authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to cut and manufacture dead and down timber and fully matured and ripened green timber as the Forestry Service should designate on the Menominee Reservation in Wisconsin.

Logging activities on the reservation have gone on for 20 years, and a substantial area has been cut clean of all merchantable timber. Commissioner Rhoads admits that the "clean cutting" of a good deal of this territory was a technical violation of the Congressional act, but adds that a large part of this clean cutting was fully justified because of the killing of practically all trees by fire. A part of the area cut clean, however, about 10,000 acres, might have been cut "selectively," he said, and that this method of cutting is the one which a part of the standing timber was immature was clearly indicated by the language of the 1908 act.

DISCUSS REASONS

Commissioner Rhoads continues: "While there were undoubtedly some parts of the unburned area on which practically all of the trees were mature and a selective cutting would have been advisable, I am not familiar with conditions on the area logged, that immature trees were removed from the greater part of the area cut clean. This clean cutting was done upon the assumption, by those in charge, that selective cutting could not be practiced without substantial loss to the Indians." The commissioner adds that this belief, shared by the majority of the Indians and private timber operators, would be very difficult to prove or disprove even if it were established that selective cutting has been impractical until recent years.

Section six of Browne's bill is based on the assumption that if any timber not fully matured was cut and suffered damages, and it also attempts to fix the damages by act of Congress. Commissioner Rhoads feels that the bill, since it authorizes the presentation of claims to a court, should not fix the amount or measure of damages, and he also complains that neither of the bases of measurement of damages proposed in section six are "scientifically correct or legally sound."

THE TWO BASES ARE:

"Damages equal to the difference between the present value of the land and the present value of such land if the timber wrongfully cut had not been cut out but had been allowed to continue its natural growth," or "damages equal to the difference between the value of the land immediately before and immediately after such wrongful cutting, with interest thereon at the rate of 4 per cent from the time of the wrongful cutting."

PROVIDES DAMAGES

The bill urges the selection of the base providing the greater amount of damages. Commissioner Rhoads objects to the first measure because a substantially greater income was realized

TRAPPING SEASON SEES
MANY MEN IN ACTION

Madison—(P)—Unprecedented numbers of trappers swung into action today with the opening of the muskrat season in Wisconsin, according to the state conservation commission.

For the past week, the commission reported, demands for trapping licenses and trap tags have flooded the commission's offices.

An unusually large number of muskrats this year coupled with the increased price of pelts and warm weather were the factors to which was attributed the increased number of requests, the commission announced.

The season will close April 10 in the southern half of the state and April 25 in the northern portion. The season has been open in the Lake Winnebago district since Oct. 25 and will close April 1.

There is no limit to the number of rats that they may be trapped during the open season, the commission reports.

for the tribe than would have been realized if part of the timber had not been cut when the operations were in progress.

His objection to the second is based on the fact that "before cutting, the timber was a part of the land and the value of such timber was realized when it was cut." He further adds that the element of interest of the proceeds of the immature timber cut at the time of logging operations must be taken into consideration for additional income at the time of cutting was placed in the United States Treasury at four per cent interest for the Menominee Indians' benefit. "Obviously," he says, "the Indians would not be entitled to receive the value of the timber that should have been left, with four per cent interest thereon, in addition to the value of the same timber, already received and placed in the Treasury at interest, as section six of the bill seems to provide."

Moreover there are now two pending bills which, if either were enacted, would enable the Menominees to present their claims without further legislation. The bills are, one introduced by Representative William of South Dakota, authorizing any nation, tribe or band of Indians to submit claims against the United States to the Court of Claims, and one introduced by Representative Scott Leavitt of Montana creating a United States Court of Indian Claims.

SEES LITTLE CHANCE

Commissioner Rhoads said in his report on the bill: "The probability of the Indians recovering any substantial amount because of the unauthorized acts of government representatives in connection with the timbering activities appears to me very remote. However, as the conduct that forms the basis of the alleged claims was that of representatives of the Indian Service, I would gladly welcome the fullest investigation of the whole matter by some agency having no connection with the Indian Service and wish to interpose no objection to the submission of all facts to the Court of Claims."

"However, I do feel that any enactment that would authorize the representation of a claim to the Court should not undertake to fix the measure of damages as section 6 does, should not specifically exclude the ordinary off-sets as section 3 does, and should very carefully preserve the right of the United States to the usual set-offs and counter claims found in similar jurisdictional bills heretofore enacted."

Section three referred to, states that "No payment or payments shall be made by the United States upon any claim or claims so submitted or for the support of the Menominee Tribe of Indians, nor any gratuities paid to or expended for the tribe or members thereof, shall operate as an estoppel against any suit brought before the Court."

Secretary Wilbur is in complete accord with the Commissioner of Indian Affairs in his attitude toward Representative Browne's bill.

OUT DOOR REST

By Alice Judson Peale

The afternoon rest has been generally accepted as desirable for children under five. Immediately after lunch they should lie down to sleep, if possible and in any case, to relax for at least an hour.

During the summer it is in the hottest hours of the day that he takes his rest in his cool and shaded room, but in winter when the sunshine hours are few, he lies shut away from the sun during just the hours when it is giving its maximum warmth and benefit.

The afternoon rest is desirable and the sunny hours are precious. There is no reason why the child should be deprived of either.

With a little thought it is almost always possible to arrange for an out-of-door rest hour. Those who have porches or better still sunny upstairs sleeping porches, can arrange warm and comfortable beds for the children there.

Those who have only a city roof may find a practicable solution in the use of a folding cot or the common variety of beach chair with a foot rest. If these are used it will, of course, be necessary to see that there are plenty of warm, woolen covers below as well as above and that the child himself is warmly, though lightly, dressed.

It may take some time to accustom the child who has been used to an indoor nap to sleeping out in the open.

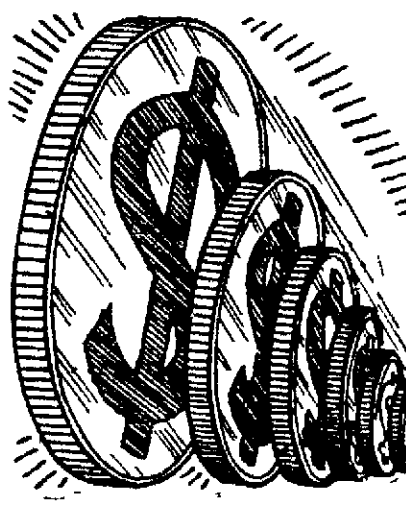

If he is made to feel that it is a privilege and if he is thoroughly comfortable he very quickly gets used to the new regime and will soon rest in the fresh air and sunshine better than he ever did in his own bed room.

JINX PERSISTS IN
FOR RADIO GROUP

Another Court Order Threatens to Tie Up Commission Worse Than Ever

(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)

Washington—(CPA)—The jinx that has followed the federal radio commission in the continental short wave field persists.

Just when it appeared that the commission had worked out a temporary solution releasing the major portion of the channels for public service by radio in competition with the wire services from the bondage of court injunction, another court order threatens to tie them up worse than ever.

The court of appeals here, on application of the Mackay Radio and Telegraph company, has issued an order specifying that the 21 frequencies applied for by this company be not licensed to anybody else during the pendency of the short wave litigation. In December the court issued a similar order in the case of the Intercity Radio Telegraph company and the Wireless Telegraph and Communications company, which specified that 77 frequencies, not confined entirely to the continental spectrum, be reserved.

BODY IS BEFUDDLED

And again the commission is befuddled. It was only last week that it was congratulating itself in breaking the stalemate by reviving a means of assigning to the four successful applicants some 70 per cent of their original grants, at the same time preserving the 77 frequencies so far it has granted, the licenses only to the Universal Wireless Communications Co., Inc., on the basis of this action.

Now, with the order in the Mackay case it does not know exactly where it stands, but may be able to get by without revoking the issuance of licenses and permits to these successful applicants. Mackay filed the petition for the injunction as soon as it learned about the proposal to allocate licenses to Universal, R. C. A. Communications, Inc., Posen Wireless, Inc., and the Western Radio Telegraph Co., the successful applicants.

The solution to this latest mix-up may lie in the carefully phrased provisions of the commission's order, building a tall fence around the actual licensing of the frequencies. It specified that the licenses or permits were issued and accepted by the li-consensus subject to the order or orders of the court of appeals, and that the commission may cancel or annul the licenses without previous notice for any reason whatever.

Then, of the 77 frequencies reserved for Intercity and Wireless, pursuant to the first court order, 24 are continental channels. The court might agree that these 24 may be considered as held in abeyance to comply with its new order. In such event, the status quo would exist.

The continental short wave case is the worst legal snarl in radio's brief history. With only a limited number of channels to go around, numerous interests scrambled for them, and those which were not successful have gone to the courts.

OLIVE HAMBITZER IS MILWAUKEE'S BRIDE

Milwaukee—(P)—Miss Olive Ham-bitzer, who figured in the news several years ago when she prosecuted Lester Heyman, Wausau motor car dealer, has been married to Ernest Reel, wealthy Milwaukee clubman.

The wedding became known yesterday and today Mr. and Mrs. Reel were on their honeymoon.

Miss Hambitzer, socially prominent and active in dramatic life of the city, revealed in 1927 that she had been defrauded of $6,800 by Heyman, whose securities for loans was the funds for supposed business ventures.

When Miss Hambitzer's suspicions were aroused, she learned Heyman was married and the father of two children. He was arrested and sentenced to from one to five years at Waupun.

In the concert from WLW at 8 p. m. in honor of the approaching Mardi Gras.

AN OUTSTANDING VALUE
Seven passenger, equipped with two extra wheels, side mounted. Perfect condition—and absolutely guaranteed as such. In-charge of this new, mechanical operation in this car is every whit like a new car. In fact this fine car has been driven less than 15,000 miles. A mere scratch upon the potential mileage of a car of this type is really just nicely broken in.

Original owner's name upon request. Cost new $3,200. Our price only $2,200.

MANY STOCKS MAKE FURTHER RECOVERY WITH BIG BUYING

Some Gains Are Cut Down When Profit-taking Sweeps Market

BY STANLEY W. PRENSHIL
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York — (AP) — Stock prices made further recovery in today's brief session but many of the early gains of 1 to 1 1/2 points were cut down by a wave of profit-taking in the last hour. Nearly two score issues, including Radio Corporation and about a dozen public utilities, moved into new high ground for the year.

There was little in the days news to influence the price movement. Wheat futures, the recent rally in which gave the stock market much of its buying impetus, sold off today, and there was no change in the credit situation. Weekly business reviews continued to characterize the situation as "spotty."

Radio Corporation common was moved over in large volume, crossing 50 to the best price of the year. The rise in this stock was attributed in some quarters to a revival of operations by an old pool in that issue, and in others to heavy buying for the account of British interests.

American Tobacco "B" crossed 242 to a new high for an extreme gain in more than six points. Union Bag and Paper was marked up nearly 4 points to a new top at 15 7/8. United Aircraft, McKeesport, Tinsplate, Roccia Insurance, Warner Bros. Pictures, Parmelee Transportation, Remington-Rand, Autosales and Buoyard-Erie also reached new high ground.

Interborough Rapid Transit broke nearly 4 points on the decision of the Supreme Court Justice Ingraham that the 5 cent fare stipulated in the company's contract was binding. Midland Steel Products preferred, which ran up sharply in the last few minutes of trading yesterday, lost 4 points on realizing.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,750,000 shares.

TODAY'S MARKETS AT A GLANCE

New York — (AP) — Stocks: strong; grain: easy; 50 to new 1930 high. Bonds: dull; A. T. & T. convertibles make records price for year.

Curb: strong; Electric Bond & Share records new peak for year. Foreign exchanges: irregular; peso again depressed by Spanish political situation.

Cotton: declined; weakness grain and liquidation. Sugar: easy; European selling. Coffee: lower; liquidation.

Chicago: Wheat: irregular; partial recovery on reported farm board buying followed early weakness. Corn: steady; weekend covering and sympathy wheat. Cattle: steady. Hogs: steady.

Grain Notes

Chicago — (AP) — While farm board activity brought advances yesterday in wheat and many traders swung into line, some uneasiness was exhibited over vague rumors of possible action by the grain men against the board. Sentiment, observers said, seemed somewhat more bullish at the close due to the consistent upward movement of actual wheat news was a minus quantity.

The improved North American markets and lighter offerings from Liverpool were given joint responsibility for the gain at Liverpool. Export demand brought sales of about 500,000 bushels, mainbushes for the most part. Bradstreet's compilation of weekly clearances gave the total at 3,050,000 bushels. Argentine shipments were lighter than expected at 3,011,000 bushels.

Greater activity in the corn market led to the impression here among commission houses and operators, that the farm board agencies were entering into this market, also.

INVESTMENT TRUST IS IN HANDS OF RECEIVER

Chicago — (AP) — The Garrard Investment Trust, a $10,000,000 concern, was placed in the hands of a receiver today after the filing of equity proceedings in federal court in behalf of creditors at Dallas, Texas. Federal Judge James H. Wilker, on appointed the Chicago Title and Trust company receiver.

FURTHER LOSSES SHOWN BY SWINE

15 Cent Drop from Best Prices of Friday Shown at Close

Chicago — (AP) — Final trading in hogs for the week showed prices receding further and losses of 1c or more from the best time yesterday in all classes. There were only 10,000 on the market out of the run of 12,000 local packers took 9,000 on direct consignment leaving 3,000 to be added to 7,000 holdovers. Early quotations showed $11.00-11.15 paid for 170-210 lb. weights and heavy butchers having more than 230 lbs. selling at $10.40-10.50. Buying was too slow to indicate what the possibilities of the market were and the quotations were not believed to be indicative of such marked weakness in the trade that on a full trading day they would be this low. But since this Saturday market was deserted by packers and other interests were not active, sellers were content to wait until Monday.

Only 100 cattle were sent to market this morning and they were not sold. The rank and file of steers and yearlings close the week $27.35c lower than last Saturday, with more cheap stuff coming every day than was the case.

Quotations for this class range from $13.00 down to $11.00. The top for the week was $15.75 for yearlings and $15.00 for weighty steers, indicating possible strength for steers with quality. Bulls are steady with 25¢-26c lower and calves hit hardest at all, have lost a full dollar.

Lambs were a full 75¢-$1.00 lower at the close of trade yesterday than they were last Saturday. Nothing was done on the market today and nearly all the run of 6,000 was sent direct to the packers. The bulk of the week's supply has been composed of Colorado and western Nebraska lambs that were not well finished until the last two days of the week. Prices are now at the lowest since 1920, but improved quality late in the week showed that there might be a rise if good lambs can be had.

FARMER POSITION AGAIN BIG FACTOR IN BUSINESS CURVE

Recent Wheat Slump Puts Federal Farm Board in Prominent Place

BY J. C. ROYLE
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)

Washington (CPA)—The position of the farmer again has become a major factor in American business conditions. The slump which took place this week in wheat and cotton took the banks out of the foreground of the financial picture and splashed in the federal farm board in the position of prominence.

The announcement of Chairman Legge of the board that the organization is not trying to hold up the entire wheat market aroused tremendous interest. So did his statement that farmers who belonged to cooperatives or intended to belong were assured against loss on their wheat.

Mr. Legge made it clear that while the grain stabilization corporation, formed to function under direction of the federal farm board, had bought 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 bushels of wheat, it had bought almost entirely cooperative wheat. The board, he continued, could raise the entire wheat market to the price pegged by the board, but it was felt that it would not be wise to do this since the expense in such operations would go largely into the pockets of others than farmers.

Opponents of the farm board, however, point out in connection with Mr. Legge's statement that since prices are low, foreign buyers may be counted on to enter the market, that if low prices were necessary to iron out the surplus in wheat, it would seem to have been inadvisable to hold up prices artificially.

COTTON ALSO DOWN

Cotton also has been subjected to depression and it is believed that formation of a cotton stabilization corporation will not be long delayed.

The federal reserve system is not likely to take any immediate action to aid other industries. Some treasury officials feel that now that the first scare is over, the industry can be counted on to take care of itself.

It also is pointed out that where the real need of an industry calls for reorganization from within, it seldom does lasting good to give financial assistance from without.

The lines of industry which have been doing well are doing better. Steel, for example, is in a most favorable position as to business. Sales are proceeding at a fine rate. Building has not attained the momentum it should have, but the weather has been a deterrent factor.

The aviation industry is showing the stimulus of recent passenger and freight rate reductions. Sales of planes recently have been good. Railroad cleaning house of excess stocks, but the conveyor was so heavy that in most cases makers have not yet started to put sets of 1930 manufacture on the market. They expect to do so within a fortnight.

Sales of apparel at wholesale are showing fair volume and while retail distribution also is good, competition in the department store field seldom has been so severe. This has been of benefit to publishers, however, since in many cities it has increased advertising. In many towns the average amount being spent for advertising is rising above the 3 per cent on the dollar of gross sales mark.

Complaints of unemployment are becoming more audible. This development was predicted two weeks ago by some labor authorities.

BETTER BUSINESS WILL AID DAIRYMEN

State Agricultural Department Says Prices Will Improve

Madison (CP)—Improvements in business conditions and employment will have a greater influence on butter prices and the price of dairy products in general than any other factor, the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture and Markets said today in a review of agricultural conditions in Wisconsin.

Wisconsin milk prices, the department pointed out, were at present on the downward trend of the second cycle since the post war decline.

"The permanency of the dairy business in Wisconsin will, however, make use of the present price decline for future work, the department said.

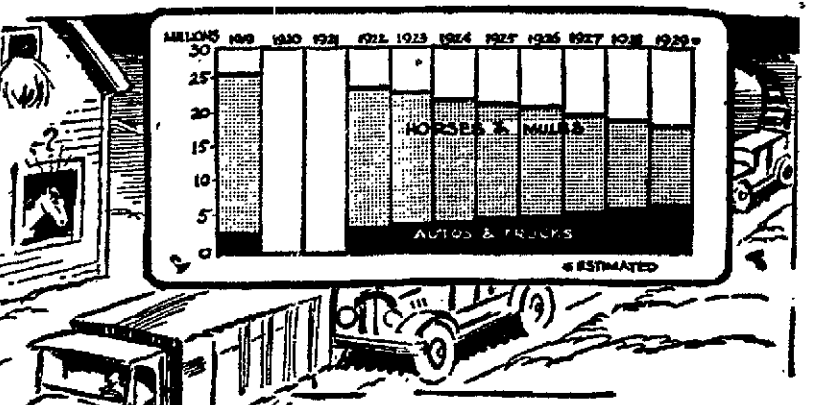

"The dairy business in Wisconsin is permanent and the low price period in which we now find ourselves may even be useful in bringing the industry on a more efficient basis which will mean higher profits when stability is again reached," the review said.

The department used the summary of dairy conditions written by the United States Department of Agriculture to express the proper view for Wisconsin. It said:

"The underlying dairy situation is not as bad as would appear from the present butter prices, but unless dairy herds are closely culled and more heifers sent to slaughter, there will be a further increase in the size of dairy herds in 1931 and 1932."

The livestock situation was characterized by the increase in numbers of cattle and milk cow population. Wisconsin cattle and milk cows increased three per cent over the previous year. Sheep increased to 556,000, the highest number since 1927. Prices of cattle sold from Wisconsin were slightly higher in 1929 than in 1928, the department said.

FARMS REFLECT SPREAD OF MECHANIZATION

BY ALLARD SMITH
Vice President the Union Trust Company, Cleveland

THE progressive mechanization, which is effecting radical daily transformations in industry, is also taking place, although more slowly on the farm. This is evident in the steady replacement of breasts of burden by automotive vehicles.

In the decade ending Dec. 31, 1929, the total number of horses and mules on farms in the United States decreased from 25,328,000 to 10,762,000. Between the same dates the number of automobiles and trucks on the farm increased from 2,285,681 to approximately 6,000,000. In other words the ratio of horses and mules to autos and trucks on the farm is now approximately 3 to 1, compared with 11 to 1 in 1920.

However, as the number of horses and mules decreased, their value per head increased, so that the total value of mules on the farm is even greater than it was three years ago, and the total value of the horses has not shrunk in proportion to their numbers.

From $87.18, as of December 31, 1927, the value of the average farm horse increased to $70.71, as of December 31, 1929. The value of the average mule increased from $79.82 to $83.00. The aggregate value of horses decreased from $2,312,000 to $950,218,000, and that of mules grew from $439,320,000 to $441,726,000.

This replacement of actual horsepower by mechanical horsepower on the farm lends credence to predictions that the farm of tomorrow will be run on the mass production methods of industry, and that the farmer becomes a business executive employing large numbers of men experienced technicians in the direction of large scale productive and distributive activities.

PROPERTY VALUE FIXES PRICE OF CERTAIN STOCKS

Reading Company Is Good Example of This Type of Issue

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

New York—Among the stocks which sell not on their immediate earning power but on their property value are Reading, common and preferred. It is even not strictly accurate to say that Reading shares sell on their property value although that is very great. The market price is fixed in part, at least, by the fact that the stocks carry control of a property which is essential to the aims and ambitions of other carriers.

For these reasons one cannot rely upon current income statements as justification for the market price. Reading shares of all classes are of $50 par value. There are two kinds of preferred, a first and a second preferred on each of which the dividend is 4 per cent or $2 annually and yet these stocks sell often at par and on occasion above par. Obviously buyers are not paying the high market price for the stock limited as to its dividend rate which will return them 2 per cent or less, with the income as the motive. Their interest is in the fact that the preferred stocks have voting power and that control is more cheaply acquired by accumulation of the preferred than of the common.

Incidentally the preferred and common stocks in liquidation or dissolution share equally in any distribution of assets which in the case of a prosperous corporation is more favorable to the senior issue than if it were preferred over the common as to assets as well as to dividends.

One has to look still further before the reason for the high market appraisal of Reading stocks can be understood. It is not simply that the system itself has so great value although that is true in the highest degree but it is the fact that the corporation has investments in the securities of other companies, notably the Central Railroad of New Jersey, which gives the stocks of the Reading so high a value.

If then one is buying for income this is not the kind of an investment to make. If one is in a position to sacrifice yield for the opportunity for possible capital appreciation over a long period there is much to be said in favor of Reading stock.

RAIL EARNINGS FOR LAST MONTH REVEAL TRAFFIC SHRINKAGE

Ratio Between Earning and Operating Expenses Lowest Since '27

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE

New York (CPA)—The completed list of important railroad system earnings in January shows the lowest ratios of gross earnings and net operating income for the month since 1927.

Not only was there a severe shrinkage in the movement of traffic last month compared with the same period in 1929, but in a great many instances, there was a drop from the level of 1928 when some of the heaviest winter still experienced the effects of the mild business reaction of the previous year.

The decrease in net operating income, when the final figures are available, is expected to be about 25 per cent in comparison with a year ago. This is not so large as that of November, but runs to about the same proportions as the shrinkage in December. Altogether the last three months have witnessed the most severe curtailment in railroad operating revenues since 1927. Preliminary estimates of February returns promise only a slight improvement over the January figures.

HUGE DECREASE

The decrease in net operating income was about four times greater than the gross income. This was due, not only to the severe operating conditions which the roads had to face last month but to their policy of continuing expenses at a relatively high point in order to carry out the government program of assisting business.

In view of the high state of physical condition attained by a majority of the carriers through liberal expenditures in the last few years they would have been able to offset a considerable part of gross decreases with a paring down of maintenance expenses had the obligation to support the government program not been entered into last December.

Losses were common to practically every section of the country. Naturally the decreases in activity in the iron, steel and automobile districts in the east affected the revenues of the truck lines, which carry vast amounts of iron and steel products and coal and take trainloads of automobiles in normal times daily out of the Michigan producing centers.

The Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, and New York Central all showed substantial losses in gross and net. The effect of withholding grain and the collateral results of a reduced purchasing power by communities owing to falling prices of wheat is vividly indicated in the poor statements of Great Northern, Northern Pacific, St. Paul and Chicago & Northwestern. The same general effects obtain in the southwest where not only wheat but cotton enters into the traffic situation and produced a series of unfavorable reports by the leading systems in the section.

This was also indicated in the statements of the roads in the south whose January gross and net in most cases was lower than for the same month in either 1929 or in 1928.

It has been difficult with such poor earnings statements to attract investment support recently in the shares of railroad companies most of which have reacted from the high level of the year reached two weeks ago. Railroad executives are confident that they will later have the benefits of traffic that has been held up temporarily by either slow business conditions or the situation in the congested grain markets. They give the month of April as the probable time when earnings will again begin to show favorable comparisons with 1929.

PROFESSOR SAYS EVEN METALS CAN GET SICK

Madison (CP)—Even metals get sick, Villiers W. Meloche, assistant professor of chemistry at the University of Wisconsin, believes.

"Just as the doctor tries to keep the human body in normal condition so the metallurgist, the chemist and the engineer seek to control the changes of metals to their best advantage and make them perform in a normal dependable manner," Prof. Meloche explains.

To illustrate his point, he referred to tin. At 13 degrees or warmer, the element is stable as a shiny metal, while below that temperature a gray powder is its stable form. This, Prof. Meloche says, is known as "tin plague."

Sickness in metals comes through pressure, heat and other forces, he says.

Even think of a steel bar as being composed of a tremendous number of individual crystals or grains of matter having a specific shape and lending certain properties to the bar itself," Prof. Meloche asserts. "The actual shape of these small crystals may be changed by subjecting the steel to stress or strain. The small crystals may grow in size thereby causing a possible diminution of strength of the steel."

ENGINEER INCOME FOR SAFE FUTURE, BABSON ADVISES

Expert Outlines Need for Accumulation Fund for All Incomes

Babson Park, Fla. — Experience teaches that it is much easier for the average man to make money than to keep it. The business of saving and investing is fully as important as the business of earning. Moreover, it is a specialized field which requires intensive study and constant effort. Many a successful business man has made an utter failure in his personal investments because he assumed that his knowledge in his own specialized field of business qualified him to handle his personal income without any study of the investment field. Believe colleges should offer courses in "Income Engineering" just as they do in electrical, mechanical and chemical engineering. These courses should be open not only to undergraduates, but to practical business men, professional men, and workers.

By "Income Engineering," I mean the science of building an estate which will eventually provide complete financial independence. The personal income can and should be placed on a business basis. One portion of it must be used toward building up an investment fund, and the handling of that fund should be in accordance with a definite working plan—a plan which will increase the principal and at the same time provide safety and a fair yield.

BUDGET IS FIRST STEP

A large proportion of business and family troubles are due to operating without a budget. Partners in business or in marriage get along all right as long as there is plenty of cash in the bank. It is only when financial distress arises that troubles begin.

There is only one way to avoid such catastrophes, which is to tell the dollars where to go instead of asking them where they went!

The business man is rapidly adopting the budget plan in his business. There is no reason why everyone should not adopt the same plan in handling their personal incomes. In fact it is even more important for the workman, the clerk, the dentist, the physician, the lawyer, the engineer, the salesman, the broker, the insurance agent, and others who render personal service. Such men own no factory building which have market value, but each man is a "plant" in himself. Hence the doctor who has an income of $15,000 a year knows that his length of life is clearly limited, and he ought to consider his "plant" capitalized at $250,000. If he is to provide for his family on the basis of present earnings he must set aside regularly a part of his income which will build up a fund of $250,000.

Success with a budget depends largely with the method used in setting aside funds. When saving is a "hit or miss" affair the amount which goes to the investment fund is the surplus after the expense account for necessities and luxuries. This may be large one month, small another, and many times nothing at all. The only business-like and successful method is to set aside a definite percentage to be saved and to treat this amount as a first charge on income.

A SUGGESTED BUDGET

It stands to reason that for the people with lower incomes living expenses will absorb practically all the salary or wages of the individual. Nevertheless, everyone should set aside something for insurance and savings, no matter how small the amount. These savings should be put into strict investment, either savings, insurance, building and loan shares, and as they accumulate into high-grade bonds. However, a man getting from $1,500 to $5,000 a year ought not to concern himself with speculation. The risks are too great for small incomes.

As the income gradually increases the proportion for investment increases, and the amount that can be allotted to the speculative fund also advances. Not as a hard and fast rule, but as a general guide to the building of an investment estate, I am outlining in the table below a suggested budget for that part of the annual income which is set aside for accumulation. This budget is arranged according to income classes. Of course, the make-up of any budget will vary considerably in each individual case. Any general budget must take into consideration individual circumstances.

groups, but those with lower incomes can also accumulate, through savings and bond investment, an investment fund of important proportions which will provide a satisfactory income for later years.

For example, savings of $5 a month regularly banked, and as accumulated invested in conservative bonds, will at the end of 20 years provide a monthly income of approximately $125; $75 per month saved and invested in this same way will bring $185 monthly income in 20 years. Similarly $100 per month invested will provide $230 monthly. Moreover, bonds are now in an excellent position for purchase. The trend of bond prices is definitely upward and the purchasing power of the dollar is gradually increasing. Banks, trustees, and other regular bond buyers, together with the very small investor, should place most of their funds according to the strict investment part of the plan. Moreover, a good background of sound bonds is essential to every investment program.

The third fund is known as the speculative fund. This, in turn, should be divided into three parts, and should commence only where annual income has reached about $7,500 a year. Men of great wealth can afford to buy speculative securities, but those of smaller incomes should not, and those with moderate incomes should allot a minor proportion to this type of security. The part of the speculative fund can be employed to buy stocks during a period of depression and to sell them during the next period of prosperity and inflation. The second part, known as the long-growth fund, can be used to buy individual issues in growing industries and hold over a period of years for long-term appreciation in value. Intermediate fluctuations in prices should be disregarded in this fund and reliance placed on the growth of the business and industry.

The third part of the speculative fund should be set aside only by very wealthy individuals who can afford to trade in the market. By that I mean, shorter range operations based on the fact that security markets have their line of normal value and when prices rise above this so-called normal line a downward movement eventually follows, and when prices fall below this normal line an upward movement eventually follows. These are usually short swings in the market occurring from week to week and from month to month and are hence much more difficult to forecast and more hazardous to follow. Only those who can afford to take a considerable degree of risk should employ funds in this manner, and then only a minor portion of the total capital. One cardinal rule in the handling of the accumulation fund, no matter what the income is to buy your securities outright and not on borrowed money.
